The 688th meeting of the Study Club was held at The Minneapolis Institute of Arts with 18 members present. Mrs. Earl Partridge presided.

Mrs. Pillsbury gave her talk on English Pottery and Porcelain of the 18th Century.

Social Conditions had great deal to do with the making of their porcelains.

First porcelain brought to Queen Elizabeth from Indies.

Very scarce until John Dwight, 1671, an alchemist in the reign of Charles II, established a factory. Elers his workman, from Saxony, probably actually introduced the process.

Lowestoft was the point of entry for Chinese pottery. The factory tried to imitate the oriental porcelain. Most of the good Lowestoft is oriental.

Elers was then induced to come to the Staffordshire factory. They first produced "Salt Glaze" about 1700.

Josiah Wedgwood was practical, highly public spirited, ingenious, and wanted to produce a good cheap product for the people in general. Tried for a good clean white, produced "earthenware" a real revolution with a pressed pattern. He developed "Queens Ware" and "Jasper" which is unglazed, a new kind of paste with a decoration applied by hand. Also produced black Basalt ware, lustre ware, a thin diluted bronze or gold wash, stone pottery and ware with printed designs, which is not highly regarded.

All factories have their recipes.

Around 1750, both porcelain and pottery being produced. At Bow, they imported the material from the Cherokee Indians to start with. This developed into the Chelsea factory, which existed for 10 years only. They imitated the French products. They used an artificial porcelain made from large amount of glass. Probably inferior but highly regarded as it is so rare. A red anchor is the Chelsea mark. Duesberry took over the Chelsea factory made Chelsea Derby. Marks are very dependable.

Worcester was the most important English porcelain factory. Dr. Wall (his work is very rare) made their first paste, very fine, a lot of it with Japanese design. Most valuable as collectors items. Half moon mark. Flight and Barr, jewellers, were designers of next period, about 1770. Began to imitate beautiful services with armorial designs, with rather conservative patterns. (Royal Worcester didn't appear until 1860) Some Worcester had printed designs.

Crown Derby was made about end of 18th century. 1800 Josiah Spode discovered Bone China. First to made porcelain paste with no glass. Will take any decoration, not easily broken. A very important discovery. All the factories used this mixture.

Rockingham was very ornate, with raised applied decoration . Period of William IV.

Minton probably the first modern factory.

Margaret W. Pierson,
Secretary

January 24, 1947

The 689th meeting of the Study Club was held at The Minneapolis Institute of Arts with 20 members present. Mrs. Earl Partridge presided.

Mrs. Morrison gave her talk on Potteries.

1. Red ware: soft porous body; from pinkish buff to red with colorless glaze. Body similar to English lustre.

2. Brown ware: buff or cream body covered with brown glaze; Rockingham.

Yellow ware: buff to yellow body with colorless glaze. (Simple kitchen ware)

2. Stoneware--Hard Paste.

First Half of 18th Century. The Remney family was prominent in this type of pottery.

Body a finer, denser material, fired to vitrification.

Buff colored.

Salt-glazed in light grey to deep cream with darker grey to brown.

3. Agate, Lava or Scroddle Ware
Laminated body; clay of different colors rolled out like pastry, each laid on other, alternating colors; then beaten; then sliced like a marble cake.

4. Cream or Queen's Ware.

Cream colored body with colorless glaze.

5. Slip Ware

6. Commonest red ware with design in yellow or cream slip. Sometimes body is covered with a light slip and decorations in darker colors.

(Slip is often made of same clay as the body, diluted with water to consistency of thick cream.) Slip decoration applied much as frosting for a pastry bag.

6. Sgaffiro or Scratch Ware

Made almost exclusively in Pennsylvania.

Is the reverse of slip decoration--a slip of a contrasting color is applied to body of piece; then the pattern is scratched through the slip so that the color of the body shows to make the design

Slip and Sg,ffito are often used together. Cox credits this ware with artistic merit.

7. Parian Ware

Made in Bennington about 1850.

Hard-paste porcelain- unglazed.

Etruria pottery in Trenton, N. J. made the best.
Broome made the first egg-shell balique in this country.

First American pottery intact was of course the Indian.
Some patterns are slightly reminiscent of the Persian.

There were early potteries in Virginia in the 17th Century, in New York, New Jersey. There are records of these, but no examples.

Great progress in first half of 18th century, ( The Bow factories used "unaker" clay from Virginia) on account of which the English were worried about their American market. They developed a good bone ware, bringing over workman from England, with an attempt to copy English ware. Very few examples. During the Revolution, most of the potteries were closed down, except for the simplest types. Afterwards the English tried to keep the market. There was a great deal of of transfer print design sent over.

Norton, in 1793, established the Bennington potteries. Fenton sent over for English experts, to help with a higher type product. A good clay had been found near at hand. They made a Parian ware.

Jersey porcelain and pottery Co, was the best of the period but about 1820 they failed. Then made pottery only.

The next maker of fine porcelain was Tucker. Made good copies of scores. Many potteries on east coast, later in Indiana, Ohio, (James Bennett). East Liverpool, Ohio is now largest pottery in the world.

Margaret W. Pierson,
Secretary

January 31, 1947

The 690th meeting of the Study Club was held at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, with 19 members present. Mrs. Earl Partridge presided.

Mrs. Brown gave her topic.

A demonstration was given of the actual construction of clay objects. "Centering" is the difficult part. It is dried out in a plaster of Paris mold before being put in the kiln. The making of the glaze was described. It is either dipped, sprayed or poured on.

The "tunnel -kiln" has made the manufacture of cheap pottery possible.

The patterns are stamped onto the biscuit. One operator works on a single color where the painting is done.

The Rockwood factory, established 1880, combined art and utility. The decoration was done on the wet clay, with low relief after. "Gold stone" and "Tiger-eye" were their most famous glazes.

Walter S. Lenox as at first particularly interested in balique; he developed something that was even better. His secretary, George Brown, carried on after Lenox died. They made and make many beautiful designs, and use always a slow careful method, using always the finest materials.

The Syracuse factory was started by a Frenchman and his American wife who came from Minnesota.

Another Minnesota man, Carl Walters has a workshop in Woodstock now, specializes in animal figures.

Early Carolina designs were used by Mr. and Mrs. Busby, called "Jugtown ware". Jamestown pottery makes irridescent ware.

Dedham ware uses largely the rabbit design.

Mrs. Vernon Wright's daughter, Anne, does very successful work in pottery in New York.

There are dozens of schools of ceramic art in the country now. Susie Singer in Pasadena is considered an outstanding artist. New materials are being found in Death Valley.

The Vernon kilns in Los Angeles have Rockwell Kent as one of their artists. Many beautiful wares are now being made.

Royal Copenhagen factories worked right through the war. Much hand craft done in Sweden, Norway, and Finland. The factory things done there are made to look like the hand made ware.

Some work now being done in Spain and much like earliest designs. A great deal of pottery is being made in Mexico and much of it is not very good.

The Quimper ware has been made by one family for centuries. This is in Brittany.

The Black Ware is the famous Indian ware from New Mexico.

Respectfully submitted,

Margaret W. Pierson,
Secretary

"I'm late for my club speech. Show me the world's trouble spots on this map—and where's the car key?"

Mrs. George Caase became secretary at the annual meeting in January, 1952 ( see last minutes ) No further meetings were held that winter, as the talks by Mr. Dorati were completed in December. No records from then up to the time of her death were ever found.

I have, therefore, inserted the program opposite this page, which gives the dates and topics for the fall of 1952. The meetings of October 10th, October 17th, October 24th, and October 31st were held at the home of Mrs. Earl Partridge, those of November 7th, November 14th, <sup>at Mrs. Duff's</sup> November 21st <sup>Nov. 28</sup> at Mrs. Wells, ~~November 21st~~ at Mrs. Hudson's, also December 5th and 12th.

Following are the minutes for the annual meeting, as prepared by me.

The annual meeting <sup>of</sup> the Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. Dalrymple on January 9, 1953. This was our 756th meeting. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved. <sup>(2)</sup> The following members came into office

Mrs. Brooks , President

Mrs. Cook, Vice-president

Mrs. Covey, Secretary and Treasurer.

Mrs. Lowe and Mrs. Yerxa were appointed to go over the books of minutes to find what rules may have been voted on, which are either in conflict with, or have not been incorporated into, the by-laws.

The subject <sup>of</sup> the next year's program was discussed. After various points of view had been presented, " Russia and Communism " was selected, and the following committee was appointed to develop a program Mrs. Driscoll, chairman, Mrs. King, Mrs. Hartwell and Mrs. Duff. Mrs. King later became chairman.

Great sorrow came ~~To the Study Club during the year through~~ in November, through the death of Mrs. Wells.

Katharine K Covey, acting secretary

The 757th meeting of the Study Club was held January 16th at the home of Mrs. Dalrymple. Mrs. Duff gave the topic, Spain and Jugoslavia, Friend or Enemy.

The 758th meeting of the Study Club was also held at the home of Mrs. Dalrymple, and she gave the topic, " Introduction to Our Southern Neighbours -- Argentina and Brazil " January 23

This was the last meeting of the season.

The Study Club had a tragic loss in May in the death of Mrs. Driscoll. At that time, <sup>In May</sup> Mrs. King became the chairman of the program committee.

Katharine K Covey, Secretary

After Looking over the Study Club Programs of the Past Years.

* * * * *

The Study Club Books have knocked me flat,
To think we really knew all that!
Obviously it is absurd,
To rank us with the common herd.
Surely we are more astute
Than those who never gave a hoot
For the Exarchate of Ravenna
Or Civilization in Siena,
Primitive Man or Bellini,
Cossa, Testa and Martini.
Some recent members may still think
The latter just a modern drink!
Comparative Religion we have studied,
The course perhaps a trifle hurried.
Economics, Psychology we pursued
Government in Business we thought rude.
Ceramics, music, poetry, art
Set us for a while apart.
Trouble spots in the world we routed,
Never once our conclusions doubted.
We never missed a single "ism"
And last year studied Communism.
Only the husbands were afraid
McCarthy would labe us as "Red".

*****

What can a teacher tell this club.
We knew it all, ah, there's the rub,
Knew it, but now no longer know,

It's gone from us, like melting snow.
But cheer up, friends, perhaps one night,
Your dinner partner thought you bright!

Nellie Cook

A short business meeting was held on January 18th, 1957, following the morning lecture, to discuss the program for next year.

Some members wanted a return to topics. A suggestion was made that there might be a combination of lecturer and discussion - a lecturer at one meeting followed at the next by a discussion led by a group of members. Of the 17 members present 12 voted in favor of this suggestion. The program committee, to be appointed by Mrs. Crosby on her return, will be instructed to devise some such plan.

The following topics were proposed:

- Africa
- The Moslem World
- The growth of the Christian Church
- The Lives of Saints
- Some aspect of U.S. History
- Prominent Men of History
- Current economic or political problems discussed by local business, educational or government leaders
- Current United Nations problems

June, 1957

My committee...composed of Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Little, and myself...met to clarify our voting procedure; and after studying the minutes of past meetings, found that the procedure was as follows:

When new members are to be elected, notices are sent out to the members of the Study Club two weeks in advance. At the meeting, suggestions for names for membership are made from the floor vocally. Any number may be suggested. A list is made of the suggested names.

The Club then votes on the suggested names.

The First Step is to have each member write on a ballot the names of all those proposed whom she wishes to have as nominees for membership. One may vote for any number at this stage, without regard to the number of vacancies. To become a nominee, each suggested name must receive two-thirds vote of those present. The teller then reads the names of those who have received the necessary two-thirds vote.

The Second Step. Each name is now voted on individually (by written ballot), beginning with the name which has received the most votes. If names have the same number of votes, they are voted on alphabetically. Two negative ballots shall reject a candidate. A blank or lacking ballot does not count as a negative vote; so if 21 are present, then 21 ballots must be cast. In the minutes of the meeting, the Secretary records the names of the elected candidates only.

The Secretary should advise newly elected member of her election and issue invitation for membership by writing.

Respectfully submitted,

Janet V. Hartwell

800 On Monday, January 5th, Mrs. Pillsbury entertained the Study Club at her home, with twenty-two members present. Miss Crosby was also there as a guest. Mrs. Pillsbury first gave a very interesting informal talk on her personal meetings with Arabs and Jews when she was in the Middle East about three years ago, and then served us a delicious lunch. This was the 800th meeting of the Study Club so it seemed fitting that we should celebrate it with a party. At a very short business meeting before luncheon, the possibility of electing new members at the Business Meeting on January 23rd was discussed but it was finally voted to wait until the Annual Meeting in the spring.

802 The Study club held its business meeting on January 23rd at the home of Mrs. Walker, twenty members being present, and Mrs. Duff presiding. Mrs. Duff suggested that a Committee be appointed to work out a system of preferential voting, a report to be sent to each member so that we can vote on whether or not to try it at the elections at the spring meeting. This committee is also to make a recommendation in regard to whether or not a blank should count as a negative vote when taking in new members. It was agreed that such a Committee should be appointed. Mrs. Duff announced the Program Committee for next year; Mrs. Earl Partridge, Chairman, and Mrs. Wurtele and Mrs. Stone. Mrs. Lowe proposed that a vote of thanks be given to the present committee for the excellent program this year. This motion was seconded and carried.

Different members then proposed topics for consideration for next year. These were finally reduced to six topics for the Program Committee to investigate. They follow:

The

1. The American Political scene and how it relates to the European scene, with Mr. William Anderson to lead it.
2. Prominent Statesmen and their influence on their times.
3. Africa
4. Shakespeare, if someone as good as Mr. Robert Moore, who will be on a Sabatical next year can be found to lecture to us.
5. Modern Philosophic thought.
6. Some period of French History.

It was suggested that Mrs. Partridge's committee contact Dean Nolte for information on various members of the faculty who might speak to us on the above topics. Her committee will make a report on their survey at the Annual meeting.

Mrs. Dalrymple moved and it was seconded and carried that our meetings next year begin at 10:30 A.M. and continue till twelve. The meeting was adjourned and we were then delightfully entertained by Mrs. Walker at luncheon.

ANNUAL MEETING
THE STUDY CLUB

on May 21.

863 The 46th annual meeting of the Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. Philip Duff, with twenty-two members present. Mrs. Duff entertained the club delightfully at luncheon and immediately afterwards called the meeting to order. The secretary read the minutes of the last annual meeting. There were no additions or corrections. The treasurer's report was read and accepted.

Mrs. Earl Partridge, chairman of the program committee reported that her committee had received good ideas from Mr. Knolte and Mr. Rogers. She and Mrs. Stone presented two programs for our consideration with a rough outline for each. The two were;

1. Philosophic problems of the World Politics
2. Problems of China and the Far East.

After some discussion, the vote was taken and the topic for 1959-1960 is "Problems of China and the Far East". This program will include twelve lectures, three or four of which may be given by Study Club members.

It was suggested that we raise the emolument given to the professors who lecture to us and it was voted to leave the decision of the amount to the program committee.

The hostesses for the year will be

October - Mrs. Billsbury and Mrs. Slocum
November - Mrs. Duff and Mrs. Morrison
December - Mrs. Wurtele
January - Mrs. Hartwell and Mrs. Walker

The proposed changes in election procedure were then discussed, and explanation of this new preferential voting having previously been sent to each member of the club. Mrs. Morrison moved and it was seconded and carried that the club adopt this voting procedure in taking in new members in the future, and so this change has been written into our bylaws.

Elections were held, using this new system of voting and Mrs. George Heffelfinger was elected.

The meeting was then adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

At the annual meeting of the Study Club on May 21, 1959, it was voted to amend Article Three of the Bylaws of the society and change the election procedure to the preferential system of voting. An explanation of this voting system follows:

1. The number of vacancies shall be announced.
2. Nominations are then in order.
3. Every candidate nominated is listed on each member's ballot.
4. Each member votes for each candidate in the order of her preference, putting a #1 beside the name of her first choice, # 2 for her second choice, and so on to the last place.
5. The tellers count the number of votes for each candidate and list them in order, the candidate with the lowest numerical count having first place, the second lowest the next place and so on to the last place.
6. The top one, two, three, or more candidates, dependent on the number of places to be filled, are then announced.
7. The first name is then voted upon by written ballot. With two negative votes that candidate fails of election. The next one is then voted upon, etc.
8. The survivors of this last vote are declared elected.
