Corrections

The department issued bulletin #07-01-01 on September 13, 2007 which contained the lists of schools that may or may not meet the Food Support Program definition of an “institution of higher education”. It was brought to our attention that several schools were missing from the Minnesota and out-of-state school lists. The corrected school attachments are included with this bulletin. An additional contact person has also been added to this bulletin.

The Educational Institution Profile Sheet (EIPS) is a listing of post-secondary schools in Minnesota and select post-secondary schools in surrounding states. The list identifies whether or not a school is “an institution of higher education” as defined by the Food Support Program (FSP). To be eligible for Food Support, students must meet certain criteria. Some students who attend an institution of higher education may not be eligible for Food Support. Refer to Combined Manual 0011.18 for other factors that may affect a students’ eligibility for Food Support.

INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION AS DEFINED BY THE FOOD SUPPORT PROGRAM

Students are enrolled in an institution of higher education if:

- They are enrolled in the regular curriculum at a college or a university that offers degree programs whether or not a high school diploma is required. A “college” includes a junior, community, two-year or four year college.
- They attend a business, technical, trade or vocation school that normally requires a high school diploma or equivalency certification for enrollment in the curriculum.

The EIPS includes a determination of institution of higher education status. The determinations are made by the individual school, or for the technical colleges and consolidated technical and community colleges, by the Minnesota State Colleges and University (MSCU) system using the Food Support Program definition. MSCU also provides the list of technical college programs for consolidated schools.

Consolidated technical and community colleges require special consideration when determining institution of higher education status. See instructions below for details.

USE OF THE EIPS

Bulletin 05-01-03 is made obsolete by the issuance of this update.

When determining eligibility for students applying for Food Support, use this EIPS to identify whether or not a school is an institution of higher education. An asterisk under Institution of Higher Education identifies a consolidated school.

For students attending a consolidated technical and community college:

- Determine the specific program the student is enrolled in.

- Determine if that program appears on the attached list for the MNSCU Programs for Consolidated Community and Technical Colleges.
 - If it does, the student is not attending an institution of higher education and meets that eligibility criterion.
 - If it does not, the student is attending an institution of higher education and must meet another eligibility criterion to be eligible.

Some colleges and universities offer classes outside their regular curriculum such as English as a second language. Persons enrolled in classes that are not part of a school's regular curriculum would not be considered enrolled in an institution of higher education. This applies even if the school and its regular curriculum are classified as an institution of higher education. If it is questionable whether classes are part of the school's regular curriculum, contact the school to verify.

If you encounter a school not listed in the EIPS or have a question or concern regarding a school's status or a merged school program, please contact:
