Behavior Management/Discipline Policy

Discipline is a form of guidance and shall be constructive. Its purpose is to help the child to learn social development. The child's age, intelligence, emotional makeup, and his past experience should be considered when re-directing and guiding the child's behavior.

Children need patience and understanding if they are going to develop great social skills, which make for good leaders. Discipline should be fair and consistent, and every effort should be made to help the child see it as such. Encouragement and praise of good behavior are more effective than punishment. The child's acceptance of discipline and his ability to profit from it depend largely upon his feelings that he is liked and accepted. The behavior management policy shall prohibit children from being subject to any of the following:

1. Physical or corporal punishment which included but is not limited to yelling, slapping, spanking, yanking, shaking, pinching, exposure to extreme temperatures or measures producing physical pain, putting anything in the mouth of a child, requiring a child to exercise or placing a child in an uncomfortable position.
