The special meeting of the Hennepin County Board had been called to discuss reorganization of the administrative functions of Hennepin County as shown schematically in an organization chart prepared by the Acting Administrator.

The Deputy Administrator would deputize for the County Administrator in his absence.

Robert Rholf, Library Director, was present at the meeting and reported that the Library Board felt strongly that they should be represented on the chart, due to it being a statutory body with appointing authority. It also was concerned as to the Library function reporting to the Associate Administrator of Interviews were held for those applicants who wished to appear before the Board in connection with their interest in being appointed to either the Hennepin County Park Reserve Board (one vacancy) or the Hennepin County Library Board (two vacancies). Chairman Derus advised that it was likely a decision would be made in these matters at the next Board Meeting to be held on June 28th, 1977.

Chairman Derus announced that due to there being a holiday on Monday, July 4th (Independence Day) there would be no committee meetings on that date, nor would there be a Board meeting on Tuesday, July 5th, 1977.

On motion, the County Board adjourned until Tuesday, June 28th, 1977.
