About the Book

About the Author

Cassie Cluster has a special love for cats, as evidenced by her previous reference book "Potty Training for REAL Cats". However, another of her affections is for science fiction. Early memories at age three, were watching the original "Lost in Space" series. She even had an animated Robot toy. She also enjoys the twists and turns of mystery and crime dramas, and had an idea to combine the genres.

Cassie combines her love of sci-fi, a fascination with robotics and AI, and a penchant for research, to ultimately create the Man-Made trilogy. She enjoys writing stories that leave just enough to the imagination. Her fictional tales contain relatable and lovable characters, and are written in a style, unnoticably devoid of profanity or graphic violence.
