WELCOME TO LEWES DISTRICT

'The Downs...too much for one pair of eyes, enough to float a whole population in happiness'

VIRGINIA WOOLF

This is our special part of South East England, rich in nature, culture and history. Much of it lies in the South Downs National Park, with rolling hills, ancient woodland, River Ouse, and miles of beautiful coastline.

This guide showcases our best coast and country, from our world-renowned attractions to hidden wonders. We will take you to our historic county town of Lewes, the charming coastal town of Seaford, and our regenerated working port of Newhaven. We are surrounded by idyllic villages and country estates, home to famous creatives past and present, plus vineyards which produce outstanding sparkling wines. In Lewes District you can enjoy some of England's finest wines, beer and even world-class gin, crafted by award-winning producers.

Explore visitlewes.co.uk for places to stay, eat and drink, walk and cycle. Sign up for our monthly newsletter to find out what's on during your visit, or call in to see us at our Tourist Information Centres.

We look forward to welcoming you to our beloved district, and seeing your highlights on social media using the hashtag #visitlewes.

LEWES

Lewes town is 13km north of Newhaven, 17km north of Seaford and 12km north-west of Brighton

Just over an hour away from London and 17 minutes from Brighton by train, Lewes is the county town of East Sussex and the largest town in the South Downs National Park, with a rich history and culture, infused with a spirit of independence and creativity.

Lewes is proud of its history which dates back to Saxon times. Its 11th century Cluniac Priory was once one of the most powerful monasteries in England. The Norman castle which presides over the town saw the Battle of Lewes where Simon de Montfort fought the royal army of King Henry III for democratic rights in 1264. In the 18th century, revolutionary thinker and writer Thomas Paine, developed his ideas of active citizenship here at Bull House. Lewes is also famed for its unique bonfire celebrations on the 5th November, the biggest and most spectacular of all traditional bonfire festivities. Experience this at home by watching the Rocket FM Lewes livestream on YouTube. Lewes has thriving arts, culture and music scenes, plus a state-of-the-art independent cinema. It's a great place to shop, with many independent antique shops and galleries, markets and fairs, while foodies will love the cool cafés, historic pubs and breweries. Cradled by the hills of the South Downs, with the River Ouse meandering through, the countryside can be enjoyed by walkers and cyclists too.

The charming streets of Lewes

1 The Priory of St Pancras

For 500 years the Priory was one of the largest and most influential monasteries in England. Founded in the 11th century by one of William the Conqueror's loyal barons, it was the first Cluniac priory in England, originating from Burgundy in France. Wander through its evocative ruins. Here, information panels help bring history to life, and be sure to pick up the Priory History Trail guide, a circular walk visiting associated historic sites, from Lewes Tourist Information Centre. Priory Park, Cockshut Road BN7 1HP lewespriory.org.uk

3 Depot

This award-winning, three-screen cinema in the former Harvey's Brewery depot by Lewes train station has an independent film programme (often with Q&As), and monthly themed film festivals. The contemporary café/bar hosts live music, plus alfresco DJ nights. Pinwell Road BN7 2JS lewesdepot.org

4 Lewes Community Football Club

Formed back in 1885, Lewes Football Club is community-owned, and forward thinking in keeping with the independent spirit of Lewes. It was the first ever club to launch Equality FC, in 2017, treating its women players the same as men. Known for its warm welcome, innovative match posters and loyal fans, you can watch the football from a beach hut VIP box, and get to the heart of what makes this town so individual.

16 Anne of Cleves House

This incredibly well preserved medieval, timber-framed house was originally a guest house for the Priory. After the dissolution of the monasteries, Henry VIII gave it to his fourth wife Anne of Cleves as part of her divorce settlement, hence it bears her name although she never lived here. Wander through the original kitchen, an authentically-furnished bedroom with four-poster bed and kids' dressing up box, and the pretty Tudor garden for an insight into how wealthy families lived in the 15th century. A small café with a walled garden serves delicious homemade food, and year-round events range from medieval re-enactments to chamber music recitals.

LEWES BREWERIES & TAPROOMS

Breweries benefit from the special East Sussex landscape, home to one of the largest chalk aquifers in the country, storing gallons of fresh water to make exceptional beers.

Lewes is a centuries-old brewing town. The Medieval monks in the Priory brewed beer to serve to travellers, and independent breweries arrived in the 1800s. Lewes had seven breweries and 70 pubs at the turn of the 19th century.

Harveys Brewery

This Georgian brewery irreverently nicknamed the 'Lewes Cathedral', is the oldest in Sussex. Built by John Harvey in 1881, and run by his descendants, its exceptional cask beer is brewed the traditional way, using spring water from its well on the South Downs. Take the brewery tour and tasting.

SEAFORD

*Seaford is 15km west of Eastbourne, 6km east of Newhaven
and 17km south of Lewes town*

This genteel seaside town presides over a lovely two-mile sweep of shingle beach, and the chalk cliffs at Seaford Head, offering views of the mighty Seven Sisters Cliffs. It was this landscape that inspired acclaimed colour woodcut artist, Eric Slater, who lived here in the 1930s.

Seaford was a respected Cinque Port in medieval times, and the 18th century Martello Tower on the seafront, now housing the Seaford Museum, was built to defend the town against a Napoleonic invasion. A Heritage Trail reveals tales of smuggling and fascinating political intrigue.

With its wide 19th century promenade, brightly-painted beach huts, striped deck chairs and exceptional homemade ice cream, the seafront has an old-fashioned charm. The beach is relatively quiet, and the town centre, with independent cafés, restaurants, pubs, galleries and shops, is less than a five-minute walk away. Seaford Head connects to the South Downs Way across the Seven Sisters to Eastbourne. The Avenue Verte cycle route connecting London and Paris also runs through the town.

The timeless joy
of rockpooling

1 Seaford Head Nature Reserve and the Seven Sisters

Seaford Head is rich in history with traces of an iron age hillfort and a Roman burial ground, and in nature, with beautiful flowers and butterflies on the chalk grassland in summer. You can grab a coffee and a bite to eat at Cadence Clubhouse at South Hill Barn car park before heading to one of the most famous views in the country - the Seven Sisters, an undulating line of chalk cliffs, and the 200-year-old Coastguard's Cottages at Cuckmere Haven, a muse for artists. This area is a SSSI and needs careful management. Do your bit to keep it clean by taking your litter home. Please note that parking is very limited.

2 The Crouch Gardens

This pretty walled garden on the site of a medieval market in the town centre known locally as 'The Crouch', has wildflowers around its stone arches and a manicured lawn. A tiny flower-filled peace garden is a space for contemplation, there's a playground for children under the ancient trees and views of Seaford Head from the bowling green. Simple East Sussex pleasures.

The Shoal Bench

3 The Shoal Bench & Splash Point

Known as 'The Shoal' to locals, this community-funded seating, is the place to relax and admire Seaford's dramatic cliffs and sweeping bay. It was created by local sculptor Christian Funnell, to represent a meandering stream along the length of the breakwater, with galvanised steel fish swimming in it. The fish-shaped plaques give a personal snapshot of local life. Walk to Splash Point to spot the mewing colony of kittiwakes nesting in the cliffs, and take a seat.

Newhaven Lighthouse

NEWHAVEN

Newhaven is 6km west of Seaford, 13km south of Lewes town and 15km east of Brighton

A vibrant river town with a proud working port set against rolling Downland and wild beaches, Newhaven is a rare combination of industry in a rural landscape.

Known as the fishing village of Meeching in Saxon times, and renamed New Haven when the River Ouse changed its course in the 16th century, it has a rich maritime and military history. As the gateway to Europe, Newhaven played a key role in defending Britain from invasion in the 19th century and in WWII. The town has long been popular with artists. It inspired the painter, Eric Ravilious, whose combination of landscapes and machinery was considered outlandish in the 1930s. The ferry link to France lured the Bloomsbury Group to set up country retreats including Charleston in Fittle and Monk's House near Lewes.

With a £37 million regeneration project to transform the town, Newhaven is now emerging as a seaside hot spot. The renovation of its iconic Victorian fort has been a resounding success. The reinvigoration of its arts scene in partnership with Towner Eastbourne has created new harbourside galleries with an outdoor events space. Blank walls and neglected streets have been transformed into vibrant spaces, and a permanent mural trail now winds through the heart of the town. Historic pubs have been brought back to life, including The Bridge Inn, a Georgian residence which sheltered a fleeing King Louis Philippe during the 1848 revolution. Local businesses such as Mammoth Riverside, offering quayside dining, are creating a buzz. And in 2026, a brand-new restaurant will be built at West Beach, which was listed on The Times' UK's 50 best beaches for 2025. Time to go see for yourself.

1 Newhaven Fort

This striking Victorian fort dug into the hillside is the largest defence structure in Sussex, and played an important role in both World War I and II. A £7.5 million award-winning restoration in 2025 revamped its vaults and added immersive exhibitions including Women at War and The Blitz Experience, and opened the Battery Observation Post. Dressing up zones for children, an adventure playground and café, and imaginative events programming makes it a family favourite. There's also a 1970s-themed escape room, adding to the breadth of the transformation of this historic site.

16 Bastion Steps and undercliff path

The coastline and clifftop between East Saltdean and Newhaven is a Marine Conservation Area and lies within the Living Coast UNESCO world biosphere area and the Brighton to Newhaven Cliffs is a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI), home to peregrines and kittiwakes and famous amongst fossil hunters. The Bastion Steps lead to shingle beaches along the undercliff, by a renowned spot to find late cretaceous flint echinoids (fossilized sea urchins) at low tide.

TELSCOMBE

18 Telscombe Village

With around 30 houses (half of them listed) clustered around the Saxon church of St Laurence, ancient Telscombe Village is one of the prettiest villages in Sussex. Its most famous resident was Ambrose Graham, a prominent horse trainer. Although less than three miles from the coast, the village can be reached from the sea on foot or bike via the pretty bridleways of Telscombe Tye.

THE RURAL DISTRICT

Lewes town is located in the South Downs National Park and is on the Greenwich Meridian. It is 13km north of Newhaven, 17km north of Seaford and 12km north-west of Brighton

Our district is scattered with sleepy villages and sheep-grazed downland with wild orchids, butterflies such as the Chalkhill Blue, and skylarks singing overhead.

This rural idyll also has a rich artistic heritage, as home to leading figures of the Bloomsbury Group in the early 20th century. The influential novelist Virginia Woolf lived in Monk's House in Rodmell, her sister, the groundbreaking artist Vanessa Bell resided with Duncan Grant in Charleston Farmhouse in Firle, and surrealists Lee Miller and Roland Penrose lived just down the road at Farleys House.

Then there's Ditchling village, a magnet for artists and makers, reflected in the internationally important collection of artworks at the award-winning Ditchling Museum of Art + Craft.

The district boasts the stunning estates of Firle featuring Firle House, and Glynde with its Glyndebourne Opera House.

Country walks are a given and the area is criss-crossed with scenic walking trails. Also on offer are tea rooms, traditional country pubs serving local food and drink, and a chilled glass of sparkling wine awaits at top-notch Sussex vineyards.

The South Downs Way is a much treasured walking spot

1 Firle Place

This fine Georgian House with a Tudor heart, has been home to the Gage family for 500 years, and presides over an impressive 7,000-acre estate. A fascinating guided tour (or freeflow visit) reveals paintings from the great masters including Gainsborough, Reynolds and Van Dyck, Chippendale cabinets and hand-painted Sevres porcelain. Jane Austen's Emma (2020) was filmed here, and the pretty tearoom terrace overlooks the park where Mr Knightley proposed to Emma under a horse chestnut tree in bloom. The house is open for the summer season from May onwards.
Firle BN8 6LP
firle.com

2 Firle Village

Firle comes from the Anglo-Saxon word 'Fierol' or oak-covered land, and this 7,000-acre estate includes the quintessentially English Firle Village, which has been described as 'frozen in time', with many historic buildings intact. The Ram Inn is the only pub in the village, but a gem, serving delicious food. Nestled in the lee of Firle Beacon, with the ancient South Downs Way along the ridge above, Firle is within walking distance of Charleston Farmhouse. Vanessa Bell and Duncan Grant are buried at the 13th century St Peter's Church. Pop in to see the beautiful memorial window, designed by painter and graphic artist, John Piper.

3 Charleston in Firle

The former home of the artists Vanessa Bell and Duncan Grant, this farmhouse was the gathering point for some of the 20th century's most radical creatives, known as the Bloomsbury Group. Every inch is hand-painted, from the walls to the handcrafted furniture, and the magical Mediterranean-style walled garden is a canvas of colour in summer. Take a guided tour (or download an audio guide) for an insight into the colourful lives of its artistic residents and their contemporaries, and don't miss the impressive art gallery with paintings by Picasso, Renoir and Degas. Charleston has a year-round programme of exhibitions, festivals and events, plus a threshing barn café and shop.

6 Plumpton Racecourse

This independently-owned National Hunt racecourse is one of England's smallest, with a circuit of just over a mile (1.6km). Over the last 150 or so years it has seen royal visits, record-breaking rides and legendary horses. On race days, it offers entertainment for children including a thrilling wall trampoline stunt show and Zorb Balls, plus bars and restaurants with views over the South Downs. Race meets run from September to May.

7 Glyndebourne Opera House

Glyndebourne is recognised globally as one of the world's great opera houses, and a must for lovers of classical music. It was founded in the 1930s by John Christie and his wife Audrey Mildmay, and is now run by their grandson Gus. The occasion requires dressing up and bringing a posh picnic to enjoy in the glorious gardens, or dine at its restaurants.

8 Glynde Place

This Elizabethan country house built from local flint and Caen stone has been in the family for 500 years. It presides over the 6,000-acre Glynde Estate, which includes the village and 1,000 acres of woodland, and hosts the annual Love Supreme Jazz Festival. It is open for monthly specialised tours of the art collection and house. Garden tours and workshops are also available.

9 Sheffield Park Station and Bluebell Railway

This 11-mile (17.7 km) heritage line was the first preserved steam-operated passenger railway in England, with pretty stations featured in Downton Abbey. A steam train plies the scenic route from Sheffield Park Station, recreated in the style of the Brighton era in the 1880s (including the uniformed staff), to East Grinstead. On the platform is a museum and locomotive shed with steam engines. Steam trains run regularly, but not daily, so check the website for the timetable and events, from silver service dining to a beer festival. Go in Spring to see the woods carpeted with bluebells.

10 McBean's Orchids

Mr McBean came down from Scotland looking for a favourable climate to grow exotic plants. The first orchid appeared amongst the ferns, and it was the beginning of a lifelong passion for his son, Albert, who created this collection of the oldest historic orchids in the world. They have won over 70 gold medals at The Chelsea Flower Show. Wander through the greenhouse to see orchids in bloom between December and May, with the knowledgeable owners to hand.

11 Monk's House

This delightful 17th century weather-boarded cottage was Virginia and Leonard Woolf's country retreat, full of art and treasures. They bought it for the 'shape and fertility and wildness of the garden'.

You can wander through it and peek inside the writing lodge where Virginia wrote her novels, with her glasses still on the desk. Plans are afoot to restore Virginia's embroidered shawl which once hung over the chair in her downstairs bedroom.

12 Ditchling village

The ancient village of Ditchling, at the foot of the Downs, was a creative hub for artists and craftspeople in the 20th century. Walking guides from The Ditchling Museum of Art + Craft can help you to explore the artists and makers homes, and appreciate the craftsmanship in the 13th century church, St Margaret's of Antioch.

For refreshments, there's the rustic Green Welly Café, The Bull on the High Street with leather sofas and posh pub grub, or the independently-run village pub, The White Horse, with a walled courtyard garden, all offering the best of the Downs hospitality. # WALKING

Most of our district is in The South Downs National Park, a walking wonderland with rolling hills, picturesque villages, ancient woodland, clear rivers and a breathtaking seascape. Over 3,300km of footpaths, bridleways and byways head in every direction, from gentle riverside strolls along the River Ouse to more challenging hikes over the undulating chalk hills.

Whether you're looking for a family-friendly nature ramble, spectacular coastal scenery an exploration of history or art, or to take a trail to a rural pub or vineyard, call into one of our Tourist Information Centres (p46) to pick up handy maps, free walking guides and get advice on suitable routes.

NATIONAL TRAILS

Lewes' most famous walk is the 100-mile (160km) South Downs Way, the only National Trail to lie entirely within a National Park, which follows ancient routes and droveways along chalk escarpment and ridges from Winchester to Eastbourne. Visit nationaltrail.co.uk and southdowns.gov.uk/walks to download guides and maps. The South East section of the King Charles III England Coast Path from Brighton to Eastbourne nationaltrail.co.uk takes walkers from the city to where the South Downs meets the sea, heading along the coast to Peacehaven, Newhaven, Seaford and the Seven Sisters to Beachy Head.

The Greenwich Meridian trail greenwichmeridiantrail.co.uk, starts from the meridian monument in Peacehaven and travels through the South Downs, via Rodmell to Lewes.

RENATURING THE SOUTH DOWNS

With an astounding biodiversity, the ancient chalk grasslands of the South Downs are a Site of Special Scientific Interest. This rare and fragile landscape is endangered. The National Trust Changing Chalk Partnership is working to restore and protect it. Stick to the paths, stay at least 10m away from the cliff edge, keep dogs on a lead and take any rubbish home. nationaltrust.org.uk

You can find a walk to suit everyone, from short strolls to long distance hikes at the South Downs Walking Hub southdowns.gov.uk/get-active/south-downs-walks. Popular family-friendly walks range from the much-loved circular walk from Ditchling Beacon, the highest point in East Sussex, with 360 views to the bridleways of Telscombe Tye, common land which links the coast to picturesque and isolated Telscombe Village with its 10th century church.

For culture vultures, In Their Footsteps app is a self-guided audio tour exploring the countryside that inspired the writers, artists, poets and musicians who lived here, with walks from Charleston Farmhouse, Monk's House and Ditchling Museum of Art + Craft.

Download free local walking maps from walkingbritain.co.uk/South-Downs-walks for the best walks in the area, which includes

CYCLING

Exploring by bike is one of the most rewarding ways of discovering Lewes District whether its coast, country or towns and villages you are traversing

Our corner of East Sussex is a cyclist's paradise. A network of country lanes, and bridleways and traffic-free cycle paths can take you over the South Downs, along the River Ouse and the coast and up to the Weald, and to rural attractions.

Most trails are circular and suitable for everyone, with cafés, pubs and scenic picnic spots en route. Wildlife sightings include buzzards, mink, deer and kingfishers.

The National Cycle Network (NCN)'s South Coast Cycle Route 2 (sustrans.org.uk) takes in Newhaven and Peacehaven along the Avenue Verte from London to Paris.

Download local cycle routes, from vineyard-hopping to family trails and mountain biking along the South Downs Way, from cyclelewes.org.uk, thelivingcoastbybike.co.uk, southdowns.gov.uk and sdnpeast.bybikes.co.uk or call into a Tourist Information Centre (p46) to pick up the Cycle Lewes map, and advice on routes.

VINEYARDS

The vineyards and winemakers of the South Downs are recognised as some of the best in England, often on a par with the Champagne region

The South Downs is England's fastest growing wine-making region. With chalky soils similar to Champagne, a maritime climate and south-facing slopes, it's perfect for producing high-quality sparkling wines. Breaky Bottom (breakybottom.co.uk) in Rodmell, is the second oldest vineyard in Sussex, whilst Ridgeview Wine Estate (ridgeview.co.uk) wines have been served at Buckingham Palace. Plumpton College Wine Centre (plumpton.ac.uk) is Britain's top institution for a degree in viticulture where students come from far and wide to learn about this ancient craft which dates back to the Battle of Hastings. Call into a Tourist Information Centre (p46) for a map of the vineyards and details on Sussex wine tours.
