

Now that you have completed this book, I encourage you to review your notes on all the previous exercises and determine your next steps. Perhaps it will mean finding a coach or consultant to create the space for reflection you will need to set goals for yourself so you can continue to develop a posture of cultural humility.

---

---

---

---

---

Visit my website, www.DearWhiteLeader.com, and complete the cultural humility assessment so you can determine if you have a foundation to move from cultural competency to cultural humility.

Share this book with others in your organization and your circle of influence. As a way to create community, you will need to provide accountability and support as you and others develop a posture of cultural humility.