

PBL Principles

PURPOSE:

Finding the truth, and living according to it, is essential for an authentic, purpose filled life and provides an irreplaceable foundation for growth and education. Truth is at the heart of creating strong families and individuals and integral to lasting happiness. These PBL principles are a guide toward the quest for truth.

#	Symbol	PRINCIPLES:
1		God is the first and best source of truth and we seek His counsel through scriptures, prayer and inspiration. Children raised in truth change the world for good. It is incumbent upon parents and other adults to be the bridge of truth between generations.
2		There is a core essence in every person. We strive to see ourselves and others in their true light. We accept, honor and strengthen each individual as we lift and support them on their journey.
3		We teach what we are and we are what we teach. Since actions speak louder than words, we strive to pursue our education and personal growth at all levels and trust that our actions and choices will be a positive example .
4		Home and family are the first and most influential places of learning. We strengthen home and family when we encourage a spirit of kindness , cooperation, and respect in all relationships.
5		We conscientiously nurture good habits that form our moral foundation and help us make character-building choices.
6		Conflicts, questions, struggles and mistakes are opportunities to teach and learn . When we remember and apply this principle we grow together and can maintain a positive learning atmosphere.
7		We strive to use the best sources of knowledge and wisdom from the finest books , master teachers and selected resources. We also study the art of mentoring and cultivate the habit of mindful use of time .
