Dan Rochon, founder of the Consistent and Predictable Income (CPI) Community, believes that with the right tools, mentorship and training, you can learn how to influence human behavior and achieve your fullest potential - and you can inspire others to do the same.

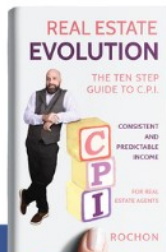

By teaching his clients and students how to "Teach to Sell," Dan helps professionals - just like you - create a continuous flow of leads and transactions so you have No Broke Months, transform yourself into an all-star seller, and scale your businesses to the point where you have the freedom to step back and have real control over your future without ever missing a beat.

One of Dan's proudest accomplishments is his own track record of having "No Broke Months" in real estate sales since 2008, with an average of ten monthly sales. He is also a certified NLP practitioner, and the author of Real Estate Evolution: The Ten-Step Guide to CPI - Consistent and Predictable Income. And, as you might imagine, Dan is a constant student of human experience and potential.

"Dan's teach-to-sell strategies are not only unique, and easy-to-learn and implement, they helped my sales team act fast. Now I have consistent, predictable income. Best keynote speaker ever!" -Janine Driver, CEO, Body Language Institute

"Thanks to Dan's sales keynote and follow-up coaching, I stopped relying on sporadic and unpredictable business and I teach to sell, and my sales are up 28%." -Stephen Langston, Beacon Roofing

"I can't say enough about Consistent & Predictable Income. If you're looking for a keynote speaker that will help you step by step to execute and implement the exact systems, strategies, and processes to take your business to the next level, there's no better option." - Jeff Cohn, CEO, Elite Real Estate
