Vox Lumiere - Tech Overview

Overview

All aspects of Vox Lumiere's load-in, set-up and teardown have been designed and optimized to make the process as fast, easy and efficient as possible.

Our team will advance the show with the venue's technical staff well in advance of performance dates.

Our Tech Rider includes detailed information about our line-up, equipment and backline, the stage layout, input patch list, monitoring requirements and send assignments, as well as all information regarding any special needs, requirements and video projection.

Backline

Vox Lumiere is “ampless”. All instruments go through “modeler pedals” straight to the mixing console.

The band carries its own eDrums and musicians monitor their instruments through a personal mix monitoring system provided by Vox Lumiere.

Backline needs:

6 vocal mics
4 straight mic stands
8 boom stands

Stage Size

Our stage size requirements are flexible.

Fly Dates

The show has been designed to break down and pack up to accommodate airline size and weight requirements for fly dates.

Performance & Scalability

- Vox Lumiere is scalable and has performed for intimate audiences of a few hundred to over festival audiences of 6000+
- Can be performed indoors or outdoors
- Audiences are seated or standing (or both) for the performance.
- The shows have been performed at various traditional and non-traditional spaces including opera houses, performing arts centers, festivals, movie theaters, cathedrals, large public plazas, industrial warehouses, piers, and ships cruising through the Mediterranean Ocean.

A number of show lengths are available including:

- 45 minute
- 60 minute
- 90 minute
- 90 minute presented in two acts with an intermission
