BACKGROUND

This report is part of the Racial/Ethnic and Immigrant Studies (REIS) series issued by the Minnesota Department of Human Services (DHS) describing welfare reform outcomes of racial/ethnic groups and subgroups. These reports inform policymakers, agencies, and organizations about current trends in public assistance programs whose goal is the economic stability of participants – the Minnesota Family Investment Program (MFIP) and the Diversionary Work Program (DWP).

PURPOSE OF THE REPORT

This report examines the demographic characteristics of adults eligible on MFIP and DWP cases, family characteristics of cases, and economic characteristics of cases that received MFIP or DWP payments in December 2005. Throughout the study, the race/ethnicity of the case applicant was used for the case, with these categories: (1) Hispanics of all races; (2) non-Hispanic American Indians, (3) non-Hispanic Asians and Pacific Islanders, (4) non-Hispanic Blacks, and (5) non-Hispanic whites. The third and fourth groups were further broken down for this study into subgroups based on citizenship and immigrant group membership. The new report is available at <http://edocs.dhs.state.mn.us/lfserver/Legacy/DHS-4262K-ENG>.

The information in this study brief updates the data in the tenth REIS report and parallels the DHS report entitled Characteristics of December 2005 Minnesota Family Assistance Programs: Cases and Eligible Adults (<http://edocs.dhs.state.mn.us/lfserver/Legacy/DHS-4219G-ENG>) that analyzes the same data from the perspectives of programs and counties.

Input from readers is invited, both reactions to this report and suggestions for indicators in future reports. Feedback, questions or comments on this report series should be forwarded to Dana DeMaster at (651) 431-3963.
