Description & Name Origin is stated by its best informed old citizens, also J. Fletcher Williams, and Return J. Holcombe, to be named "for Hon. Henry Jackson, the first merchant in St. Paul." He was born in Abingdon, Virginia, February 1, 1811; came to St. Paul in June, 1842; was appointed the first justice of the peace, 1843; was the first post-master, 1846-9; was a member of the first Territorial Legislature; removed to Mankato in 1853, where he was one of the first settlers; and died there, July 31, 1857. In the Summer of 1842 he opened the first store at St. Paul, in a cabin built of tamarack logs on the river bank near Jackson street.

The late William P. Murray, who was a member of the legislature in 1857, at the time of formation of this county, dissented from this derivation of the name, asserting that according to his recollection it was their intention to commemorate Andrew Jackson, the seventh president of the U.S.

The county seat also has this name, with which its site was christened a few weeks before the legislative act forming the county was passed. So it appears that the name was first adopted by pioneers on the ground, but whether they meant to honor Andrew Jackson or Henry Jackson..... is not certainly determined.
