Dear Sir

If you were willing I would like to come down for Aggie about the middle of May. The weather is fine and it is pleasanter than later in the season after it gets so warm. She runs out door nearly all the time when at home, and enjoys it so much, I think of her in doors, all these pleasant sunny days. And pity her. Though I know you do for all your unfortunate little ones the very best you can. Still it is not like being at home on a shady farm in hot weather.

My dear doctor:

My wife has been intending to go down and see Jessie ever since receiving report from you as to condition of her stomach. But she has been sick and unable to go - If she is well enough, will go down next week. If there is anything that we can do to ameliorate her condition, we will be only too glad to do it. But we realize her case for mental improvement is hopeless, and the only thing we can do is to make her physical condition as pleasant as possible.

Dear Sir we received yours of the Minnie we would be all very glad to have her at home with us through the vacation. Providing you would think it would do her any good you must remember we live in a thickly settled part of the city and there is but little room for running around especially in her condition if you think it would have any tendency to make her condition worse than she is. we would rather she would stop with you if you approve of her coming home would she have to stop at home all the vacation or leave if desired.
