How, What, Why

How, What Why

Thank you for stepping into Tactical Civics™.

We ask all members to construct a story about their experience discovering the solution we have to offer Americans.

In this section you will actively build your personal story.

By answering just three questions, your Tactical Civics™ story will practically write itself.

How did you find out about Tactical Civics™?

For example: I watched David Zuniga speak confidently on a podcast about the plan.

Perhaps you heard of this mission from one of our thousands of members, or saw a meme or flyer on social media.

Write your answer.

What first piqued your interest?

For example: As David explained the plan on the podcast in the spring of 2023, I heard an intelligent, step by step solution articulated well. What's more he had captured the attention of the often-interrupting hosts too! I felt like I found hope with a bonus road map!

What did you see, hear, and feel when you first learned of the plan? Our Liberty county coordinator says the first time he heard the Tactical Civics™ solution, it rang his "Liberty Bell!" Now, describe your experience. Was it a certain word, an idea or a symbol that you found intriguing?

Why do you believe this is the path for you?

For example: I had been searching for a while for something I could do. I am retired and have six grandchildren. I knelt down in my backyard, and surrendered to trusting in my heavenly Father. Soon afterwards I heard the podcast, joined and read The Great WeSet. When you know, you know. This is the path we should have been on long ago that is what will make America the Republic we were designed to be!

Each of us is given gifts or talents that we must utilize here as we walk along the path of this life. It is likely you feel at home with this plan. Whether it is a call of duty to God, to family, to country, or something else, identify it. What is calling you to apply your gifts?

Give these questions your attention now to assemble your story. Think about your detailed response to each. Write it all down on paper or speak it into your phone.

Review it, make any edits.

Then practice delivering it in front of a mirror several times until you are comfortable with it.

Hallelujah! You just constructed your personal How, What Why story for this mission!

Now, who are you gonna tell?
