About Me

Mary E. Knippel writes and speaks about how and businesses can articulate their life's wisdom to achieve tangible results. She will inspire you to share the story only you can share.

Her company, YourWritingMentor, is an inspiration driven education company supporting writers to become authors, grow their businesses and to leave a legacy beyond this lifetime.

YourWritingMentor supports writers through its online and in-person education programs. Because so many women have been told their stories don't matter, Mary is committed to helping women articulate the wisdom gleaned from their life's experiences their transformational story. As a life-long journal writer, Mary understands the vulnerability and the importance of showing up on the page. First for yourself, and then for those who need the wisdom you are here to share.
