COGNAC & CIGARS Social

A highly anticipated & prestigious event that brings together a diverse group of professionals, home buyers, sellers, and investors.

The Idea Behind It All.

Cognac and Cigars came to life in 2020 when Tyrone Green was brainstorming additional ideas to throw another appreciation event for his past and present clients. Initially, the event was a way to connect, celebrate and bring together my clients in a relaxed setting, which I enjoyed and thought some others would appreciate (the cigar lounge). The event was also held around my birthday weekend, which I enjoy spending with laughter and good vibes. I was already renting a movie theater monthly for clients, amongst other pop-up ideas. After organizing and throwing the first Cognac and Cigars event, I realized that guests were interested in bringing close friends and family out to hear music, network, and experience the vibe that the great smoke of a cigar creates.

My goal with this annual event is to continue to connect professionals across various professions all under one roof, networking and fellowshiping, which can also lead to organic and healthy business relationships. I entered the entrepreneurial space after attending numerous organized meet-ups. Each time it felt like I met a different individual that led me to where I am today. Each year I plan for my event to grow bigger and bigger, and it might end up being a festival of some sort. I encourage all professionals to attend as it's not limited to real estate professionals.

Making the transition into real estate provided me with the flexibility to make a direct impact on various communities, and I look forward to building a diverse team of persistent, hardworking, and honest realtors.

After working in inpatient psychiatry for nine years as a Mental Health Professional, leading prescribed individual and group therapy sessions, and providing direct care to patients struggling with mental illness, drug, alcohol addiction, or mental disorders, Tyrone Green began feeling trapped himself.

“I used to sit and feel like my life was passing me by and that I was not living my purpose,” says Tyrone. “I felt a shift in my life where I experienced consistent feelings of restriction and limitations in the workplace that later affected my personal life. I was tired of taking work home and was ready to live a life of no limits.”

Tyrone entered real estate in January of 2018 part-time while still working full-time as a mental health professional. Although he was excited by the idea of running his own business, he had to face the fear and anxiety of taking that leap of faith into full-time entrepreneurship. Fate intervened when he was temporarily furloughed from his job, along with other staff members, for six months.

“During the time away from my nine-to-five, I hustled day in and day out to grow my business. I closed the biggest transaction of my career, and I also earned close to my annual salary in that short period. That moment was definitely a game-changer and an eye-opener,” says Tyrone. “I wanted to mix things up in my life,” he says, “and now, as a real estate professional, I feel limitless.”

I've gotten to know many families as an Allstate agent in the Chicagoland area. I enjoy being a part of the community, and building long-lasting relationships is one of the best parts of my job. I know what life is like here in Chicago, having lived everywhere from the Westside, Southside, and even the surrounding suburbs!

I know you choose your car and home to fit your lifestyle and budget, and I also know how important it is to do the same regarding insurance. I look forward to getting to know you and helping you to find the solutions that meet your needs.
