Comments

Upham,583: In 1850 a Frenchman named Richmond established a wood yard on the site of the landing where George Catlin, the noted artist was forced by obstructing ice to winter his boat,when he was painting his celebrated Indian portraits and pursuing his voyage up the Mississippi in early days. For years on a conspicuous sand rock in a cove where his boat lay out of danger from running ice, the name of George Catlin could be seen in glaring red, and the landing was well known to steamboat men and pioneers as 'Catlin's Rocks.' Finally the name of Catlin disappeared by the action of frost and rain and Richmond's name was given to the landing and perpetuated in village and township.

Winona City

Comments

Upham, 584: Winona. Platted June 19, 1852. Incorp. as city Mar. 6, 1857. First named Montezuma by Ervin H. Johnson, one of the proprietors. Renamed through request of Henry D. Huff, who in 1853 bought an interest in the townsite and platted an addition. For name origin see Winona County. A sobriquet recently coming into use is "The Gate City." The site was known to the French as La Prairie aux Ailes, or the Wing's prairie, presumably because of its having been occupied by numbers of Red Wing's band. It was latest occupied by Wabasha, the last of the Dakota chiefs, whose village here was called "Aeoxa, difficult of translation, but it may be rendered as "the Homestead," because in the spring there was here a family reunion to honor the dead and invoke their blessings upon the land. A.W. Williamson spelled and defined this name more correctly, that "the name of the band was Kiyuksan, breakers in two, or violaters, so called because they violated the custom forbidding relatives, however distant, to marry.

Laws, 1858, p. 367: Winona. Act to incorporate this city, Mar. 6, 1857, amended and approved July 20, 1858.

Laws, 1857, p. 168-170: Act to incorp. Approved Mar. 6, 1857.

Andreas: Winona City.

St. Paul Pioneer, July 29, 1871, p. 14, c. 6: (letter to ed.): It is now 19 years since the first post office was established here, under the name of Montezuma.... By a vote of some half dozen settlers, the name of the townsite was changed from Montezuma to the shorter and more appropriate name of Winona....

Pioneer, Sept. 9, 1852, p. 2, c. 4: Post route from Decorrah via Brownsville, Montezuma and Minnesota City to Wabashaw.

MH, 7:40: Letter by Sibley, dated Aug. 20, 1852, describes how he secured the renaming of a Minnesota post office from Montezuma to Winona.

Coues, Pike, 1:54: Long notes the situation there in 1817 of an Indian village, whose chief he calls Quappaushaw. Forsyth, 1819, names it Wing Prairie.

Mpls. Star-Journal, April 25, 1942, p. 7: Residents of Winona are very sensitive about the way the name of their city is pronounced. Too many people give it the "Y-nona" twist when it should be "WI" with a short "i". (Cedric Adams).

Walker, Village Laws, 105: Winona. Incorp. March 3, 1855. Became a city in 1867.

Minn. Dem., Nov. 10, 1852, p. 3, c. 1: Wabashaw Prairie- Winona Post Office- is a new town and settlement in this territory, located on the Miss. 50 miles below Lake Pepin.

Upham, 555: A beautiful prairie in the Miss. Valley 3 to 5 mi. s.e. of this village (the 3rd Wapashaw's on Rollingstone Creek), commonly called Wapashaw's Prairie 60 to 80 years ago, became the site of the city of Winona.

Name Origin In a letter dated at Swamptown, March 3rd. 1856, correspondent "Diogenes" & Remarks: tells about the developments at Winona.

They are just now building the Transit Railroad from Winona, west to the Minnesota River, which is to take the life blood from St. Paul. Books open- stock to the amount of hundreds of thousands, taken by the resident millionaires of Swamptown-- Capt. Whiting jubilant, advertises time of trains leaving-- plagiarism, by the way from the beautiful "Vision in Minnesota and its Resources".

Mr. Quigley:

Can you straighten this out? Never heard of a Minneiska in Fillmore County. Are the names Barnes and Ferris associated with Wabasha county? If so, is it to be assumed that Wabasha county is meant instead of Fillmore?

From the ST. Paul Pioneer Democrat Weekly of Feb. 11, 1858 (p 5, col. 5) reads:

"POST OFFICE CHANGES ---- Moses Barnes to be postmaster at Minneiska, Fillmore county, Minnesota, in place of John C. Ferris, resigned."

Perhaps your post office in mss room will enlighten.

matson.

This is a little mixed. Never in Fillmore, at least not as at present. The P.O. at Mt Vernon Minnesota county was called Minneiska for a short time and then was changed back to Mt Vernon.

It is known by the name of Kettle Hill, having obtained this appellation from the circumstance of its having numerous piles of stone on its top, most of them fragments of the rocky stratifications which constitute the principal part of the hill, but some of them small piles made by the Indians. These at a distance have some similitude of kettles arranged along upon the ridge and sides of the hill." DL

Description &
Name Origin

Named for a Dakota woman, Winona, cousin of the last chief named Wabasha, both of whom were prominent in the vents attending the removal in 1848, of the Winnebago Indians from Iowa to Wabasha's prairie (the site of the city of Winona) and thence to Long Prairie in Todd county. This name belonged, says Prof. A.W. Williamson, in any Dakota or Sioux family, to the "first born, if a daughter, diminutive of wino, woman;" and similarly the name of the "first born child, if a son," was Chaska. In pronunciation,

Keating gave an impressive narration of the death of a Dakota maiden named Winona, who threw herself to death from the precipice known as "the Maiden's Rock," on the east shore of Lake Pepin, in preference to being married, as her parents requested, to one whom she did not love. (Narrative of Long's Expedition, 1823, vol. 1, pages 289-295.) With much amplification, including change of the home of the maiden from Wabasha's village of Keoxa to a Dakota village represented to have been near St. Anthony Falls, Hon. Hanford L. Gordon retold this tragedy in a poem bearing her name, "Winona," published in 1881, reprinted in his collected writings ("Indian Legends and Other Poems," 1910, pages 43-74).

The name was first applied, about a year before the establishment of the county, to the village of Winona, which became the county seat.
