What People Say

Hollie easily falls in the top 5% of all strategic change practitioners!

Randy Collard, Executive Director Amgen

Working with Hollie, I'm a different person! It's amazing how I've been able to reframe! She brings something different... So much so, I want her to bring Conscious Leadership to WD-40's Leadership Lab.

Laura Hanlon, Global Product Sourcing Director, WD-40

Hollie's presentation was truly remarkable. She not only clearly explained the concept of Conscious Leadership, but also gave us valuable leadership tools which we could immediately implement!

Robert W. Dudek, President & Broker Associate, The Bus Summit Real Estate Group at Keller Williams

Wow! The years of wisdom really blew me away!

About Hollie

With over two decades dedicated to guiding strategic change alongside C-Suite and senior executives of Fortune 100 companies, Hollie discovered a crucial missing piece in leadership effectiveness. Amidst a landscape of both exemplary leaders and mere task managers masquerading as leaders, she recognized the pivotal importance of authentic human connection at the core of leadership success.

Hollie emerges as a vibrant and engaging speaker, championing the power of individual human connection as the catalyst for personal and professional transformation. Her approach revolves around fostering self-awareness, inviting leaders to shed their masks and embrace authenticity to unlock tangible results. Beyond mere business outcomes, Hollie emphasizes the profound personal fulfillment and liberation that stem from living purposefully.

Her speaking engagements include prestigious platforms such as Harvard, where she shared stages with luminaries like Suzanne Somers, and West Point Academy alongside icons such as Astronaut Buzz Aldrin and Lieutenant General Russel Honoré. She has also graced the Nasdaq stage, leaving a lasting impact with her insights on leadership, communication, and transformation, having trained and inspired thousands globally.

Holding dual MBAs with focuses on marketing and organizational development, Hollie's academic pursuits intersect with over a decade of immersion in spiritual mentoring, delving deep into the influences of ego on decision-making and behavior. Enriched by extensive travel across four continents, she keenly observes and learns from the intricate human dynamics shaping both business and everyday life.

In her talks, Hollie draws from a tapestry of real-life experiences, including her tenure as a top competitive high jumper, continuously raising the bar to inspire her audience towards new heights of personal and professional growth.
