

Emily Anne Staples Tuttle papers.

Copyright Notice:

This material may be protected by copyright law (U.S. Code, Title 17). Researchers are liable for any infringement. For more information, visit www.mnhs.org/copyright.

about people

Margaret Morris

The big question of Woman Power Day Wednesday isn't demonstrating.

"Rather, we feel education is a more important part of women's concern at this time," said Mrs. Loring Staples Jr., chairman of the women's advisory committee of the Minnesota Department of Human Rights.

With this conviction, the committee has lined up a series of five education workshops for Wednesday and is bringing Rita E. Hauser, U.S. representative to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, to speak at a general session at 7:30 p.m. in the Northern States Power Co. auditorium at 414 Nicollet Mall.

Mrs. Staples Mrs. Hauser

Mrs. Hauser, an attorney, is associated with the New York law firm of Moldover, Hauser and Strauss and was appointed to the United Nations by President Nixon. Part of her visit here will be to campaign for Clark MacGregor, candidate for the U.S. Senate, on the Republican ticket.

Mrs. Staples said the workshops are planned for all ages and are scheduled at five different locations easily accessible by public transportation. They will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. at Farmers and Mechanics Savings Bank, the WCCO Town House, Lutheran Brotherhood, First National Bank and the Minneapolis YWCA auditoriums.

Free child care is being offered at Grace Lutheran Church on Harvard and Delaware Streets near the University of Minnesota campus between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. The Peace Action Exchange is sponsoring the babysitter service, which will be supervised by two women and staffed by men.

Incidentally, in a letter to the editor of The Minneapolis Tribune last April, Mrs. Hauser wrote: "Twice in the last year I have had the pleasure of being a guest of distinguished citizens of Minneapolis who have chosen to entertain me and others at the Minneapolis Club.

"I have enjoyed these visits very much, but regret to note that each time I have come to that august establishment, I have been obliged to enter by the back door and ride up the back elevator—this solely because I belong to the more popular sex in this country. I trust that most citizens of Minneapolis would agree with me that all people ought to be able to walk in the same front door."

Partially Scanned Material

The remainder of this page/item has not been digitized due to copyright considerations. The original can be viewed at the Minnesota Historical Society's Gale Family Library in Saint Paul, Minnesota. For more information, visit www.mnhs.org/library/.