Forbes magazine referred to Macedonia as “one of Europe's last undiscovered wine countries that thrives amidst the grandeur of rich historical ruins and idyllic villages which have remained practically unchanged for centuries.”

Macedonia is an ancient country with wine making traditions dating back to the ancient times of Philip of Macedon and his son Aleksander the Macedonian, later known as Aleksander the Great.

Please join us as 2026 American Wine Society National Conference sponsors and presenters, Josif Stavre Vice President of AG MAC Old World Imports, and Pere Stojanovski, Owner, Fine Wine O'Clock, acquaint us with this undiscovered European region while tasting 6 limited production varietals including Vranec, the emblematic grape of this Balkan country.

A special entree representative of the Macedonian region will be offered as well. More details to follow shortly.
