

Results Disclaimer:

We can't guarantee you'll attain a specific result as results will vary from person to person based on your unique situation, understanding of the learning, and actions taken as a result of completing our free or paid training.

By taking part in our free or paid services, you accept and understand that results differ with each individual. Your individual success depends on your motivation, dedication, desire, willingness to act and other factors.

As with any program or service you take part in or purchase, your results may vary and will be based on many variable factors, so no guarantees can be made.

FTC Disclaimer:

Any income claims shared by our clients, friends, or colleagues are understood to be true and accurate, but are not verified personally by us. As a proud affiliate for a number of colleagues, any products, programs, or personal recommendations we make can result in compensation from said colleague.

Always do your own research and use your own judgment when buying or investing in your business.

The ideas and techniques Sharon shares in email communications are strategies that have worked for herself, program participants, clients, colleagues and friends.

They are not specific advice for your business, so please use your own judgment and/or get the advice of professionals to find the right strategies for your business and your specific situation.