Services

Translation

Between Oceans can meet all your translation and advanced language requirements. In addition to our qualified staff, we work on a platform with language experts from around the world.

Website and document translation

One of our most popular services is optimized web content translation. Our translators specialise in preserving the personality and nuances of the original content. We also often work with software, videos, banners, etc.

We cover a wide range of document types, often industry-specific:

Instructions and manuals, standards and guidelines, catalogues, brochures, publications, presentations, seminars, news articles, theses and dissertations, legal agreements and contracts, datasheets, project data, glossaries, training materials and many others.

Sworn translation

Also referred to as 'sworn translation', these services are most requested for the translation of immigration documents, visas, passports, residence permits, university procedures, proof of identity, applications to professional bodies, apostilles, etc. The Between Oceans platform includes sworn translators from all countries where English, Spanish and Portuguese are the official languages.

Editing and proofreading

We carry out editing and proofreading prior to the finalisation of all our in-house translations, although we also offer this service as a stand-alone process, tailored to the client's needs. We focus on content, overall structure, internal paragraph organisation, clarity, and style, as well as spelling, grammatical and punctuation errors. These processes apply to both literary texts and texts of a commercial, industrial, legal, etc. nature.

Telephone interpreting

If there is a language barrier between you and your customer, our telephone interpreting services can help. Our specialised interpreters enable you to communicate globally and accurately in English, French, Spanish, Portuguese and other languages.

Subtitling, DTP, transcription, and voiceover

We offer subtitling for your videos, with or without translation, and transcription for your videos or audio.

We offer desktop publishing (DTP) services for both editable and non-editable files and make corrections to the files. We recreate non-editable files (PDF) from scratch by creating compatible files. We handle all formatting and graphic work.

We offer voice-over services for your texts with native speakers.

Courses

Need to practise the language you've learnt? We offer language and conversation courses in a variety of languages.

We also offer business language courses for when you travel for work and need to master specific terminology during your stay abroad.

Are you a student looking to develop your translation and interpreting skills? We have the course you're looking for. Get in touch with us.

Business Consultancy

Discover the exact steps to create and develop your business or activity in any area of life and how to achieve success. Learn how to define goals and purposes, establish the immutable rules of the game, set up plans, programmes, projects and orders, envision the ideal scene of what you want, measure progress with statistics and obtain your valuable final products.
