Income Protection Isn't Just for 9-to-5 Employees

Many people think income protection is only for full-time staff — but contractors, contract employees, and business owners often face even greater risk.

Imagine being a contractor who suddenly can't work due to illness or injury.
Without coverage, even a few months without income can put financial stability at serious risk.

Income protection isn't one-size-fits-all.

Contract employees
Business owners

Income protection is not a one-size-fits-all solution. Each profession has unique challenges and needs, which is why it's essential to choose a policy tailored to your client's situation. Whether they're a contractor, a contract employee, or a business owner, there are options designed to safeguard their income and protect their future.

Each needs a policy tailored to their unique situation — because protecting your income means protecting your future.
