

GRACE IS GREATER

IS GRACE TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE?

PASTOR V

THE QUESTION

Can I really be forgiven? You don't know the things I've done.

THE TENSION

Cancel culture says one mistake defines you, and shame whispers you can't change. But grace says your past doesn't get the final word.

THE STORY BENEATH IT ALL

In Creation, humanity lived in harmony. (Gen. 1:31).

In the Fall, sin separated us (Isa. 59:2).

In Redemption, grace abounds more than sin (Rom. 5:20).

In Restoration, eternity showcases God's grace (Eph. 2:7).

THE COLLISION BETWEEN GUILT AND GRACE

Guilt piles up, shame sticks like glue, and regret won't let go. Every wrong choice feels louder than the last, and the negatives seem to outweigh everything else. But then grace shows up—not smaller, not weaker, not equal, but greater. Grace doesn't ignore your sin, it overrules it. Grace doesn't balance the scale, it breaks it in your favor. Without grace, the negatives write your story. With grace, God rewrites it with hope.

SO WHY DOES IT MATTER TODAY?

Without grace, the negatives write your story. Every failure feels permanent, every regret becomes a headline, and shame decides the ending. But with grace, God rewrites the story with hope. He doesn't erase your past—He redeems it. Broken chapters become proof of His mercy. What once defined you no longer owns you, because in grace, God holds the pen.
