Comments

Upham, 172: Bern. A former p.o., established in 1858. Was named for the capital of Switzerland.

McCauley: Berne.

Minn. Platbook, 1916: Bern.

Mitchell, Dodge Co., 84, 85: In 1856 a village site was laid out by Smith and Klossner in the vicinity of their mill. Robert Smith of Red Wing christened the new town, and named it Buchanan, for the Dem. candidate for president. P.O. estab. 1856, but the name Buchanan was rejected, as there was already a p.o. of that name in the state, and Berne was substituted.

Winchell, 1:pl.13: Berne; Buchanan.

MHB, 8:174: Bern laid out in 1856 by Rudolph Smith and Jacob Klossner in sec.17. First named Buchanan for pres. candidate; but p.o. established and name changed to Berne. Final e seems to have been dropped from the name later. A number of Milton Township families came from Berne, Switz., according to the ms. census schedules for 1860. These families probably formed the nucleus of the village of Bern and gave it its name. The name of the village appears in still another Upham, 174: Sacramento. Platted in the fall of 1855. A defeated rival of Mantorville for co. seat in 1857. Within the next decade its buildings were removed and its site reverted to farm use. The name had reference to scanty occurrence of placer gold in the drift of some localities on branches of the Zumbro and Root rivers. One of the places of ill repaid gold washing by the early settlers was near the site of this village.

McCauley: Not shown.

Co.atlas, 1905, 1937: Sacramento.

St. Pioneer and Democrat (w), Apr.14, 1859, p.3,c.5: Sacramento. Considerable capital has been invested here in building, but owing to the proximity of ...other towns...it has but little business as yet. It possesses a fine water power, as yet unimproved.

Andreas: Sacramento.

Description &
Name Origin

"The first settlement of Dodge County was made simultaneously at Mantorville and at Concord, in the month of April, 1854. . . . The county was organized in July, 1855. The first election for county officers and members of the legislature took place in October, 1855. . . . Dodge county originally embraced Townships 105, 106, 107, 108 in Ranges 16, 17, 18, 19, making sixteen townships, but the legislature of 55-56 cut off the western range of towns, thus leaving but twelve townships. The principal villages . . . are Mantorville, Wasioja, Sacramento, Concord, Buchanan, Rice Lake City, Ashland, and Hallowell. Mantorville is the county seat. . . ."

(NOTE: at paper's request, J.E. Bancroft, Dodge county Register of Deeds, wrote letter giving brief history of county up to this time, 1859)

Description &

received its name in honor of Henry Dodge, governor of Wisconsin, and his son, Augustus C. Dodge of Iowa.

Henry Dodge was born in Vincennes, Indiana, October 12, 1782; and died in Burlington, Iowa, June 19, 1867. He served in the war of 1812; was a Colonel of volunteers in the Black Hawk war, 1832; commanded an expedition to the Rocky mountains in 1835; was governor of Wisconsin territory and superintendent of Indian affairs, 1836-41; delegate in Congress for Wisconsin, 1842-6; again governor of the territory, 1845-8; and was one of the U.S. Senators from the state of Wisconsin, 1848-57.
Governor Dodge on July 29, 1837, at Fort Snelling, then in Wisconsin, made a treaty with the Ajibways, by which they ceded to the U.S. all their pine lands and agricultural lands on the upper part of the St. Croix river and its tributaries, in the present states of Wisconsin and Minnesota. The tract ceded also reached west to include the upper part of the basin of Rum river, and onward to the Mississippi between Sauk Rapids and the mouth of Crow Wing river. In September of the same year, under direction of Governor Dodge, about 20 chiefs and braves of the Sioux went with the agent, Major Taliaferro, to the city of Washington and there made a treaty ceding all their lands east of the Mississippi, together with the islands in this river. By these treaties a large tract of eastern Minnesota (then a part of Wisconsin), including the sites of St. Paul and St. Anthony, was opened to white settlement.

Augustus Caesar Dodge was born in St. Genovieve, Missouri, January 17, 1812; and died in Burlington, Ia., November 29, 1883. He was the delegate in Congress for Iowa territory, 1840-7; was one of the first U.S. Senators of Iowa, 1848-55, his father being also a senator at the same time; and was minister representing this country in Spain during 4 years, 1855-9.
