REMARKS:

Lenore Helen Sternberg, along with her younger sister, had breakfast with their father at 8:00 A.M., bade him goodbye on their way to school at 8:15 A.M., January 4th. While shoveling snow he spoke to neighbor girl on her way to school. He mentioned the fact to Lenore at breakfast that likely he would have trouble in starting the car. He was found dead in his car at the wheel; head and body had fallen to the right of front car seat. The ignition key was turned on. That evening at about 8:30, upon arrival at the garage the body, under clothing, namely, the trunk, was found to be still warm. No attempt had been made by the deceased to open the garage door, and a heavy snowfall, estimated at 5 to 7 inches deep, was noted, showing definitely that no attempt had been made to open the garage door or to shovel the snow away from the garage door entrance.

It was the Coroner's conclusion that the man was overcome by carbon monoxide gas poisoning, and exposure to freezing cold weather as a contributory cause of death. Neighbors were interviewed and they were all of the opinion that this was an accidental death.

REMARKS:

The above named was found dead by his brother, Frank George (Denny) Moore, at about 10:00 P.M. January 4, 1943 in bedroom occupied by the two brothers. Officer Kittridge and Officer Hurley, Deputy Sheriffs, of Hennepin County, both investigated this death and their report is on file in this office.

After dinner on date of death, about 7:00 P.M. a neighbor boy, Jack Dedon, 4501 Edina Boulevard, came over to visit Herbert in his room on the second floor of the residence, during which time they had Coca Cola and cake for refreshments. Herbert was instructed by his father to get at his special school work, and about fifteen minutes later Herbert came downstairs with his neighbor friend, Jack Dedon, and said goodbye at the door. While Mr. and Mrs. Moore were playing cards, at about 8:30 P.M., they heard a thump or dull noise upstairs, and they were of the opinion that it was the wind or that Herbert had tripped over something; later on they heard noises like feet kicking on the floor, which they believed was a noise made by the windstorm. At 9:45 P.M. Denny Moore, returning home, discovered his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Moore stated that at no time did they recognize a gun shot sound. They furthermore stated that they had several guns in the house and that Herbert was accustomed to using the guns, and that Herbert and Denny had been out this fall hunting pheasants; they also stated that their daughter when she was at home was accustomed to using guns. Further, that Herbert when at Camp Lincoln received a medal for markmanship. Denny Moore called Dr. Salt, living in a nearby residence, and Dr. Salt gave first aid and put on hemostatic forceps to control the bleeding. He then called a private ambulance, sending Herbert Moore to Northwestern Hospital. The family physican, Dr. D. H. Daniel, who delivered this boy seventeen years ago was called to Northwestern Hospital. The injured boy was dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Dr. D. H. Daniel and Dr. Salt have both been consulted relative to this death.

I have had occasion at this office to privately interview Mr. and Mrs. Dedon and their son Jack, who last visited with the deceased. Have also privately and individually interviewed at this office Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Moore and their living son, Frank George (Denny) Moore, Jr.

History obtained from the family points to the fact that Mr. Hirsch was an old cardiac and suffered from considerable dyspnea on exertion. He was operated on four years ago for prostatitis, which has caused him considerable trouble up to this time.

Apparently feeling better, she went to bed and apparently was dead at 6:00 o'clock that evening, when it was impossible to arouse her. Dr. Olson, of Lake and Nicollet, was called, but patient was dead before he arrived. The son agreed that an autopsy could be done.

REMARKS:

Mrs. Howe returned from downtown around 5:15 P.M., walked from the end of the street car line from 42d and West Broadway, Robbinsdale, to her home - approximately two blocks. She entered the living room of her home and was met by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Myrtle Howe. Mrs. Howe showed her daughter-in-law a new hat that she had just bought, and seemed in a very cheerful mood. She placed the hat on a small table, laid her coat over a chair and then started towards the bathroom. Mrs. Myrtle Howe picked up the phone and was using same when she head a thud in the bathroom and went to investigate. Mrs. Howe was found lying on the floor with her head between the washstand and the tub. Dr. Lillehei of Robbinsdale was immediately called and arrived in about ten minutes, at which time he pronounced her dead. He, with the help of others in the household, picked her up and placed her on a bed. The deceased was seen by Dr. H. J. Welles at about 6:00 P.M. January 7, 1943.

There is a history of Mrs. Howe being subject to dizzy spells for some time past, and for the past two weeks has had a moderately severe cold, but has seen no physician.

On examination, there is an abrasion about 12"x1/4" across the bridge of the nose

REMARKS:

This was a praecox case that was sent to the State Hospital, Rochester, Minnesota, March 17, 1942; he was paroled in June, 1942. Went to work for the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., but terminated his employment there in September, 1942 because he did not feel well. About eighteen months previous to his death his attempted to cut his wrists, but was prevented from doing so. A year ago he took a heavy dose of barbiturates, he was out for about 48 hours and cloudy for the next three days; he was taken to University Hospital, Mental and Nervous ward, for treatment and later was released. Deceased apparently had an inferiority complex and would not have any conversation with girls. He often spent long hours riding street cars. G. I. plates made by his doctor were negative.

The father is in a wheel chair and the mother is a cripple.

Deceased was last seen Sunday, January 10, 1943, at about 3:30 p.m., when he came into the kitchen and got a glass of water and went out toward the woodshed, which is situated about fifty feet behind the house. Monday, January 11, 1943, deceased did not appear for breakfast and the father discovered that he had not slept in his bed. A brother-in-law was called to hunt for him and he found him in the woodshed, dead. When John F. Anderson, Morgue superintendent, and Dr. Welles, Deputy Coroner, reached the home of the deceased, the sheriffs were there. Deceased was lying on his right side with cap and glasses on, both arms flexed, his mouth and chin was covered with a bloody froth, the body was badly frozen. The body lay in a pile of kindling. By the side of the shed was a step-ladder, on the upper step the sheriff found a glass with about an ounce of frozen water. The side of the glass was covered with white precipitate. Alongside of the glass was a 1/8th ounce bottle of strichnine sulphate powder (Merck), the bottle was empty. The glass was brought to Hennepin County Morgue. The bottle was taken by the sheriff, to be returned to the Morgue.

REMARKS: A young man, A. "Ozzie" S. Johnson, living at 615-46th Ave. No., age 26, employed by the Stevens Advertising Co., while taking away paper cans on the fourth floor of the Loeb Arcade, saw a man whom he identified as the same man who fell from the fourth floor balcony of the building, resulting in death. He first saw the deceased at about 8:10 a.m. when he was standing outside the door of the shop where he was employed, at that time he stood with his elbows resting on the balcony rail. Mr. Johnson again recognized the same man at about 9:05 to 9:10 a.m. while standing outside the doorway of the place where he was employed; the man was leaning on the balcony rail. Mr. Johnson had intended to inquire if the man was employed on the same floor, as he could see no reason why he should be standing outside the doorway, where Mr. Johnson was employed, leaning on the balcony rail. A few minutes later when he intended to interrogate the man he found that he had moved away from the balcony railing.

A Mrs. Catherine Hess, Corvallis Ave., Crystal Village, age 67, who is employed on the fourth floor of the Loeb Arcade in the other section of the balcony loop, states that she could see a man walking up and down the balcony at a point designated where a man had fallen from the fourth floor to the main floor. Mrs. Hess estimates it was only 2½ to 3½ minutes from the time she passed a man in the balcony hall, allowing her time to walk to the right and enter the room where she was employed, until a thud was heard and also the scream of a woman, indicative of an accident.

Mr. A. "Ozzie" S. Johnson states that he identified the man, after death, on the main floor of the Loeb Arcade as the same individual that was leaning his elbows on the balcony railing outside the doorway of his place of employment on the fourth floor of the Loeb Arcade.

John Clifford, Route 3, Spring Lake Park, window washer, was working on windows at 111 Loeb Arcade; he heard a noise like a box falling from above. He turned and saw the body on the floor. He made an effort to raise the head of the man lying there but it fell back.

REMARKS:

About midnight, January 18, 1943, John Gordman, who occupies the room next to the deceased at the Beacon Hotel, 40 Washington Avenue South, heard some commotion in deceased's room but thought nothing of it. The following morning body of deceased was found on the roof of the adjoining building. Obviously he had slashed his wrists with a pocket knife, then jumped through the closed window of his room to the roof of the one-story building which adjoins the Beacon Hotel. In falling the body apparently had hit the edge of an iron box and had fallen between the box and the building wall; deceased had then crawled under a fire escape and apparently frozen to death. There was a great deal of blood in the room of deceased - on the bedding and his clothes, his suit cases, too, were smeared with blood.

Early information obtained was to the effect that deceased had at one time been an inmate of the Hastings State Hospital. This information was later corrected by a nephew of the deceased who stated that deceased at one time had been found sleeping in a barn with a bottle of wine beside him; he was picked up by the Hastings County police and was detained for a ten day period in the Hastings County jail.

The Coroner's Office received a telephone call from one Dana McCutcheon from 98th and Lyndale Avenue South stating that a man by the name of Rasmus Clousen had been found dead in the barn back of his home (102d Street and Harriet Avenue). Deceased was last seen alive a week ago in the community, at which time he was under the influence of liquor. It is assumed that he went home and tried to unlock the back door of his house, being unable to gain entry he went out to the barn and lay down on the floor. He probably dropped off to sleep, and froze to death. The body was found by John Oxboro on January 28, 1943, who decided to investigate and ascertain why deceased had not been seen during the past several days. The body was frozen and apparently had been there for about a week since there were no tracks in the snow.

About 12:30 he decided to go home, he went out the back door to get his car when suddenly he dropped dead. Mr. LeBaron was a man who was keen of mind despite his advanced age, according to the son, and never wanted to be referred to as being old. The son, thinking that Davies was going to call for the body, took possession of his father's watch and pocketbook. When Mr. LeBaron collapsed, Dr. Rogers was called but upon arrival found the man was dead.

REMARKS:

On February 8, 1943 deceased had breakfast about 10:00 a.m., according to statement of his sister, Mrs. Paul Wedge. After breakfast deceased went upstairs to lie down on his bed. Shortly after a severe pulmonary hemorrhage developed. Mrs. Wedge called her husband by phone and he in turn telephoned Dr. James Hayes, who had been attending Mr. Buchanan since September, 1942, - although Dr. Hayes had not seen Mr. Buchanan since last Christmas - called St. Mary's Hospital and ordered them to send an ambulance to Mr. Buchanan's home and remove him to the hospital. The ambulance arrived at the residence about 11:35 a.m. and Mrs. Wedge and a young man and woman were there. One of the women remarked, "I am afraid it is too late." Both T. W. Rogers and Ted D. Dyson, of the ambulance personnel, considered Mr. Buchanan to be dead as they noted no breathing, the eyes were fixed, and Mr. Rogers was unable to obtain a radial pulse at any time during their trip in the ambulance. Mr. Wedge took a taxicab from downtown out to his home, en route he saw the ambulance approaching and he flagged it down at the overpass on Excelsior Boulevard. He then entered the ambulance to make the trip to the hospital, and rode in the front right seat alongside the driver, Ted D. Dyson. Mr. Wedge stated that at no time during the trip in the ambulance did he observe the patient. Mr. Rogers was seated inside the ambulance beside Mr. Buchanan. At the intersection of Chicago and Franklin Avenues the ambulance collided with a Chicago Avenue street car. The street car was proceeding south and was driven by motorman, Otto Roeder. After the accident it was found that Mr. Buchanan was dead. The Coroner's office was called and eight minutes after the call was received the Coroner was at the scene of the accident.

Mr. Buchanan's home is in Racine, Wisconsin. He had been under treatment in that city, where his case had been diagnosed as carcinoma of the lungs. In Minneapolis Dr. Hayes, too, concurred in that diagnosis. Mr. Buchanan came to the home of his sister, Mrs. Wedge, from Racine in September, 1942.

REMARKS:

At 9:30 a.m. February 12, 1943 Fred C. Winn, Jr. telephoned his father and stated that he had left the father's car at the National Tea Company, 50th and France, that he had lost the keys to the car and that was the reason why he had failed to come home the previous night. Mr. Winn, Sr. went over to the place mentioned above and picked up his car. He then drove Mrs. Winn to the clinic at 50th and France. During their absence from the home, the son, Fred C. Winn, Jr. arrived home by taxi. According to Maxine, the Winn's elder daughter, Fred carried a bottle of whiskey into the house with him, and she stated he had been drinking. When the parents returned home from the clinic Maxine ran out to the car and told them that "Junior" had a gun and was going to shoot himself. The father entered the house and tried to talk to the boy, however, the son warned him not to come through the door or he would shoot him, and he reiterated to the father that he was going to kill himself. The father drove his wife back to the clinic at 50th and France and from there telephoned the son and engaged him in conversation, he told his father that "I am drunk - I'm crazy drunk." Fred, Jr. then forced his sister, Maxine, and his aunt, Mrs. Fern Ditch, out of the room, threating to shoot them unless they left. Shortly after they had withdrawn from the room they heard the report of a gun. This was about three o'clock in the afternoon. Deceased was found in an overstuffed chair, a double-barrelled shot gun between his knees. He had removed his shoes and apparently released the trigger of the shot gun with his toes, killing himself instantly.

REMARKS:

Mr. George Atwood, deceased's former son-in-law, talked to deceased on Thursday, February 25, 1943. She remarked that she was planning to go to Lake Minnetonka the following day to spend the weekend. Mr. Atwood telephoned the following day and received no response; he called again on Saturday and still received no answer. On Sunday, February 28th Elizabeth Holmberg told Mr. Atwood that deceased had not gone to the lake. They became somewhat alarmed, therefore, went to deceased's apartment, got the janitor, and broke open the door. This was about 3:00 p.m. on Sunday. Upon entering bedroom of deceased they found her lying on her bed, dead. Rigor mortis had developed. The room was in perfect order; there was no medicine of any kind about. Two weeks previous to her death, Mrs. Clark had had a fainting spell after taking a hot bath; she also had had a fainting attack a year and a half ago. Deceased had had a cold recently.

Deceased is the widow of Truman H. Clark.

Her personal physician is Dr. A. E. Wilcox.

On the evening of March 2, 1943 two girls who occupy a room across the hall from deceased noticed his door ajar and also the fact that a man was lying on the floor. They reported the incident to the landlord, however, he evidently misunderstood the location of the room in question because he went up to the second floor to investigate, but finding everything in order on that floor, dismissed the matter. The next morning the two girls again noticed that the man's body was still on the floor in his room and they again reported the matter to the landlord. Upon investigation it was found that the man was dead. The Coroner's Office was called and the Coroner and the Superintendent of the Morgue responded to the call.

A Deputy Coroner went to the Thompson Hotel and found that Miss Sebek's sister, Miss Florence Sebek, had given premature birth to a baby girl. The baby was born out of wedlock. The father is Kenneth Ekstrom who is now in the U. S. Army. The mother stated that she gave birth to the baby on March 5th in her room and was alone in attendance. She further stated that the baby lived for a few minutes and then ceased breathing, and according to her dates was an eight month's gestation. She fondled the baby throughout the night and the following day until her sister, Pearl, arrived from International Falls, Minnesota. Pearl has been employed as a practical nurse in a hospital in International Falls and she came to Minneapolis seeking work. Florence has been employed at the Twin City Ordnance Plant at New Brighton.

The Deputy Coroner who made the investigation had Florence removed to the Minneapolis General Hospital for examination and treatment.

The baby's body was removed to the Morgue.

Deceased formerly lived at 4054 Yosemite Avenue, St. Louis Park, with his wife and son, Earl F. Seeliger. The latter is a chiropractor, with offices at 402 Wesley Temple Building, Minneapolis. About eight months ago deceased was divorced from his wife; he then went to live with neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ohde, 4042 Yosemite Avenue, St. Louis Park. He has lived with the Ohde's since July, 1942. Mrs. Seeliger and the son, Earl F., have continued to live in their home.

Deceased had been employed by the Munsingwear Company as a supervisor for 27 years.

About 4:00 p.m. on March 11, 1943 deceased telephoned Fred Ohde and asked him to bring home some meat for supper. A short time later he telephoned Mrs. Fred Ohde, who was visiting at her parents' home in St. Louis Park, and informed her that he was going to destroy himself. Mrs. Ohde immediately telephoned the St. Louis Park Police Department and reported the matter. Officer Lloyd McGarry at once drove to the Ohde home. He found both front and back doors locked. As he was trying to gain entrance to the house he heard three shots fired from within the house. About this time Mr. Ohde returned from town and he and Officer McGarry entered the house through the front door. They found deceased lying on a couch in the living room, dead. Upon examination it was found that deceased had two bullet wounds in the left chest.

At various times in the past deceased had threatened to commit suicide. This threat had been made when deceased was living with his wife and son, and later to Mr. and Mrs. Ohde.

REMARKS:

William L. Peterson, a neighbor of deceased and her husband, discovered smoke coming out of the windows in deceased's home and he called the Fire Department. Firemen, upon entering the house, found deceased lying on the floor. She was dead. A housecoat she had been wearing had burned from her body. Her entire right side was badly burned. In reconstructing the events that led up to the fire, it was the consensus of the Coroner and the Deputy Coroner who investigated the case, as well as officers and detectives of the Police Department who were at the scene when the Deputy Coroner arrived, that deceased had been sitting in a large chair smoking a cigaret when she fell asleep. Sparks from the cigaret undoubtedly ignited the upholstery of the chair. Deceased may have awakened in time to take a few steps from the chair, then collapsed on the floor. A large hole was burned through the floor and the chair in which deceased had been sitting had crashed through the burned flooring and into the basement.

Neither deceased's husband, Hester M. Wood, who is employed by the Augsburg Publishing Company, nor their daughter, Joan, 13½, were at home at the time of the fire. The husband, a press feeder, was at work at the time.

A Deputy Coroner and the Superintendent of the Morgue responded to the call with the Morgue car. The Coroner en route to another investigation also stopped at the scene of the street car accident. From information obtained from witnesses, it seems that deceased had parked his cattle truck in front of 618 Cedar Avenue and started to walk across the street, in doing so he was directly in the path of a south-bound street car. The Morgue Superintendent notified by telephone a daughter of deceased, Mrs. Nels Christianson, Winthrop, Minnesota, that her father had been killed. A son-in-law, B. A. Olson, of Winthrop, came to the Morgue and made arrangements for deceased's removal by a funeral director.

A son and three daughters survive. The son has been living in Everett, Washington. Two of the daughters, Mrs. Christianson and Mrs. Olson, reside in Winthrop. Deceased's former wife, from whom he was divorced some years ago, makes her home with their daughter, Mrs. Olson. Deceased had been making his home with some family in Winthrop.

Deceased's husband, Pvt. Orville Granaas, has been in the Army since February, 1943. Deceased has been employed at the Twin Cities Ordnance Plant, and she occupied a room with two other girls, Julia Chesley and Phyllis Everett, in a rooming house at 1033 East River Road, Minneapolis. Deceased had confided to her roommates that she was pregnant, also the fact that she was not very enthusiastic about having a baby and that she intended to do something to prevent the birth.

At 11:30 p.m. April 10, 1943 deceased told her roommates that she was going out to mail a letter. She left the house and did not return until five o'clock the next morning. The landlady, Mrs. R. W. Muir, opened the door for her when she returned. Mrs. Muir, at the time, was of the opinion that deceased had been drinking because the girl seemed to be somewhat unsteady as she walked into the house. One of the roommates, Julia Chesley, helped deceased get into bed and applied cold cloths to her head, as she had complained of not feeling well.

About 8:30 the next morning Julia and Phyllis awakened and found deceased lying on the bed, face downward, her right arm was extended and the left was at her side; her face was turned toward the right. There was a blood stained area around deceased's nose and mouth of about six inches on the pillow. The body was still warm. The Minneapolis General Hospital was called and the doctor who accompanied the ambulance pronounced the girl dead.

Obviously, deceased's husband, who is stationed at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, was very pleased over the fact that deceased was pregnant. The couple had been married for about 2½ years. A baby boy was born to them December 16, 1941; the child died when he was about two months old.

A post-mortem examination was made on deceased at 5:00 p.m. April 11, 1943 which revealed that the girl was about three months' pregnant and her death was caused by an air embolism, due to an apparent induced attempt at abortion.

Deceased's father, Hubert Erickson of Rutland, North Dakota, made the funeral arrangements and deceased's clothing and personal effects were released to him by the Morgue Superintendent.

Deceased, a recluse, had lived in the locality all her life and was born in a house located at the rear of her home. Both houses were filled with furniture, clothing and household utensils, as well as books and newspapers that she had apparently accumulated throughout her life. REMARKS:

There is a history that deceased had had several abdominal operations from time to time several years ago. The first operation failed to reveal the presence of a gall-bladder. According to the records, she later was operated upon by Dr. Wagenstein at the University Hospital; that was approximately eight years previous to her death. She later developed a post-operative duodenal fistula. About two years ago Dr. Thorvald Peterson closed the fistula.

On February 24, 1943 deceased fell on the ice-covered sidewalk at Second Street and 17th Avenue Northeast in Minneapolis and sustained a fractured right hip. She was removed to the Swedish Hospital, where she was attended by Dr. G. W. Callerstrom. An operation was done on the hip by Dr. John H. Moe and Dr. Callerstrom. Deceased apparently recovered from the accident, however, it left her in a weakened condition. After she had recuperated sufficiently to be moved from the hospital she was taken to the home of a daughter. She later developed bronchopneumonia and expired on April 15, 1943.

A post mortem examination was conducted.

REMARKS:

Deceased and his father, Arvid E. The child, in his eagerness to greet his mother, slipped away from his father and darted into the street on Eighth Street near Tenth Avenue South. An automobile driven by Alfred L. Hewes, 21, 3919 Second Avenue South, Minneapolis was proceeding along Tenth Avenue, loop-bound. In trying to avoid hitting the child, Hewes crashed his machine into that of Eklund's car parked on the north side of Eighth Street near Eleventh Avenue South. The automobile struck the child 123 feet east of the Tenth Avenue crosswalk and carried him 85 feet. The parents witnessed the tragedy. The boy was carried into Swedish Hospital and died fifteen minutes later in the receiving room.

Ed. Harding informed the Deputy Coroner that he had been retained by deceased to look after him. Deceased had been drinking heavily for several days, and Harding was supposed to act in the capacity of a guardian; he had been with deceased for a week. On Friday, April 23, 1943, deceased was taken to a Turkish bath where he remained until the next day at noon. When he left the Turkish bath he seemed to be in rather good physical condition. About 4:30 that afternoon deceased fell on the sidewalk in front of the Tourist Hotel, where he was living at the time, and sustained a head injury. He was taken to the Minneapolis General Hospital for treatment and then was released. He returned to his hotel room. The next morning, April 25th, he was found lying across his bed on his back, fully dressed with the exception of his coat; he was dead.

A post mortem examination was made on April 25, 1943 which revealed that the cause of death undoubtedly was due to the fall deceased had had on the afternoon of April 24th.

REMARKS:

About 6:00 p.m. April 29, 1943 a call was received from the Police Department that the body of a woman had been found at a dump located near Cedar Lake at Upton Avenue South and West 21st Street. The body was covered with dirt, with the exception of the feet and legs. Through a check of the woman's fingerprints her identity was established.

It was learned that deceased and James E. Talbot, with whom she lived, had engaged in a drunken fight, probably the previous night. Talbot had beaten the woman until she was either dead or unconscious, and then apparently had placed her body in the rumble seat of his car and driven her out to the spot where the body later was found.

Deceased's parents reside in Pittsfield, Wisconsin. Her aunt, Mrs. Mae Hayes, lives at 1839 East 28th Street, Minneapolis. Deceased's former husband, from whom she was divorced, is in the Army.

About two o'clock during the morning of April 30, 1943 detectives broke into the apartment that had been occupied by deceased and Ruth Minor Shablau (Shableau). They found a note signed by Talbot, addressed to his mother, reading as follows: "I'm sorry. A drunken fight. I love her and so goodbye. Thursday-$4 due on garage-you will find the money in my watch pocket. Ruth had insurance and her bonds are in the dresser. I'm sorry, mother. Hope we meet soon." From the apartment manager the detectives learned that deceased kept his car in a garage at the rear of 412 East 14th Street. Upon entering the garage the detectives found deceased's body on the garage floor beneath the exhaust pipe of his car, a leather jacket hung over the rear bumper to direct the fumes to him. The garage door had been wedged shut with wire and a screw driver. The car's engine was still warm, although it had stopped, apparently out of gas. Talbot was dead of carbon monoxide poisoning.

She dropped the tub, and was unable to stand without supporting herself by holding on to a railing. She was taken to the Minneapolis General Hospital on April 26, 1943. While in the hospital deceased developed symptoms of Landry's paralysis, which steadily increased up to the time of her death, May 15, 1943.

REMARKS:

Deceased lived alone in a small house on his farm, situated about a mile from the town of Maple Plain, Minnesota. On the night of May 15, 1943 he spent some time in Maple Plain and started for his home shortly after midnight. In walking along the highway from town he apparently became confused and instead of turning off on to the road that led to his home, he turned off into a plowed field. It had been raining during the day and the field was wet and soggy. Deceased's body was found during the forenoon of May 16th by Clifford Hilstrom, a neighbor, lying in the field. From all indications, he had expired during the night, from coronary sclerosis and exposure to the wet and cold.

A daughter, Mrs. C. R. Wollthan, Route 2, Hopkins, Minnesota, claimed the effects of deceased. Another daughter lives in Denver, Colorado.

The body was released to the funeral director in Maple Plain.

REMARKS:

Deceased, a student at South High School in Minneapolis, had been working part time as a waitress at one of the Walgreen Drug Stores for four days previous to her death. She developed an acute cold on May 14th, 1943. During a heavy rain storm the following day she became thoroughly drenched, and as a result the cold became worse and settled in her chest. However, she worked all of that day. On the third day - May 16th, she was ill enough to remain in bed. Deceased's mother called Dr. Korchik and explained her daughter's condition, he prescribed 7½ grains of Sulfathiozole. Four tablets, or 30 grains, were taken during the day. The girl's condition, apparently, had reached the point where the Sulfathiozole could accomplish little or no good. That night deceased's condition became worse, she had a high temperature and rapid, shallow respiration. The following morning Dr. Eisenstadt was summoned, and upon arrival at 7:14 am., he found the girl had expired. Just before death she coughed up a small amount of bloody sputum.

REMARKS:

Deceased was born in the Minneapolis General Hospital April 28, 1943. A short time after his birth the baby developed impetigo and was transferred to Station M. He was treated there with Sulphathiozole ointment and Cinnabar 1% solution. On May 15th there were no new lesions, therefore, the Sulpha. drug was discontinued. On May 19th it was decided the condition was cured and the Cinnabar solution was discontinued. However, it was noted that on that day the baby had developed an acute diarrhea condition; treatment for same was commenced. A prescription of Tr. Opii Camphorata M Vl Qh 4 x 3 was written by Dr. Durham. At 6:00 p.m. May 19th Miss Lorraine Swanson, a student nurse from Northwestern Hospital, and affiliated with Minneapolis General Hospital, took over care of the case. The nurse gave (by mistake) Tr. Opii M Vl at 6:00 p.m. She repeated the dose, M Vl, at 10:00 p.m. At 11:00 p.m. the baby was in collapse, slow respiration and cyanotic. An interne was summoned and he gave 0.5% Coramine and artificial respiration was started. At 11:30 p.m. Dr. Wert, the house doctor on Pediatrics, was called, and 1.5% Coramine was given; at 12:15 a.m. M lV Coramine was given intervenously. Artificial respiration was continued. Oxygen was administered at 4:00 a.m. and M lV Coramine given. The baby expired at 4:12 a.m.

Deceased's parents are Maxine Jackson Underwood and Clarence Underwood. The father was born in Minneapolis and the mother in Iowa.

Deceased was employed as a foreman for R. C. Hitchcock & Sons, engaged in defense work. On May 17, 1943, while in the process of melting magnesium, the retort on the furnace sprang a leak and the molten magnesium, uniting with iron particles in the furnace, caused a thermite reaction which produced a burning metal. The radiant heat from the burning metal set fire to deceased's clothing as he turned around to turn off an electric switch which was behind him. Deceased was removed to the Swedish Hospital where he was attended by Dr. Richard Lindquist, who had been summoned by the Hitchcock Company.

Deceased's daughter, Mrs. Corinne May Ivey, 40, who lived with her parents at 4005-18th Avenue South, stated that her father, despondent over his illness and that of his wife, said he was going to "end it all," and turned on the gas jets of the kitchen range. James got the old man downstairs and out on the street, and in trying to help his father walk, they both stumbled and slightly fell. Deceased expired at 4:14 the following morning.

REMARKS:

Deceased, with two companions, James Deitz, 1928 Aldrich Avenue South, and Bob Russell, 4100 Excelsior Boulevard, was swimming in Lake Calhoun late in the afternoon of June 5th. The boys had been in and out of the water twice; the third time they commenced throwing a bottle into the lake, taking turns to dive for it. Deceased dove for the bottle, was seized with cramps, and as he arose to the surface screamed for help. Deitz went to his assistance, and in going under, deceased nearly dragged the former down with him. Deitz yanked himself free of deceased's grip and shouted for help. Allen McDougal, 19, of 1728 West Lake Street, recovered the body fifteen minutes later in about fifteen feet of water between the diving dock and the life guard's tower. Although artificial respiration was begun while the body was being brought ashore in a boat and a fire department rescue squad with respirator worked more than an hour, efforts at resusitation failed.

REMARKS:

Deceased drove his wife to church at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, June 5, 1943; about 9:30 p.m. he returned to church, met his wife, and drove her home. He then put his dog, an Irish Setter, into the car and drove away from the home. About 3:00 a.m. Sunday morning deceased's wife heard him drive into the garage. He had backed his car into the garage, closed the garage doors, then gotten into his car again, apparently to sleep. On similar occasions, when deceased had been drinking, he had put his car into the garage and gone to sleep in the car. On this particular morning deceased had failed to shut off the ignition, and the fumes from the car exhaust, in the closed garage, was responsible for his death. The dog, too, was dead. Some time during Sunday an acquaintance, Frank McCourtie, went to the garage, was unable to awaken deceased, and left. At 9:00 a.m. Monday morning deceased's wife entered the garage, and was unable to arouse her husband. She then summoned deceased's brother, William L. Johnson, who in turn notified the Coroner's office of the death. The body was removed to the Morgue and later was released to the funeral director.

Deceased lived with her son, William G. Fisher, in an apartment at 807 East 14th Street. Mrs. Fisher was found lying on the floor, unconscious. Her housecoat was wet. There was a burned spot in the mattress on her son's bed and the mattress was wet. The son stated that before leaving for work he had been sitting on his bed smoking. Undoubtedly a spark from his cigaret ignited the bed clothing, and the fire was not discovered until after he had left the apartment. Deceased, apparently, had tried to put out the fire and the excitement and overexertion had brought on an attack of cerebral hemorrhage.

A post mortem examination was conducted at the Morgue.

The pool had been officially opened for the season only a few hours before, and three lifeguards were in attendance. The two boys were believed to have collided in the pool, their bodies sinking to the deepest point, a depth of nine feet. Robert Jacobson, 16, 2429 Girard Avenue South, a life guard, spotted the two bodies at the bottom of the pool and dived for them. He came up with both bodies and with the aid of Kay Ingebrightsen, 18, 705 Seventh Street Southeast, and Garry Woodward, 16, 4136 Queen Avenue South, the other lifeguards, started work on the two youths. They were successful in bringing one of the boys, William Mely, 13, 2107 Marshall Street Northeast, to consciousness, but their efforts to revive Donald Sery proved futile.

Deceased was a pupil at Sheridan junior high school.

REMARKS:

On account of the intense heat, little Patricia's mother moved the mattress of the bed forward, then placed the bed in front of the window so the baby could have more air, and removed the baby's clothing. Mrs. O'Connor then went to a neighbor's, she was gone for about twenty minutes, when she returned she found the baby's body hanging between the slats of the foot of the bed, her head being caught between a post of the bed and the bed spring. Mrs. O'Connor promptly called Dr. Blumenthal and he advised her to take the baby to St. Andrew's Hospital. En route to that hospital a stop was made at Central Hospital, however, since there was no doctor at the place they proceeded on to St. Andrew's. Upon arrival the baby was pronounced dead, and from all indications she had expired during the mother's absence from the home.

On June 21, 1943 deceased and a companion were fishing in St. Alban's Bay, Lake Minnetonka. The motor of the boat in which they were fishing failed and the boat overturned. Robert Anderson, deceased's companion, clung to the boat and was saved, but deceased, who apparently tried to save himself by swimming, was drowned. The body was not recovered until 1:05 p.m. July 3, 1943. It was necessary to set off a charge of ten sticks of dynamite in the lake to bring the body, which apparently had been confined in weeds or mud in 35 feet of water, to the surface. Deputy Sheriffs Frank Sramek and Bud Primeau recovered the body.

Social Security No. 473-20-9860

It seems that deceased was desirous of obtaining some kind of work at the Twin Cities Ordnance Plant, however, her husband was opposed to this. On July 17th Mr. Martz received $13.00 from some people who had been permitted to pick raspberries on the Martz farm. He decided to spend this money on entertainment for his wife and himself. An argument ensued, the wife stating that he (Mr. Martz) could never suggest any place to go when he was taking her out. About 9:00 p.m. deceased drove her daughter over to the Excelsior Amusement Park, where she was employed. On the way home she stopped at the Minnetonka Drug Store and purchased 1/8th ounce of Strychnine Sulphate. After arriving home deceased mixed herself a hi-ball in the kitchen, came into the living room and sat down and drank it. According to Mr. Martz, this was done four or five times. He was lying on the davenport in the living room and did not join his wife in drinking hi-balls. He stated that she spent a longer time in the kitchen while making the last drink. She reentered the living room, sat down, drank her hi-ball, set the glass on the floor, and in three or four minutes threw her arms across her chest, screamed and fell to the floor. Mr. Martz picked his wife up and laid her on the davenport,

REMARKS:

Mr. John Gill, of Gill Bros., funeral directors, called and reported the death of Mrs. Katherine Doyle. Gill Bros. had been notified of the death by Joe Arbeiter, 1801-25th Avenue North, Mrs. Doyle's brother. On Saturday, July 17th, Mrs. Doyle told her five-year old son, Larry, that she had a headache and was going to lie down, and she requested him to be quiet so as not to disturb her. A Mrs. Charles E. Quinn, 3009 Drew Avenue North, was in the habit of attending church with Mrs. Doyle on Sundays. Mrs. Quinn telephoned the Doyle home on Sunday, the 18th; Larry answered and told her his mother had a headache and was sleeping. The following day Mrs. Quinn went to call on Mrs. Doyle and found the door locked. Larry was inside and greeted her joyfully. Again he said his mother was sleeping and that he could not wake her up. Mrs. Quinn then called Mrs. Doyle's sister, Mrs. A. P. Michels, 2722 Russell Avenue North, and she in turn called a brother, Joe Arbeiter. He removed a screen and had Larry unlatch the window, so he could crawl in. He found Mrs. Doyle dead in bed. She evidently had been dead for a couple days. Dr. Silas C. Andersen had treated her for Addison's Disease.

On the morning of July 21st deceased was cutting hay in the field some distance from the house. He came into the house for dinner at noon, and about 1:30 p.m. went out to cut more hay about three hundred feet from the house. He had made four or five trips around the field when he apparently suffered a coronary attack, climbed down from the mower, fell to the ground and expired. The people in the house noticed the team standing in the field for such a long time that someone was sent out to investigate. He was found dead at 4:45 p.m. The body was cold, but there was no rigor mortis. The team had backed the mower so that one wheel was resting on deceased's left leg, however, the leg was neither bruised nor bleeding. Deceased had been born in the log house on the farm where he was cutting the hay.

Deceased has been a diabetic for the past ten years, but refused to follow the doctor's orders in regard to diet, and he was not taking Insulin at the time of his death.

At 2:50 p.m. the nurse left the room, leaving the door open, to see Mrs. Fleeson, the supervising nurse, in the hall. Between 2:55 and 3:00 p.m. Miss Nixon saw Douglas Lindsey, the medical clerk, run into deceased's room. Deceased had torn the nasal and drainage tubes from himself and was tearing the screen from the window of his room. About 10:30 p.m. July 24th deceased purchased insect powder in Walgreen's Drug Store, at Chicago Avenue and Lake Street. Then she went to a lunchroom at 818 East Lake Street, where she apparently took some of the poison dissolved in a soft drink. Then she took a taxicab to the funeral parlor of Welander-Quist, 19th and Chicago Avenue. She told Mr. McNamara, a friend, and who was on duty that night at the funeral parlor, that she was ill and wanted to use the toilet. Mr. McNarmara helped her to the lavatory and then left; he returned in ten minutes and she was seated on the stool. Again he left and returned a few minutes later. The young woman had vomited on the floor and apparently had fallen from the stool onto the floor. Mr. McNamara then called General Hospital and requested that an ambulance be sent. The hospital refused to comply with the request. Mr. McNamara then called the Police Department. Patrolmen Wayne Sherman and Elmo Thomas investigated and called the hospital, requesting an ambulance. The hospital again refused to send an ambulance, so a private ambulance was called and the young woman was taken to General Hospital, where she expired about a half hour after admittance, at 12:50 a.m. July 24th.

REMARKS:

During the afternoon of July 26, 1943 four children, Peter and Robert Pollack, Thomas Sirotiak and Yvonne Hibbin were playing in a sand hopper at the Ready Mixed Concrete Corporation, 37-20th Avenue South. Employees of the plant at various times had warned children to keep away from the hopper because of the danger involved. When the children entered the hopper the sand was not moving. Later, the end of the hopper was opened and the three boys were sucked down with the sand. Yvonne, who was on the near side of the bin, managed to climb out. She notified the employees of the boys' plight and two of the men, Mr. Weglander and Mr. Saugestad, went to the bottom of the hopper. They found a leg sticking out of the sand, which proved to be Robert Pollack when they pulled him out, alive. The other two boys were wedged together in the sand and when extricated were found to be dead. Police Rescue Squad No. T. and a General Hospital ambulance were on the scene. Artificial respiration was carried on for an hour, without results.

The bodies of the two boys were brought to the Morgue and were later released to funeral directors.

Deceased had been employed by L. A. Rockler, furrier, 16-18 North Fourth Street for only a few days. From information obtained, it seems that deceased was running the freight elevator, and at the third floor level something occurred that caused deceased to become caught between the elevator and the iron edge of the third floor shaft; his body was dragged down to the floor of the elevator and his head was cut open by the elevator and the edge of the shaft from the right occipital region, alongside of the face, down the right side of the neck to the clavicle; right chest crushed; right jaw fractured; multiple fractures of the left forearm; right groin was torn open; the pelvis was fractured; the quadriceps muscles were torn, the tear extending to the rectum. Deceased's body was found at the bottom of the elevator pit, where he evidently had fallen from the third floor.

Deceased, who was employed as a janitor at the U. S. Air Conditioning Company, 2101 N. E. Kennedy Street, was found at the bottom of the elevator pit by a fellow employee at 2:30 a.m. July 29th. An ambulance was summoned to remove the injured man to Asbury Hospital, however, he expired at 3:25 a.m. in the ambulance en route to the hospital.

A post mortem examination was made at the Morgue.

After an investigation by the Coroner's Office it is believed that deceased fell to his death from an upper floor as he stepped into the open elevator shaft. He undoubtedly was of the opinion that the elevator was stationed on the floor where he was working at the time, instead of which it was locked on the third floor, above.

She was dead. A hand rail on the left side of the stairs was broken. She apparently had fallen from the fifth or sixth step. Mr. Gorman stated that deceased had been told not to go to the basement, however, she sometimes insisted on using the toilet in the basement instead of going to the upstairs bathroom.

Deceased was a sister of the late James Doyle, a former chief of police in the City of Minneapolis.

A post mortem examination was made at the Morgue on August 5th.

Mrs. Theis went out to the garden about 10:00 a.m. August 4th, a daughter also left the house and went out to take the horses from the barn and put them in the pasture, leaving Jerome alone on the front porch reading a newspaper. Both women were away from the house for about a half hour. On her return to the house the daughter heard a shot, although Mrs. Theis did not hear it. When Mrs. Theis entered the porch she found her son lying on the floor, his feet extending on to the porch while his body was in the doorway leading into the kitchen. He was lying on his back and the front of his shirt was stained with blood. A Winchester rifle was standing in a corner of the wash room just off the kitchen. Apparently deceased shot himself, placed the gun in the wash room, took a few steps to the kitchen and collapsed in the doorway.

The deputy coroner who made the investigation found that there was a small bullet in deceased's chest one inch above the tip of the sternum in the midline and two inches below the nipple line.

The body was brought to the Morgue and later was released to the funeral director.

Deceased had been working at the Nicollet Hotel as a dishwasher for two weeks. During the evening of August 8th deceased had been drinking whatever liquor had been left in the glasses that were returned to the kitchen to be washed. Mary Christophersen, also working in the kitchen, had remarked to one of the other employees that it would be well to "dump the returned remains of the drinks before Olson gets them," as he was commencing to show the effects of the liquor he had drunk all evening from these glasses. He must have gone to the basement some time toward morning, as he was found about 3:45 a.m. by Dale Stinson, a hotel employee, lying on the cement floor at the bottom of the steps, he was still breathing and was bleeding badly from the mouth and nose, but expired right after Mr. Stinson reached his side.

The Superintendent of the Morgue has written air mail letters to three relatives in North Dakota in an effort to have someone arrange for deceased's burial; however, none was interested in assuming the expense of burial. The body, therefore, was sent to the Anatomical Department, University of Minnesota on August 12, 1943.

REMARKS:

During the evening of August 15th deceased's grandmother was in the kitchen filling a kerosene lamp. The lamp exploded and flames immediately spread through the kitchen and toward the next room, a bed room in which baby Diane was lying on a bed. The grandfather sensing the baby's danger, left the house by another door and ran around to the bed room, and broke the window so as to climb into the room and rescue the baby. The draft created by the open window caused the fire to quickly envelope the room. The grandfather carried the child out of doors, however, the baby had been badly burned. The baby was taken to Park Rapids, where a doctor gave first aid and then recommended that the child be taken to University Hospitals for further treatment. The family drove to Minneapolis, however, when they arrived at University Hospitals the baby had already expired. The doctor who examined the child at the hospital was of the opinion that the baby had been dead about a half hour or possibly an hour.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Dickinson. The father is with the U. S. Navy.

About 1:00 a.m. deceased and his partner entered the cab of engine #1382 to rest for a while. Maker, because of the chilly night, remarked that he was going over to get his jacket. About a half hour later he returned and found Larson lying on the floor, or deck of the engine cab, dead. There was a scalp abrasion on the left upper frontal region, also an abrasion on the nose, sustained apparently when deceased fell to the floor. There was no bleeding from the scalp wound.

Deceased was home alone on August 25th. At 2:30 p.m. the child ran screaming from the house with her dress afire. William Blaetler, a neighbor, heard the girl's screams, rushed to her rescue, and ripped the flaming dress from her body. The child's mother was working in a restaurant on the ground floor of the building when the mishap occurred. The child was taken to General Hospital, being admitted at 3:03 p.m. that day. She was given 250 c.c. of plasma, intravenously. She responded to treatment fairly well up until about 9:30 a.m. August 26th, then failed rapidly and expired at 9:43 a.m. of second and third degree burns.

The parents, Alma and Edmund Piilola, stated that there was no open fire in the house, therefore, they suspected that the child had been playing with matches.

Mrs. Walovicz and her children attended the Minnesota State Fair on September 2d. They returned home at 11:00 p.m. Mr. Walovicz's husband was not home when they arrived, so she waited up for him until 1:00 a.m., then she went to bed. She awakened at 2:30 a.m. and still her husband apparently had not returned home. She arose and went to the kitchen but was unable to open the back door leading down to the first floor. She called her son, Joseph, who cut a rope that had been tied to the door knob. The father's body was found on the landing of the stairs. He had tied a rope around his neck, fastened the other end to the door knob, and had then slid down the stairs. Joseph brought his father's body up the second floor landing, where efforts were made to revive him. There is a history that deceased had suffered a skull fracture two years ago when struck by an automobile, and he had been very nervous ever since. He was a heavy drinker and had spent the evening of September 2d in a tavern on West Broadway.

Harry Golden, 21, 1122 Upton Avenue North, son of the proprietor of Golden Auto Parts, and deceased were returning two junked cars to Minneapolis from Watertown, South Dakota. Deceased was driving a tow truck with the front end of one of the cars hoisted up to the tow car. Golden was steering the last car. Two miles east of Maple Plain the three car chain approached a railroad crossing. There was a slight upgrade to the crossing. The west bound Great Northern Empire Builder, running at 60 miles per hour, approached the crossing just as deceased drove the tow truck on to the tracks. Apparently deceased felt that he had time to clear the tracks with the three automobiles before the train reached the crossing, or else he was unware of the approach of the train. Witnesses to the accident said they heard the warning whistle of the train before it reached the crossing.

The tow truck was picked up by the engine of the train and carried for a considerable distance before it was tossed on to the side of the right of way. The impact of the train striking the truck severed the hoist, leaving the other two automobiles standing in the road near the railroad track. Golden was uninjured. Deceased's body was thrown from the cab of the truck and under the wheels of the train. The body was mangled and torn and was strewn along the right of way for a distance of one half to three quarters of a mile.

Deceased is survived by his wife and three children.

This case was reported by the secretary of Dr. Carl A. Witham. Deceased had been a patient of Dr. Witham's for some time, however, since he was out of the city at the time and the secretary could find no records relative to deceased's physical condition during the time of treatment, it was felt that the Coroner's Office should assume the responsibility of signing the certificate.

Deceased had lived at the Hyland Park Rest Home, 2304 Emerson Avenue North, for some time.

The deputy coroner who investigated the case learned that deceased, an aged woman, had had influenza in July, 1943. She had been in a weakened condition for several years and had been bed-ridden for three months previous to her death.

Deceased's body was found floating in the Mississippi River between the Washington and Franklin Avenue Bridges at 9:30 a.m. September 23d. His right arm had been amputated just above the elbow. Identification of the body was not made until during the afternoon of September 24th, when Theodore Suknovich, operator of the Victor Hotel where deceased had lived for the past two years, came to the Morgue and identified deceased. Mr. Suknovich stated that deceased had been despondent over the loss of his right arm which had occurred in an accident May 10, 1943. Since that date up until about three weeks before his death deceased had been a patient in the Northwestern Hospital.

While employed by the J. Gruman Scrap Iron & Metal Co., 537 Seventh Avenue North, deceased's arm was caught beneath a freight car on which he claimed the brakes failed to hold. He had started suit against the Great Northern railway because of the accident and the case was due in court in a few days. Suknovich said deceased took little interest in the suit, but was concerned only over loss of the arm.

Deceased and two other children, (Mary) Bertha Ella McCall, 2549 Blaisdell Avenue, age 11, and Neil Preston, 2541 Blaisdell Avenue, age 8, were playing in a vacant lot at the rear of 2516 Nicollet Avenue during the afternoon of September 24th. A small hole had been dug in the ground and the children enlarged the hole and then tunnelled back under the ground for a distance of about three feet. About 5:15 p.m. the dirt roof caved in, burying deceased and the McCall girl. The Preston boy was free of the cave-in and he attempted to dig the dirt away from the other two children. He was unsuccessful in his efforts after about fifteen minutes digging, therefore, ran to the home of Mrs. L. A. Roller, 2529 Blaisdell Avenue, and reported the matter. Mrs. Roller promptly telephoned the Police Department. An ambulance and the Fire Department rescue squad were sent to the scene. An inhalator was used by the rescue squad, but all efforts to revive the Hug and McCall children were unsuccessful.

According to Phillip Fries, 2319 Penn Avenue North, a witness to the accident which occurred about 2:45 a.m., September 26, 1943, at the intersection of Penn Avenue North and West Broadway, deceased ran diagonally across the street apparently with the intention of boarding an approaching street car. Mr. Fries observed that deceased staggered considerably, and despite the fact that the motorman used both bell and whistle danger warning devices, deceased staggered in front of the street car. Before the motorman could bring the car to a stop deceased was struck by the front end of the car. The impact threw the body out of the way of the street car and onto the street. There was a pool of blood where the body lay seven feet south of the street car tracks and fifteen feet north of the telegraph pole. Deceased was bleeding from both nostrils; there were skin bruises over the frontal bone and the right parietal bone, also three skin bruises (superficial) on the right elbow.

The body was brought to the Morgue, where a post mortem examination was made September 26th.

Mr. Conolly of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Company called and stated that an unidentified body was lying beside the railroad tracks three-fourths of a mile west of Hopkins. Section men of the railroad, John Daniels and Nels Rygg, first saw the body when going west on the track at 11:00 a.m. September 27th. When they returned at noon the body was still there. Later, after lunch, the two men noticed that the body was still lying there, so they stopped and investigated. They reported the incident to the tower man, after they found that the man was dead, and he in turn reported the matter to the railroad police, who in turn notified the Coroner's Office.

The deputy coroner and the Morgue superintendent found the man lying on his right side, fully dressed in grey trousers, blue shirt, brown shoes, leather jacket and cap. The body was clean, as were the underclothes. The man's face was bloated and sunburned; the mouth, nose and ears were full of maggots. The right eye was destroyed by maggots. The man's fingers were dark blue.

Deceased, who had been staying at the Jewish Old People Home, 1554 Midway Avenue, St. Paul, collapsed and fell to the floor during the early part of the evening of August 15, 1943. It was thought that possibly one of the other people in the home had brushed against deceased, causing her to lose her balance and subsequently falling. She was removed to the Minneapolis General Hospital where an x-ray revealed an intertrochanteric fracture of the left hip. She was operated upon, however, failed steadily, and on September 27th developed marked dyspnoea, with rales in both lungs, and expired at 5:25 a.m. September 28th.

This boy, along with Raymond Bernier, 5005-12th Avenue South, and Francis DeRosier, 6440-16th Avenue South, went to the sail boat dock at Lake Nokomis and were playing. Wallie Green, 22, 833 Snelling Avenue North, St. Paul, a Hamline University student, and Vivian DeLoney, age 17, also a student at Hamline, went to Lake Nokomis for a sail in Green's boat. Green got into his boat and Miss DeLoney remained on the dock. The wind blew the sail boat about 150 feet out into the lake. Miss DeLoney got into a row boat with the intention of rowing out to assist Green. The Bernier and DeRosier boys jumped into the boat with Miss DeLoney. The latter's back was turned toward the dock and she was unware of the fact that the Daly boy, too, was attempting to climb into the row boat. The boy had one foot on the row boat and the other on the dock, when the action of the waves carried the boat away from the dock. He fell into the water, which was about twelve feet deep. Wallie Green, noting what had occurred, jumped into the water and swam toward the dock in an effort to reach the Daly boy. Green removed his clothing on the dock and dived into the lake; after five or six attempts he recovered the body. He applied artificial respiration until the Minneapolis General Hospital ambulance and the Fire Department rescue squad

Dr. C. G. Arvidson, 827 LaSalle Building, reported that a man had just expired in his office. Deceased had been a patient of Dr. Arvidson's for several years. There is a history that deceased had had a severe stricture during the past twenty years. About three years ago he had an acute retention and was treated by Dr. Arvidson. During the afternoon of October 4th deceased again consulted the doctor because of some retention. Dr. Arvidson used a small catheter for the relief of the patient. Deceased then went out into the reception room and apparently was planning to return to his home. Suddenly he complained of severe pains in his chest and said "I can't breathe," and collapsed to the floor. Coramine was administered hypodermically and artificial respiration was applied, without results. There was a small amount of vomitis expelled by deceased as he fell to the floor.

The body was brought to the Morgue, where an autopsy was done at 8:00 a.m., October 5th. There was some evidence of silicosis, however, the final cause of death cannot be determined until a microscopic examination has been completed.

On October 5th Frank Galgansky, another employee, was working inside of the boiler, washing it. There is an oval-shaped porthole in the boiler through which a workman can enter or leave. While Galgansky was working inside the boiler deceased stood outside on a wooden platform or catwalk that runs alongside the boiler. He was standing near an electric fan that had been placed in front of the porthole to cool the inside of the boiler. As Galgansky emerged from the boiler, about 1:00 p.m., deceased began to move the fan, which he had turned off by means of a line switch, away from in front of the porthole. He grasped the metal cage of the fan with his left hand and with his right hand proceeded to untwine the galvanized wire that suspended the fan from the iron pipes above the boiler. As he did so deceased uttered a groaning sound like "oh, oh, oh!" Galgansky pulled the wire that connected the fan with a socket in the wall and as he did so there was a flash like a flame from the end of the wire. Deceased immediately released his hold on the fan and collapsed to the platform. He was taken to the Northwestern Hospital by private ambulance and then removed to the Morgue, where a post mortem examination was made.

Deceased, employed as a maintenance man at the Minneapolis-Honeywell Company, 2753 Fourth Avenue South, on the morning of October 10th was engaged in cleaning out the degreasing tank. Because of the trichlorethylene solution used in the tank it is necessary for members of the maintenance crew to wear a gas mask when entering the tank. Shortly before noon a couple fellow employees noticed that deceased was not around and the thought occurred to them that they had not seen him for the past couple hours. Ed. Theide recalled that deceased had been working on the degreasing machine, therefore, he hurried over to it and looked inside the tank. He found deceased lying on the floor of the tank; with the help of other workmen he brought deceased out of the tank. A General Hospital ambulance was summoned, however, the man was pronounced dead upon arrival.

When found it was noted that deceased did not have a gas mask on, - the gas mask was found hanging outside the tank.

The body was removed to the Morgue where a post mortem examination was made at eight o'clock Monday morning, October 11th.

On the morning of October 6th Raymond Turnrose, 1344 First Avenue South, was fishing off the boat dock at Lake Calhoun. He found a man's hat and suit coat lying on the dock; believing that some one had left the apparel on the dock and forgotten about same, he took them home and thought he would watch the papers and see if the clothing was advertised for. Turnrose again went fishing at the Lake Calhoun boat dock on the morning of October 14th, as he frequently did. He noticed something floating in the water and notified the Police Department. A police officer went out into the lake and found that the floating object was the body of a man. The body was brought to the Morgue.

It was learned that deceased had been despondent because of his physical condition, he had had a serious operation several months ago and had suffered a great deal of pain from time to time. He left his home early in the evening of October 5th and stated that he might go to Hennepin and Lake Street in Minneapolis. Neither his family or business associates had seen deceased from the time he left his home on the 5th until his body was found floating in Lake Calhoun on October 14th.

The garage doors opened inward and one of the doors was open about four inches. The motor of the car was not running, however, deceased had been experiencing some trouble with his car for two or three days and during the afternoon of October 29th he was working on the car in the garage and, while he probably shut off the ignition when he had finished working on the car, the wind which was blowing toward the garage doors evidently caused the fumes from the exhaust to remain inside the garage. Deceased was overcome by the fumes within the garage and collapsed.

The Fire Department Resque Squad used the inhalator in an effort to recusitate deceased, however, were unsuccessful in their attempt to revive him.

Deceased had been in Joe's Cafe, 15th and Hennepin Avenue, during the evening of October 31st. Shortly before midnight two women friends entered the place. Deceased joined them in a booth and they had some beer. They left when the place closed at 2:00 a.m. One of the women left to meet a friend across the street and deceased said that he would walk home with the other woman, Mrs. S. J. Mrs. Neuberger, it is stated, saw that deceased was in danger of being struck by an automobile, as several automobiles were traveling west on Hennepin Avenue, and she called to him to stop. Deceased apparently became confused. An east-bound street car on Hennepin Avenue approached the intersection at 15th Street. The motorman saw deceased standing in the middle of the intersection near the west-bound tracks and he stated that his street car passed the man, that is, the front end of the car cleared the man. However, when the middle of the street car passed the spot about where deceased had been standing, the motorman heard a thud. He crossed the intersection and stopped his car, got out and walked to the back of the car to

On Sunday night, October 31, 1943, about 8:30, deceased entered the Hiawatha Cafe & Tavern in an intoxicated condition. He sat up at the bar and had a glass of beer. He later went down to the basement lavatory. Wilhelm Larson, a friend, also living at the Old Solders' Home, who was in the place at the time, went down to the basement to see if deceased was all right. He found him sitting on a lower step and asked if he had fallen downstairs, he replied "no." The two men returned to the first floor and a little later deceased went home. About 10:30 that same night Frank Hokemeir,a resident of the Home, said he was asleep when he was awakened because of a heavy thud on the stairway leading from the second floor to the third floor. Hokemeir got up immediately and investigated and found deceased lying on his back on the right side of the stairway, his head directly alongside the lower step to the right. In going up the stairs to his room on the third floor he apparently had fallen down the stairs. Deceased was removed to the Veteran's Hospital where he expired at 6:47 a.m., November 5th.

A post mortem examination was made at the Veterans' Hospital.

Deceased was last seen alive by his wife at 4:00 p.m., November 18th, when he left the kitchen and went out into the yard. He apparently went to the corn crib, situated about 100 feet from the house, entered, closed the doors behind him and climbed up the side of the bin to the top. He placed a half inch Manila rope around the ridge pole at the top of the crib, tied a slip knot around his neck and jumped. He was suspended so that his feet were about five feet from the floor of the crib. About 7:00 p.m. one of deceased's sons went to the corn crib to procure some corn for the stock and found his father's body.

It is stated that seven years ago deceased underwent a hernia operation, following which he had a mental breakdown and was under the care of a physician for about two years. For the past two years, up until two months previous to his death, deceased had appeared to be in good health, and then he commenced showing evidence of a nervous breakdown.

Deceased was driving his automobile, a two door Ford coach, north on Third Avenue Southeast and was crossing Fourth Street Southeast about 12:25 p.m., November 20th, when he was struck by an Oak and Xerxes east-bound street car. It is stated that the impact of the collision swung the automobile across the street, where it struck the curb with such momentum that the left hand door flew open and deceased's body was thrown from the car and his head struck an iron street car wire pole. Death was instantaneous.

Deceased had left the Boustead Electric & Manufacturing Company, 109 Washington Avenue North, where he worked, at 12:06 p.m. He made his home with a widowed sister, Mrs. Jennie Carlson, at 1823 Como Avenue Southeast.

The motorman of the street car involved in the accident, Roy Wenell, 3724-17th Avenue South, has been in the employ of the Minneapolis Street Railway Company for about fifteen years.

Officers Shelfland and W. B. Erickson were at the scene when the deputy coroner arrived.

The body was brought to the Morgue, where a post mortem examination was made which revealed a fractured skull and hemorrhage; laceration of the brain; and fractures of the ribs, both sides.

REMARKS: Social Security No. 474-24-1353

Deceased's wife had left him three weeks ago because of his heavy drinking and she had not seen him for two weeks. On November 17th Mrs. Nordlof returned to the home because neighbors had informed her that the curtains had been down for the past two days and there was no evidence of anyone around the place. She entered the house and found no one there; the fire was out. She looked into the garage and noticed that the car was there, however, she did not enter the garage. About 1:30 p.m., November 20th, Mrs. Nordlof again returned home and found conditions the same as three days previously. On this occasion she entered the garage and found the body of her husband in the automobile. He was seated behind the steering wheel and slumped over to the right side, with his head resting on the seat cushion. The body was stiff from the cold and the skin showed extensive pink coloration of carbon monoxide poisoning. The ignition switch in the car was on, but the motor was not running. The gasoline gauge indicated that the tank was one-quarter full of gasoline. The front and back doors of the garage were closed. The snow was still piled up at the alley door of the garage from the heavy snowstorm of November 7th and 8th.

Mrs. Nordlof stated that her husband had threatened to commit suicide about a year ago. At the time of his death, deceased was employed as a janitor in a tavern on Lake Street which is run by a Mr. Hunter. The latter stated that during the first part of the week deceased had told some people in the tavern that he intended to commit suicide.

At 1:30 a.m., November 28th, a neighbor, Henry E. Evansen, discovered the cottage of deceased and his wife was on fire. He turned in an alarm and made several futile attempts to rescue deceased and his wife before the fire department arrived. Members of the Island Park volunteer fire department found the body of deceased's wife on the floor beside the bed in which deceased was still lying, which probably indicated that she had been awakened by the fire and was overcome by smoke as she struggled to reach one of the two windows in the bed room. From appearances, it would seem that the fire had started in the kitchen of the three-room cottage, swept through the living room and finally reached the bed room.

Both bodies were brought to the Morgue and later were released to a funeral director.

Deceased and a playmate, Michael Hudson, four-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Hudson, 4508 North Avenue, Edina, were playing together during the afternoon of November 30th and started for Minnehaha Creek, which is near their homes. Deceased was walking across the dam in the creek which forms Cascade Falls when she apparently lost her balance and slid into the creek. The Hudson boy ran to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. D. T. Schneller, 2907 West Forty-fourth Street and told her that the little girl had fallen into the water. After sending the boy to tell Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Schneller called Edina and Minneapolis police. Mrs. Knight rushed to the creek but was unable to find the little girl. Patrolman Hilding Dahl of the Edina police, who was nearby when he received the radio call, pulled the little girl's body from the water. The body of deceased, badly charred, was found covered by debris during the afternoon of December 15th, after fire and a gas explosion ripped open the rear part of the duplex where deceased, her husband and two children resided. Deceased apparently opened the gas jets on her kitchen range, then lay on the floor, her arms folded, to await death. The explosion was caused when the leaking gas from the stove, working downward from the ceiling, reached the pilot light on the stove. In the opinion of the deputy coroner who made the investigation deceased had expired before the blast occurred.

It is stated that on December 13th deceased had threatened to commit suicide but her children had dissuaded her from doing so.
