EcoStiks® unique peel-and-stick fabric patches transform plastic waste into a sustainable solution for promoting, branding, and retail.

Small Waves Make Big Waves. How will you Stik it?

How it all Began... Our Story

“My greatest failure became my greatest success.” -Julie Schneiderman CEO & Founder

In 2020, with a deep love for surfing, creativity, self-expression, and the environment, EcoStiks patches were originally designed to stick to wetsuits, offering a fun and unique way to customize gear.

After countless trials, it seemed like the patches would stick to everything “but” wetsuits.

Even better... the waterproof, durable, and eco-friendly fabric, made from recycled water bottles, provided unexpected versatility and utility. They held up beautifully! To this day, we’re still discovering new applications for our patches.

Julie discovered that these patches could serve a far greater purpose. This created a platform to address climate change and her journey as an environmental advocate and entrepreneur began.

What We Do

We make durable, versatile, universal fabric peel & stick patches made from Repreve®.

What is Repreve®? It's a fabric upcycled from recycled plastic water bottles, non-toxic vinyl or single use plastics. The patches can be used to repair torn fabric, patch holes, promote, stylize or decorate expressively. They are simple to apply and easy to use!

Our WHY

The EcoStiks EcoSystem - EcoStiks patches are more than an eco-friendly patch alternative, we believe they are a platform for change.

Plastic use has come with severe environmental, social, economic and health consequences.

It is estimated 1.3 billion plastic water bottles are used each day polluting our oceans and earth. EcoStiks works as a collective to introduce greener solutions by bringing corporate partners, non-profits, artists and ambassadors together to create collaborative eco-change through sustainability, community and creativity.

How We Do It

We collaborate with our customers, non-profits, partners, ambassadors and consumers to educate, inspire and protect our businesses and environment simultaneously.

The branding, messaging, partnerships and activations are endless. EcoStiks can be used across industries with multiple uses.

We provide an opportunity to be part of the solution.

- Reduce, Reuse, Repair, Recycle
- Brand only what you need.
- Re-brand outdated products and gear.
- Patch and repair existing promotional items.

We empower people through creativity and expression and provide a platform for businesses to elevate their sustainability participation in a unique way.
