ME, HERE, NOW

1 NEPHI 6-10

Step into the profound vision of Lehi, a vision not only about the Savior's love and atoning sacrifice but also a deeply personal revelation for his own family. As Lehi recounts his dream—with its symbolic iron rod, engulfing mists of darkness, expansive building, and the enticing tree bearing "most sweet" fruit—his emotions become palpable. He rejoices for Nephi and Sam but fears exceedingly for Laman and Lemuel. Witness Lehi's heartfelt plea for their well-being as he implores them to heed his words, hoping for the Lord's mercy. Whether you're familiar with Lehi's vision or exploring it anew, consider it through Lehi's lens—think of someone you love. The iron rod's security, the peril of the spacious building, and the sweetness of the fruit will unfold with fresh significance. Through this, you'll connect more deeply with the tender parent who experienced this remarkable vision.
