Potatoes were grown and sold until insects and diseases made them not profitable. In 1907 the cattle were herded to the farm a distance of 8-9 miles by family and neighbors in South Rushaba Twp.

Of original buildings still here are the original house of two stories (14'-20') and part of the barn. Horse were used until the early 1950's when tractors were finally purchased. The farm now has only beef cattle (Herefords).
