Dear Tom:-

I am in Kansas City getting the dope for the book on preachers which I have always threatened to write, and which looks as though it might be much the best book I have ever done. Next Monday, May 17th, I am leaving for northern Minnesota to find there a cottage for the summer. Meanwhile, Gracie is going over to Germany for the summer, and I shall probably join her there in about October.

Is there any chance that Peggy and you may be coming toward Minnesota this summer? If so, I wish to God you would write me (care of Harcourt or care of Dr. E. J. Lewis, Sauk Center, Minn.--I don't know yet just what my address will be in Minnesota) and come and spend a week or two with me. At least there will be fishing and blasphemy.

I would so damn much like to see you and Peggy again! I am awfully glad to have your hook on the Pulitzer Prize business.

Ever,

Siclan Lewis

BARNARD VERMONT

September 17.

Dear Tom and Peggy:

My God, I wish we'd known you were in Ridgefield. We were actually there, and looked at a coupla houses. And just now we have taken this place of Connett's, twelve miles from Woodstock, Vt. -- right near your old haunt, Lynn Montross tells me. Is there any chance that you two might be persuaded to drive up here? We'll be here till about November 1st, then New York for the winter. Come up and have a sniff of Vermont autumn. I'm eager to see you. And you'll like Dorothy. Come on!

Ever,

Richard Lewis
