

Crafting Calm and Capability at Daphne Steele

ELEVATING LEARNING ENVIRONMENTS WITH PURPOSE AND DETAIL

Breathing New Life into a Landmark

The Daphne Steele Building—an essential part of the University of Huddersfield’s National Health Innovation Campus—needed a refresh. Honoring its namesake’s legacy while modernizing its spaces was the mission, and Dale Price Flooring Solutions was up for the challenge.

Creating Spaces for Learning & Innovation

We focused on making the building’s interiors more inviting and practical for healthcare education. Durable, high-quality flooring not only handled high foot traffic but also blended seamlessly with the building’s contemporary design.

Elevating the Exterior

A great space starts from the outside in. We selected resilient materials to withstand the UK’s shifting weather, ensuring entrances, walkways, and outdoor areas were both welcoming and built to last.

Putting Safety First

In education, safety is key. We installed slip-resistant flooring in high-traffic areas and ensured every detail met health and safety regulations—giving students, staff, and visitors peace of mind.

A Smooth Renovation Without Disruptions

Updating a fully operational building takes precision. We worked closely with the university to schedule work at optimal times, ensuring a seamless integration with existing structures while keeping disruptions to a minimum.

Sustainability at the Forefront

A greener future starts with smart choices. We prioritized eco-friendly materials and sustainable installation methods to reduce waste. Our approach aligned with the university’s WELL Platinum Standard aspirations—creating a healthier space for its occupants.

A Collaboration That Made an Impact

The results? A revitalized building that’s both functional and inspiring. It was more than just a renovation—it was a collaboration, blending expertise and dedication to create a space that will support the next generation of healthcare professionals.
