Course Description

This course takes you on a journey from securities market core concepts to actionable next steps on how to start participating in the stock market confidently.

It is built for individuals looking to grow their assets in the most used asset class in this world: securities. Barriers to invest in securities are high for people who lack the knowledge necessary to invest in this asset class. The wave of disclaimers and legal mumbo-jumbo when trying to register an account with a brokerage can seem overwhelming; customers of a financial institution may wonder about the potential for conflict of interest when a bank officer pushes them to invest the bank's preferred securities products.

This course will give you a clear understanding of the securities market so that you are well-prepared to overcome any mental barriers to investing. Applying the tactics learned in this course will significantly increase your ability to achieve positive returns in your securities investments.

Learning Goals

- Know the advantages and disadvantages of the securities asset class and its subcategories (equities, bonds, listed properties, and money market accounts)

- See what drives securities prices in the market and how Wall Street decides whether to buy, sell or hold an asset
- Identify the most important Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) of this asset class.
- Know about different investment types such as Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs), options, futures, Special Purpose Acquisition Companies (SPACs), and Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)
