MIZZOU WOMEN START TEXAS TWO-STEP WEDNESDAY

The Missouri women's basketball team (7-10, 1-5 Big 12) heads southwest to Lubbock, Texas, for a Wednesday-night game at No. 13 Texas Tech (14-3, 5-1). The Tigers, mired in a five-game losing streak, will try to get their first road win against a ranked conference opponent since 1993.

WALKING WOUNDED FIGHTING THROUGH INJURIES

Nagging injuries have taken their toll on what started out as a relatively deep Missouri rotation. Junior F and leading scorer Tiffany Brooks was hobbled with an ankle sprain two weeks ago; junior C Christelle N'Garsanet is nearly recovered from a foot injury; and sophomore F EeTisha Riddle (foot) and freshman G Kassie Drew (leg) are both recovering from stress fractures. Brooks and N'Garsanet are nearly fully healed, while Riddle and Drew continue to play through the effects of their injuries.

ROUGH STARTS CAN HAVE HAPPY ENDINGS

The Tigers are currently on a five-game losing streak, which is MU's longest since a seven-game skid to end the 2001-02 season. Mizzou still made the postseason that year, advancing to the WNIT. The current five-game conference losing streak is the longest since a seven-game stretch: the last five games of the 2002 season, and the first two of 2003. The Tigers also made the WNIT that year, and despite an 0-4 league start last year, Mizzou advanced to its second NCAA Tournament in five years. The Tigers have qualified for the postseason in each of the last five years, which ties a school record from 1982-86.

QUICK HITS: NOTES ON THE RUNMIZZOU NOTABLES

- The Tigers are going for a school-record sixth consecutive postseason berth. The current run of two NCAA Tournament and three WNIT berths matches a string of five straight NCAA Tournaments from 1982-86.
- This season is Missouri's first in Mizzou Arena, the Tigers' sparkling new, $75 million state-of-the-art facility. It seats 15,061 fans and opened in October.
- Head Coach Cindy Stein signed a two-year contract extension on Sept. 8, which runs through the 2007-08 season.
- Junior G LaToya Bond and senior C Megan Roney are the lone returning starters from last year's NCAA Tournament squad. The Tigers lost five seniors, and have four newcomers on the team.

PLAYER NOTABLES

- Sophomore G Tiffany Brooks, whom Coach Stein considers her best defensive player, dropped in 30 points on Nebraska last Saturday, her fifth game for the Tigers after sitting out the last two semesters under NCAA transfer rules. Brooks played the fall semester of 2003 at Kansas State.
- Junior C Christelle N'Garsanet erupted for career highs of 29 points and 13 rebounds vs. Mississippi Valley State. It was her first career double-double.
- Junior G LaToya Bond shattered her career high with 25 points vs. Northern Ill. on Nov. 19.
- Freshman G Kassie Drew, who finished her career as the No. 2 3-point shooter in Illinois prep history, was named Big 12 Rookie of the Week Nov. 29 after hitting for a game- and career-high 20 points vs. Providence.

THE TEXAS TECH SERIES

The merger of the old Southwest and Big Eight conferences didn't bring a start to the Missouri-Texas Tech series. That came in 1994, when an underdog Missouri squad rolled through as a No. 7 seed to the Big Eight Tournament title and the league's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament. The Tigers were sent to Lubbock for a first-round matchup with the Lady Raiders, which Tech won by a 75-61 margin.

While the teams have split their four meetings in Columbia, Tech has won all four Big 12 meetings in Lubbock by an average of 18 points per game. That includes an 84-50 win by then-No. 8 Texas Tech in their last meeting at United Spirit Arena in 2003. Mizzou's closest loss was six points (74-68) to the then-No. 7 Lady Raiders in 1999, Cindy Stein's first year at Missouri.

SCOUTING THE LADY RAIDERS

Texas Tech, under Head Coach Marsha Sharp in her 23rd season, has four players scoring in double figures, led by sophomore F Alesha Robertson's 15.4 ppg. Senior C Cisti Greenwalt is averaging 9.5 rebounds a game, and junior Erin Grant is dishing out a Big 12-best 6.63 assists a game.

The Lady Raiders lost their first Big 12 game, and first home game, of the season on Saturday with a 55-53 setback to Kansas State. It is just the seventh loss in the six years of United Spirit Arena.

TIGERS LOSING LATE LEADS

Although Missouri is tied for 11th in the Big 12 with a 1-5 record, and has lost its last five games, it should be noted that the Tigers could easily be 5-1 right now. Mizzou has held leads in the second half of four of its five losses, yet has succumbed to opponent runs down the stretch. The bad news is that they're occurring; the good news is that the margins are getting smaller each game. Here is a list of the leads that have been squandered (or trimmed, in the case of Oklahoma State) thus far:

Lead	Clock	Opponent	Opp. Run	Date	Result
► 22	19:33	Oklahoma State	21-10 over 9:46	Jan. 5	W, 67-49
► 13	8:26	Nebraska	26-6 over 7:50	Jan. 8	L, 81-74
► 8	11:51	at Iowa State	28-14 over 11:19	Jan. 15	L, 65-59
► 5	15:53	Colorado	24-14 over 15:01	Jan. 18	L, 56-51
► 2	7:19	at Kansas	6-2 over 5:38	Jan. 22	L, 63-61

LAST TIME OUT: KANSAS 63, MIZZOU 61

Aquanita Burras' steal and layup with 78 seconds left provided Kansas' winning margin in a 63-61 win over Missouri in Big 12 Conference action Saturday night at Allen Fieldhouse. For a complete recap and box score, please refer to page 14.

THESE TIGERS YOUNGER, BUT MORE EXPERIENCED

Much has been made of the loss of five experienced seniors from last year's team that led the Tigers to the NCAA Tournament. Yet a quick look at the stats shows that this year's team, while much younger, is deeper than last. That has allowed the coaching staff to be more flexible with its lineup depending on the game situation.

Last year, only six players – with four being seniors – averaged 18 minutes a game or more; this year, that number is up to eight, with just one senior. The current rotation includes five freshmen and sophomores.

BROOKS HAS ADDED SCORING PUNCH

Now eligible after sitting out the last year (two semesters) under NCAA transfer rules, sophomore G Tiffany Brooks (Leavenworth, Kan. / Leavenworth HS / Kansas State) is certainly making good use of her time. Her 30-point outburst on Jan. 8 against Nebraska is only the most noticeable addition to the scoring punch she's provided.

She started her first game eligible against Stanford and had six points and three rebounds. Brooks canned the winning jumper in Mizzou's win at Miami (Ohio) on New Year's Eve, but that was just the final piece of an impressive performance. She had a team- and career-high 16 points, and added two rebounds, two assists and two steals against the RedHawks. She also created defensive stops for the Tigers in holding Miami to just 30-percent shooting for the day. She has scored in double figures in all but her first game against Stanford.

Brooks had toppled her previous career high of 16 points by halftime of the Nebraska game when she had 17 at the break. Her 30 points are the most by a Tiger in regulation since Evan Unrau also had 30 vs. Southeastern Louisiana in 2001. Note – Unrau had 29 in regulation of last year's double-overtime game with Kansas State in which she finished with 40. Brooks also had a season-high three assists, and made 86 percent of her free throws (18-of-21) during the week. She is Missouri's leading scorer, averaging 14.2 points per game.

N'GARSANET TAKES OVER INSIDE

Junior Christelle N'Garsanet (Abidjan, Cote d'Ivoire / Illinois Central College) has taken over as MU's presence in the paint this season. After averaging just 11 minutes of playing time per game last year, N'Garsanet has started all but one game this season. She has scored in double figures in 11 of Mizzou's games, yet

LAST YEAR:

No. 9/9 Texas Tech 73, MU 68

Feb. 17, 2004 – Columbia, Mo.

Despite trailing by as many as 14 points in the second half, the Missouri women's basketball team battled back to within one of No. 9/9 Texas Tech in the closing seconds Tuesday night at the Hearn Center. An Erin Grant driving layup with 10 seconds left, though, provided for the winning margin in a 73-68 Lady Raider win.

Down nine with 4:08 left, Evan Unrau hit a 3-pointer, and Stretch James hit a pair of free throws with 3:03 to go. Following a Casey Jackson free throw, James hit a jumper and Unrau a pair of free throws with 1:25 remaining to pull the Tigers within one. Grant then drove the right side for her winning layup. With three seconds remaining and the Tigers in possession following a timeout down 71-68, the Tigers were called for an illegal screen, giving the ball back to Texas Tech. Alesha Robertson hit a pair of free throws with less than a second on the clock to seal the victory.

Unrau recorded her Big 12-leading 11th double-double, pouring in a game-high 17 points and grabbing 10 rebounds. James chipped in with 15 points and five blocks, and Bond dished out a team-leading five assists for Mizzou, which lost its third straight home game – all against ranked teams.

Both teams came out shooting hot – Mizzou from outside, and Texas Tech in the paint, where they scored 14 of their first 15 points in posting a 15-10 lead in the first 4 minutes, 11 seconds of the game. The Lady Raiders scored on their first eight possessions – and 12 of their first 13 – with the help of six offensive rebounds in the early going to build to a 26-16 lead with 12:16 left in the first.

Texas Tech rolled off an 18-4 run over the first 8:40 of the second half to post a 53-39 lead. Chesley Dabbs hit a pair of jumpers, yet down 14 with 11:56 left, the Tigers slowly started chipping away.

LaToya Bond and MyEsha Perkins each drove for easy layups, then James got five straight points over three possessions to pull Mizzou within seven (59-52) with 8:55 left.

NOTICE TO MEDIA:
WE'VE MOVED!

Now that the occupants of Mizzou Arena have settled into their offices, it's time for those departments that are moving within the Hearnes Center to perform the box-clutter ballet.

The media relations office has relocated to 260 Hearnes Center (the former business office located on street level, next to the Hearnes Center Box Office for those of you familiar with the building).

entering the Iowa State game on Jan. 15 had just eight in the previous two while battling a foot injury. She came back to score a game-high-tying 17 while also pulling down six rebounds.

N'Garsanet has a pair of double-doubles: a 16-point, career-high 14-rebound effort at SMS on Dec. 8, and a breakout performance against Mississippi Valley State the previous Friday night in the first round of the State Farm Tiger Classic, when the 6-foot-3 center exploded for career highs of 29 points and 13 rebounds against the Delta Devilettes, propelling her to all-tournament honors. She just missed another double-double New Year's Eve, hitting for 10 points and nine rebounds at Miami (Ohio).

N'Garsanet is third on the team in scoring (12.2 ppg) and is Mizzou's top rebounder (6.1 rpg). She tied her career high with five blocks vs. Oklahoma State, and leads the team and is fifth in the Big 12 with 1.65 blocks a game.

THAT SCHEDULE'S JUST WEIRD!

After hosting back-to-back home games to start the conference season for just the second time in the nine years of the Big 12, the Tigers are paying for it these last two weeks. Wednesday night's game at Texas Tech concludes a road trip that sees the Tigers play four of five away from Mizzou Arena.

Another scheduling oddity comes in comparison with the Missouri men. Traditionally, when one team is at home, the other is on the road, and vice-versa. Looking at the 14 common scheduling windows from the league, though, shows that the Tigers will follow that model just four times this year. The other 10 windows have both teams either on the road (5 times) or both at home (5). That includes three Saturday split doubleheaders at Mizzou Arena.

MU WOMEN PICKED EIGHTH BY MEDIA, COACHES

Mizzou has been picked to finish eighth by regional media and the Big 12's coaches, in separate polling conducted prior to the season.

The league's media had a tough time separating the sixth through eighth spots, as Iowa State and Colorado each had just five more polling points than the Tigers' 78.

The Tigers amassed 45 points from the 11 other coaches – mentors were not allowed to vote for their own teams – in that poll, 14 fewer than Colorado. That's not necessarily bad news for the Tigers, as the coaches' poll has not traditionally been a good prognostication of the MU's success. The Tigers have finished at or above their selected position in each of the last four years. For the last two seasons, Mizzou was picked to finish seventh; the Tigers finished fifth in 2003, and seventh last year. In 2002, the coaches tabbed the Tigers 10th before MU finished ninth, and in 2001 the coaches selected Mizzou eighth, one spot lower than the Tigers actually finished.

STRONG SCHEDULE WILL HELP IN THE END

Last year's Tigers owe much of their at-large NCAA Tournament berth to a strong RPI rating, and more specifically, a strong schedule. The same can be said this year, as the Tigers enter 2004-05 with the 22nd-toughest slate out of 328 indexed teams, according to the WBCA/Summerville RPI.

Six Mizzou opponents – Stanford, along with Big 12 foes Baylor, Texas Tech, Texas, Kansas State and Iowa State – are ranked in the AP poll this week, while New Mexico, Iowa and Okla-

A total of 15 schools that reached postseason play last year are on this year's schedule. In all, the Tigers play 18 of their 28 regular-season games against postseason squads from a year ago.

DREW NAMED BIG 12 ROOKIE OF THE WEEK

Freshman G Kassie Drew (Anna, Ill. / Anna-Jonesboro HS) was named Big 12 Conference Rookie of the Week for games played from Nov. 22-28. Drew scored a game-high 20 points in the Nov. 27 win vs. Providence, knocking down an MU season-high four 3-pointers. She hit her first four shots, scoring 10 points in the first 6:14 of the game. She finished 8-of-15 from the field and 4-of-9 from 3-point range to lead all scorers. Drew added seven points in a Nov. 26 loss at New Mexico and finished the weekend averaging a team high-tying 13.5 points per game. For the season, Drew is seventh on the squad, averaging 4.8 ppg.

Drew is the first Tiger to earn weekly recognition from the Big 12 since Tracy Franklin, now MU's coordinator of basketball operations, earned Player of the Week honors in February of 2001. She is the first Rookie of the Week since Evan Unrau was tabbed in January of 2001.

TIGERS SIGN HOLLINS TO NATIONAL LETTER OF INTENT

Texas standout guard Alyssa Hollins (Mesquite, Texas / John Horn HS) has signed a National Letter of Intent to enroll at the University of Missouri and play basketball for the Tigers, Head Coach Cindy Stein announced Nov. 10.

The 6-foot Hollins was the Texas District 12-5A Co-Offensive Most Valuable Player as a junior last year at Mesquite High School. She also was named to the Dallas Morning News' All-Area Third Team, and earned second-team all-region honors from the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches. Last season, she averaged 14.1 points and 5.1 rebounds while shooting 48 percent from the field.

"The thing I like most about Alyssa is that she's one of the best players in the state of Texas," Stein said. "She's a versatile guard who can shoot the three and slash, and she's extremely competitive. She's just another really good, quality guard that can help us."

As a sophomore in 2002-03, Hollins made the District 12-5A First Team and also made the TABC all-region second team. She burst onto the scene as a freshman at Mesquite when she was named the Dallas Morning News' All-Area Newcomer of the Year. She earned the same honor in District 10-5A.

ANOTHER PEEK AT MIZZOU

Ground was broken on Sept. 21, 2002, on a new $75 million facility for Missouri's basketball teams. Mizzou Arena opened this Oct. 1, and ribbon-cutting ceremonies were held on Oct. 22, 2004. In addition to an expanded seating capacity over its predecessor (15,061 vs. 13,611 in the Hearnese Center), "The Zou" sports the following amenities, among others:

- ▶ 26 luxury suites
- ▶ State-of-the-art training room
- ▶ Expanded strength and conditioning facilities
- ▶ Expanded locker rooms facilities, complete with team film room and player lounge
- ▶ Practice gym (footprint is larger than the Hearnese Center competition floor)
- ▶ Office complex for the basketball staff
- ▶ Missouri Athletics Hall of Fame

Mizzou Arena also features the latest technological advances. Each meeting room and coaching office contains video hookups to access game footage from a central location. Regional and national broadcast networks televising games from Mizzou Arena may hook into permanent patch-in panels from their location in the television production area. The audio-video room within the arena is also linked via fiber-optic cable to Mizzou's other major sporting venues – the Hearnese Center and Memorial Stadium – as well as to the University-owned and operated NBC affiliate, KOMU-TV.

The arena contains a center-hung score and video board, as well as a 30-inch video ribbon board that rings the seating bowl.

The Hearnese Center remains the home of Tiger volleyball, wrestling, gymnastics and indoor track, and also continues to house offices for those sports in addition to the media relations office.

THE CINDY STEIN SHOW AIRS EACH MONDAY

"The Cindy Stein Show" originates each Monday evening from 6-7 p.m. at Harpo's in downtown Columbia. Stein spends the hour fielding phone calls from fans, as well as welcoming players and other college insiders as guests. The show is hosted by David Lile, the voice of Mizzou women's basketball.

Since arriving in Columbia in 1998, Cindy Stein has turned the fortunes of the Missouri women's basketball program around, thanks to a fast-paced offensive style and tenacious defense — both trademarks of a Stein-coached team. In just six seasons, Stein has returned the University of Missouri women's basketball team to national prominence. That success is the result of five straight postseason appearances, which matches the longest stretch in school history dating back nearly 20 years. She was rewarded with a two-year contract extension in September that runs through the 2007-08 season.

Recognized as one of the nation's top young women's basketball coaches, Cindy Stein notched a pair of milestones last season. She earned her 150th career victory in her hometown of Peoria, Ill., on Nov. 23, at Bradley. She also tallied her 100th win as Mizzou's head coach last March 5, at Texas A&M. Stein has a 108-89 mark in six seasons at MU and is 173-114 in nine years overall as a collegiate head coach.

Her accomplishments have not gone unnoticed by the national basketball community, as last summer Stein served her country as an assistant coach with USA Basketball at the World University Games. She also was able to mentor one of her standout players, as senior forward Evan Unrau was a member of the squad that was comprised of Big 12 Conference all-stars. Unrau joined another Stein recruit, WNBA veteran Amanda Lassiter, as All-Big 12 First Team recipients since the league's formation seven years ago. Unrau also joined Lassiter and Marlena Williams among Mizzou's draftees into the WNBA when she was selected in the third round of last May's draft.

In guiding the Tigers through the rigors of the Big 12 Conference, recognized as one of the toughest in the country, Stein has done twice what had not been done since 1983: finish above .500 in league play. Those two times were the Sweet Sixteen season of 2001, and the 2003 campaign, when the Tigers finished tied for fifth in the Big 12 with their 9-7 mark.

The 2002-03 season was also noteworthy, as Mizzou qualified for postseason play for the fourth straight time by advancing to the quarterfinals of the Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT). That was the deepest a Tiger squad has ever advanced in a national postseason tournament, and a one-point loss at Colorado State in the quarterfinals was all that separated Mizzou from reaching that tournament's final four teams. This past season, despite key injuries and an 0-4 start to conference play, Stein rebounded the squad to the program's eighth NCAA Tournament appearance and second under Stein — the fifth consecutive year that Mizzou has reached the postseason.

Members of Stein's teams have earned First Team Academic All-Big 12 honors 22 times in the six years Stein has been at MU, and three others have earned Honorable Mention recognition by the league. In addition, Kerensa Barr — who has joined her mentor on the coaching staff as a graduate assistant — earned Academic All-America honors from the College Sports Information Directors of America in 2002.

In addition to her coaching exploits, Stein was a talented player in college. A junior-college All-American, she led Illinois Central College to two appearances at the NJCAA National Tournament, then helped the University of Illinois make the 1982 NCAA Tournament Field. Nearly 20 years later, Stein still holds two of the top four single-season assist totals in Illini history.

Stein's coaching debut came as a graduate assistant at Central Michigan University from 1984-86. She graduated from Central Michigan with a master's degree in physical education with an emphasis in athletic administration. She also worked as an assistant coach at Miami University (1986-87) and Cincinnati (1987-88). She then served as an assistant coach at Bradley for five years, and also as the recruiting coordinator at her alma mater, Illinois; Stein also served as an assistant coach with the Illini from 1993-95 before taking the head coaching appointment at Emporia State.

Stein, who was inducted into the Greater Peoria Sports Hall of Fame in March of 2002, was named the 2001 Coach of the Year by the Columbia chapter of the Women's Intersport Network.

A member of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association, Stein just completed a term as a member of the prestigious WBCA Kodak All-America Selection Committee. In past years, she has served in various other committee positions with the NCAA Rules Committee, the City of Columbia Chamber of Commerce, and the Women's Network Steering Committee.

Missouri 71, Cent. Mo. 52 (ex.)

Nov. 12, 2004 – Mizzou Arena

COLUMBIA, Mo. – Christelle N'Garsanet led a quartet of Tigers with double-figure point totals as the Missouri women's basketball team led Central Missouri State wire-to-wire for a 71-52 exhibition win at Mizzou Arena.

The Tigers jumped out to an early 8-0 lead on the strength of five points from N'Garsanet and a three-point field goal from Megan Roney.

Mizzou led by as many as 13 points in the first half, but saw its lead dwindle to nine with just over two minutes to go before the half. With 1:32 remaining and the Tigers leading 29-20, LaToya Bond banked in a jump shot from the right wing and was fouled. She converted the free throw to put Mizzou up by 12, and they would head into the break leading by 14 (34-20).

Beginning with 26 seconds to play in the first half and continuing for the first 5:10 of the second frame, the Tigers went on a 25-8 run that saw them move out to a comfortable lead. Mizzou led by as many as 22 after the break, and never saw their lead shrink to less than 16.

Kassie Drew scored seven of her 10 points in the second half, while Crystal Howard also poured in seven of her nine after the break.

"We appreciated the attendance," said Head Coach Cindy Stein of the 2,003 fans who witnessed the exhibition. "I saw some really good things out there that I liked but I think that everyone can see that we're still very young. I think Central Missouri definitely provided what we wanted as far as a real disciplined team. I'm a little disappointed in some areas but it's not anything we can't fix, so that's encouraging."

The Tigers forced 25 CMSU turnovers, including 17 in the first half, and scored 31 points off the Jennies' miscues. Mizzou also won the battle of second-chance points, 11-2. N'Garsanet, who swatted three shots, led a Tiger defensive front that recorded 10 blocks.

N'Garsanet led the Tigers, and tied Fromm for the game high, with 20 points, while also ripping down 14 boards to tie EtTisha Riddle for the team lead. Bond contributed 14 points, five rebounds and three assists, and Roney carded 11 points and six rebounds for Mizzou.

First Round – KCRG TV-9 Hawkeye Challenge

Nov. 19, 2004 – Carver-Hawkeye Arena

IOWA CITY, Iowa – LaToya Bond had a game- and career-high 25 points, and the Tigers blocked 11 shots as the Missouri women's basketball team registered a season-opening 68-61 win in the first round of the KCRG TV-9 Hawkeye Challenge.

Bond shattered her previous career best of 20 points set vs. Iowa last season at the Hearn Center on the strength of 12-of-15 shooting from the free-throw line. Both totals also were the highest of her career, and her six buckets tied her best set at Evansville last season.

EtTisha Riddle also set career highs with 11 points and a team-leading seven rebounds to join Bond in double figures for Missouri (1-0).

Bond got Mizzou's first three baskets, including a 3-pointer with 15 minutes, 52 seconds left in the first half, to tie the game at 7. Northern Illinois (0-1) countered with a 9-3 run, in which MU's only points came on a 3-pointer by Megan Roney.

After the teams traded baskets going into the 8-minute media timeout, the Tigers used an 8-0 run to storm to a two-point lead. Kassie Drew nailed her first collegiate basket on a 3-pointer, and Riddle hit another to tie the game at 18 with 5:48 left.

Mizzou took the lead for good on a Riddle jumper with 4:39 remaining in the half, and then Blair Hardiek started a personal 9-0 run for the Tigers with 3:38 left when she canned a 3-pointer. Two minutes later, she hit all three free throws after being fouled, then hit another trey on Mizzou's next possession for a 29-21 lead. A Bond 3-point play with 26.8 seconds and a Bond steal and layup by Crystal Howard four seconds later gave Mizzou a 34-21 lead at the half. In all, the Tigers held Northern Illinois to just three free throws in the final 8:45 of the first half.

When Bond escaped a triple-team and sliced through the lane to begin the second half, it capped a 13-0 run over a period of just 1:47 spanning halftime as the Tigers took a 36-21 lead. The Tigers would boost the margin to 16 points on three separate occasions – the last time with 14:57 to play – before the Huskies slowly chipped away at the Mizzou advantage. NIU trimmed the Tiger lead to single digits with 8:30 to go, but the Tigers never let the lead get smaller than seven points in improving its all-time record in season-openers to 24-7. MU has won its last nine lifelines.

Championship – Hawkeye Challenge

Nov. 20, 2004 – Carver-Hawkeye Arena

IOWA CITY, Iowa – Crystal Smith led all scorers with 26 points to lead host Iowa to a 75-54 win over Missouri in the championship game of the KCRG TV-9 Hawkeye Challenge.

LaToya Bond had 14 points for the Tigers (1-1), while Christelle N'Garsanet added 10 points, six rebounds and three blocks. Bond was named to the All-Tournament Team for averaging 19.5 points per game over the course of the weekend.

Smith was 9-of-14 from the field, and hit all seven of her charity tosses. Jamie Cavey added 13 points and four blocks for Iowa (2-0), who shot 52.9 percent from the field (27-of-51).

The Hawkeyes and Tigers traded a pair of baskets until Iowa used a 7-0 run to take an 11-4 lead and spur a Mizzou timeout just 3 minutes, 6 seconds into the game. The Hawkeyes continued to increase the lead to 24-9 with 11:48 left in the first half on a pair of Stacy Schlapkohl free throws. Yet the Tigers clawed closer, quickly trimming the margin to 10 after Bond scored on a layup set up by a block from N'Garsanet.

Yet the Hawkeyes would continue to dominate both inside and at the free-throw line. Iowa used a 24-8 advantage in the paint and 12-of-14 shooting from the line in the first half to take a 43-31 lead at the break.

Mizzou trimmed the lead to nine on an N'Garsanet baby hook with 10:18 to play and again on a 3-pointer from Blair Hardiek, yet the Hawkeyes made a run behind Smith.

Missouri 79, Miss. Valley St. 53*First Rd. – State Farm Tiger ClassicDec. 3, 2004 – Mizzou Arena*

COLUMBIA, Mo. – Christelle N'Garsanet registered her first career double-double to lead the Missouri women to a 79-53 win over Mississippi Valley State in the first round of the State Farm Tiger Classic, played Friday night at Mizzou Arena. The win sets up a title matchup Saturday night at 7 p.m. vs. Eastern Michigan.

N'Garsanet poured in a career-high-shattering 29 points to go with a career-high 13 rebounds; her previous career-high of 15 points was set last Saturday vs. Providence. It is also the single-highest total, men's or women's, in the short six-game history of Mizzou Arena.

She picked up her second foul shortly after assisting on a jumper by Megan Roney just 5 minutes, 33 seconds into the game that gave Missouri a 14-7 lead. With N'Garsanet on the bench with just five points, the Tigers out-scored the Delta Devils just 24-23 the rest of the half as Missouri (4-2) took a 38-30 lead into the locker room.

In the second half, N'Garsanet went to work, going 9-of-15 from the field for 24 points. She added 11 rebounds and a pair of steals, and went 6-of-7 from the foul line without committing a foul of her own in her 17 minutes on the floor.

LaToya Bond chipped in 20 points on 9-of-13 shooting, while adding eight rebounds and seven assists. Carlynn Savant nearly got her first career double-double, posting nine points and 11 rebounds.

The Tigers overcame a paltry 38.6 percent shooting night – including just 4-of-21 from 3-point range – by committing a season-low nine turnovers. Mizzou forced that many against Mississippi Valley (2-1), while the Delta Devils had an additional nine on their own.

Eastern Mich. 60, Missouri 59*Championship – State Farm Tiger ClassicDec. 4, 2004 – Mizzou Arena*

COLUMBIA, Mo. – Ryan Coleman hit the back end of a pair of free throws with three seconds left in regulation to push Eastern Michigan to the State Farm Tiger Classic title with a 60-59 win over Missouri Saturday night at Mizzou Arena. It is the second time in the 27-year history of the tournament that the game has been decided by single point; the other came in 1990 when South Alabama captured a 56-55 win over Mizzou.

The Eagles (6-0) scored the game's final seven points, starting with another pair of Coleman free throws with 2:54 left. Ryann Kilgore hit a jumper with 1:40 to play to pull within two, and then hit two free throws with 49 seconds left to tie the game.

Eastern Michigan's comeback was necessary thanks to a furious 23-7 Missouri rally midway through the second half. Down 10 with 13:03 to play, LaToya Bond hit a layup. That began a quick 10-0 run that was capped when Crystal Howard hit a 3-pointer to tie the game at 46.

The teams traded the lead and tied the game twice again before Christelle N'Garsanet sandwiched a pair of layups around a free throw from Kassie Drew for a 59-53 lead with 4:16 left. Unfortunately, those would be Mizzou's final points of the game.

Coleman, who finished with a game-high 23 points, was named the tournament's most valuable player. Missouri (4-3) was led by N'Garsanet's 14 points. In addition to N'Garsanet, the all-tournament team featured Bond, EMU's Ryann Kilgore, and UMKC's Jowan Ortega and Katie Houlehan. That pair led the Kangaroos in a 78-48 victory over Mississippi Valley State in the consolation game with 20 and 17 points, respectively.

SMS 66, Missouri 44*Dec. 8, 2004 – Hammons Student Center*

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. – A second double-double in three games from Christelle N'Garsanet was not enough to counter a game-high 22 points from SMS' Jenny Lingor, as the Lady Bears registered a 66-44 win Wednesday night at the Hammons Student Center. N'Garsanet finished with 16 points and a career-high 14 rebounds; she also added a game-high four blocks.

Despite the loss, the Tigers (4-4) could take several positives from the game, as Mizzou held SMS (4-2) to its lowest scoring output of the season, and held the nation's second-most-accurate shooting team to its worst shooting night of the year. Nevertheless, the Lady Bears still out-shot the Tigers by a 43.5-31.7 percent margin.

SMS took an early 7-2 lead on the strength of a 3-pointer from K.C. Cowgill and capitalizing on several Tiger turnovers. Yet the Tigers pulled to within 13-9 on a 3-pointer from Kassie Drew with 12 minutes, 26 seconds left in the first half. Then Carlynn Savant tossed up a sweet reverse, and LaToya Bond picked up a loose ball and drove through traffic to tie the game at 13 with 10:41 left.

The Lady Bears took over from that point, though, draining seven shots – including two 3-pointers and two free throws – in an 18-6 run for a 31-19 lead with 3:40 remaining in the half. A Cowgill basket with 2:17 left ended the scoring for both teams as SMS took a 14-point lead (33-19) into the locker room.

Poor field-goal shooting plagued the Tigers in the first half; Missouri made just nine of its 34 shots (26.5 percent) in the opening 20 minutes, including just 1-of-9 from long distance. Meanwhile, SMS hit on 46.7 percent (14-of-30) of its shots, including three 3-pointers. In addition, Mizzou was out-rebounded, 22-21, in the first half.

N'Garsanet got the Tigers off to a good start with two quick baskets to open the second half, yet the Lady Bears countered with four buckets, including a pair of Sarah Klaasen 3-pointers, to boost the advantage to 20 (43-23). Over the next eight minutes, the Tigers could only chip the lead down to 15 (50-35) before the Lady Bears went on a 14-4 run – including 12 from Lingor – to run the lead to 25.

#2/2 Stanford 71, Missouri 55

Dec. 18, 2004 – Mizzou Arena

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) – Stanford's Candice Wiggins had a double victory on Saturday.

Wiggins had 12 points and five rebounds to help No. 2 Stanford beat Missouri 71-55. After the game, she learned the Stanford volleyball team, which she redshirted this season, won the NCAA volleyball title.

"I started tearing up," Wiggins said. "It's so amazing, knowing these girls. I'm so happy for them."

Wiggins, Stanford's top scorer at 17.1 points per game, led the Cardinal with eight points at halftime. Brook Smith scored 16 points and dominated in the second half, shooting 6-for-8 for Stanford (8-0).

Kelley Suminski added 13 on her 22nd birthday.

Leading 29-21 after a sluggish first half, the Cardinal scored 15 of the first 21 points of the second half, including eight from Smith. A 16-2 run broke open the game and included four Stanford 3-pointers.

"At halftime, we talked about taking care of the ball," Wiggins said. "I think once we sort of controlled everything and we were able to get into our own flow, it just took off."

Megan Roney led Missouri (4-5) with 13 points. LaToya Bond, the Tigers' second-leading scorer (12.9), was held scoreless in the first half and finished with seven points.

The Cardinal used a fullcourt press to force Missouri out of an offensive rhythm and into 14 turnovers. Coach Tara VanDerveer said the trap, which Stanford has not used much in past years, allowed the Cardinal to take control in the second half.

"I thought we had a really good second half," VanDerveer said. "We got the tempo the way we wanted to, kind of pushing the ball in transition."

Missouri coach Cindy Stein, whose team faces national contenders in Big 12 play every season, called Stanford one of the top teams. "I think we're gonna see them in Indianapolis in the Final Four," Stein said.

The Cardinal entered the game allowing 48.3 points per game, the third fewest in the country. Stanford limited the Tigers to 35-percent shooting.

Missouri 58, Miami (Ohio) 57

Dec. 31, 2004 – Millett Hall

OXFORD, Ohio – Tiffany Brooks hit a turnaround jumper with just 5.9 seconds left to lead Missouri to a 58-57 win at Miami (Ohio) in a New Year's Eve matinee at Millett Hall.

With the Tigers down by one and inbounding the ball at half court following a timeout with 8.0 seconds left, Brooks, playing in just her second game since transferring from Kansas State last winter, took the inbounds pass on the right wing with her back to the basket. She immediately turned and hit a 15-foot jumper, sending the Tiger bench into a frenzy. A runner off the glass by Miami's Nicki Motto bounded away as the buzzer sounded.

Brooks led the Tigers (5-5) with 16 points, while Christelle N'Garsanet added 10 points and nine rebounds, and LaToya Bond added 13 points, seven rebounds, four assists and five steals.

The Tigers took an early 7-3 lead before Miami went on a 13-2 run over the next 2 minutes, 29 seconds for a 16-9 lead at the first media timeout. Yet Mizzou scored the game's next seven points to tie the game with 11:48 left on a 3-pointer by EeTisha Riddle.

The scoring slowed considerably over the next four minutes, as the two teams combined for just three baskets as Miami held a 20-18 lead with 7:33 left in the first. But Missouri hit its stride late in the half to go on a 9-2 run over 6:21; the Tigers held Miami to just one field goal over a span of 5:21. Included in that span was a personal 5-0 run by Bond in 38-second stretch that saw her hit a runner in the lane and convert a 3-point play.

Miami's Cindi Merrill countered with a 7-0 run of her own, and Amber Miller's layup with nine seconds left sent both teams into the locker room tied at 29. The RedHawks, who hit on six of their first 11 baskets, made just six of their last 26 (23.1 percent) to finish the half. Missouri made nearly 42 percent of its first-half shots, yet were out-rebounded 26-19 and committed 10 turnovers.

With Missouri up 36-33, Carlynn Savant hit a pair of 3-pointers over a two-minute period to give the Tigers a 42-38 lead. After Jaclyn Leininger hit a 3-pointer, Merrill continued carrying the RedHawks on her shoulders by scoring Miami's next four points. Then with the Tigers up 51-48, Megan Roney blocked a shot which fell into Bond's arms. Bond drove down on a 2-on-1 and found Riddle open underneath for a 53-48 lead with 5:24 left.

That sparked the RedHawks to a 7-0 run over the next 3:15, as the Tigers were held without a bucket until Bond canned a 3-pointer with 1:36 left for a 56-55 lead. The score would remain that way until Amanda Jackson, who was up for that point, hit a layup with 10 seconds left to set 2-the-game's final play.

Missouri 67, Saint Louis 50

Jan. 2, 2005 – Mizzou Arena

COLUMBIA, Mo. – LaToya Bond scored eight of her game-high 17 points in the final six minutes of play, helping to lead the Missouri women to a 67-50 win over Saint Louis in the teams' final non-conference game Sunday afternoon at Mizzou Arena.

Christelle N'Garsanet and Carlynn Savant each had 16 points for the Tigers (6-5), who have won two games in the last three days. N'Garsanet had a game-high-tying nine rebounds and two steals, while Savant tied her career high in scoring. Tiffany Brooks added 11 points and three assists for Mizzou.

Neither team could find the basket in the opening six minutes of the game, as the two squads combined to make just three of their first 21 shots (14.7 percent), including a 1-for-12 output from Mizzou (8.3 percent). Yet the Tigers made each of their next two buckets underneath to take a 6-5 lead with 13:27 left in the first half.

After their next three points came from the free-throw line, the Tigers upped the lead to 11-5 – in the midst of a 9-0 run – when Bond led a fastbreak and pushed the ball up to Brooks, who instantly passed the ball in mid-air to Megan Roney for an easy layup.

Following a Heather King layup, the Tigers went on a 10-0 run with Blair Hardiek and Savant each hitting 3-pointers in that span. The Tigers made 7 of their 10 shots during the overall 19-2 run that gave Mizzou a 21-7 lead with 9:16 left.

N'Garsanet had 11 points and seven rebounds at halftime, which saw the Tigers take a 30-18 lead at the break, but SLU (1-12) made a 10-5 run to begin the second half. Mia Johnson had half of those points, which allowed the Billikens to close within seven points (35-28) with 14:53 remaining in the game. Bond shut down the Saint Louis rally with a 3-pointer, though, to restore the lead to double digits.

After another SLU surge, Savant hit her second trey of the game with the shot clock running down to push the lead back to 10 (44-34) with 9:27 left. The Bills got within six points on six different occasions, but were rebuffed each time, including on a Johnson jumper with 4:52 left. But the next time down, Brooks converted a 3-point play to start a 13-2 run to close out the game. The Tigers held SLU scoreless over the final 4:12.

Missouri 67, Oklahoma St. 49

Jan. 5, 2004 – Mizzou Arena

COLUMBIA, Mo. – For the first time ever, the Missouri Tigers can say they're in first place in the Big 12 Conference women's basketball race. That's because Mizzou snapped an 11-game winless streak in conference-openers Wednesday night at Mizzou Arena with a 67-49 win over Oklahoma State.

Christelle N'Garsanet had a team-high 20 points and added seven rebounds and five blocks, and LaToya Bond and Tiffany Brooks each added 14 points for the Tigers (7-5, 1-0 Big 12).

The win came in large part thanks to a decisive 26-2 run early in the game. The Cowgirls (5-6, 0-1) took a quick 4-0 lead before Missouri blew the game open. From the 17:59 mark until 4:52 remained in the first half, a Lysie Tischhauser jumper was all a ferocious Missouri defense – which forced nine turnovers and a shot-clock violation in that span – would allow Oklahoma State.

OSU senior Nina Stone, the reigning Big 12 Newcomer of the Year, broke the Cowgirl dry spell with back-to-back layups, yet N'Garsanet scored the last six points of the half on a pair of layups and another pair of free throws. That pushed the Tiger lead to its largest at 22 (32-10). The 10 points allowed were just three shy of the fewest allowed by a Missouri squad in a half, set in 1978 when Saint Louis could muster just seven points.

Although Missouri shot 50 percent in the opening 20 minutes and harassed OSU into 5-for-25 shooting (20 percent), the Cowgirls quickly zoomed off a 13-4 run in the first 5 minutes of the second half to trim the lead to 13. Less than two minutes later, the lead was down to 11 points (38-27) with 13:05 to play. Yet N'Garsanet scored five of the game's next six points, and a 9-0 run with less than 4 minutes left pushed the Tiger margin back over 20 points.

Missouri's biggest advantage came at the free-throw line, where the Tigers out-scored Oklahoma State 26-9. It's Missouri's third-highest free-throw total in the last five years.

Jan. 8, 2004 – Mizzou Arena

COLUMBIA, Mo. – Tiffany Brooks became the first player – male or female – to score 30 points in Mizzou Arena, yet she and her teammates couldn't find the basket down the stretch Saturday night in an 81-74 loss to Nebraska.

Missouri went without a field goal for the last 9 minutes, 46 seconds of the game, allowing Nebraska to come back from a 68-55 deficit. Brooks scored MU's last eight points, all on free throws. The Tigers missed their final 15 shots of the game, which offset a stellar first half that saw Missouri go 17-for-33, including 6-of-10 on 3-pointers. MU ended with a season-high nine treys.

Brooks was 8-of-18 from the field, and 14-of-17 from the free-throw line in becoming the first Tiger to break 30 since Evan Unrau scored 40 in a double-overtime game against Kansas State last year. Carlynn Savant was the only other Tiger to score in double figures, with 14 points. Kiera Hardy led four Huskers in double figures with 23 points; Jessica Gerhart added 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds.

The Tigers started out cold, missing eight of their first nine shots. Nebraska wasn't faring much better, opening just 3-for-13 as the Huskers held a 6-2 lead with 14:13 seconds left in the first half. The Tigers got on a hot streak, though, making their next five buckets – including a 3-pointer by Savant, and another from LaToya Bond on the next possession to give Mizzou a 15-10 lead.

That came in the middle of a 25-9 run over a span of just 6:34, and was sparked by three separate 3-point plays from Brooks. She converted all three opportunities, then added a layup with 7:00 left in the first half to make it 29-17.

Gerhart scored NU's next four points and sparked a 17-9 run to bring Nebraska to within four points (38-34) with 1:06 left in the half. But Kassie Drew canned a 3-pointer – her first field goal in four games – and Brooks hit a jumper to send the Tigers into the locker room with a 43-34 lead. After their cold-shooting start, Mizzou made 16 of their next 24 shots, and finished the half shooting 52 percent.

Blair Hardiek pushed the lead to 12 (51-39) with 16:56 left after banking in a 3-pointer with the shot clock running down. Luck found the Tigers again with 12:22 remaining when Savant's fourth 3-point attempt of the game hit the back of the rim, bounded straight up, and fell for a 62-51 lead.

A pair of Brooks free throws pushed the lead to 13 with 8:26 left, but the Huskers trimmed the lead to three over the next 3-1/2 minutes. After three more Brooks free throws on consecutive possessions, Nebraska went on a 14-1 run to close the game, taking their final lead on a Gerhart jumper with 1:42 left.

#23 Kansas St. 87, Missouri 44

Jan. 11, 2004 – Bramlage Coliseum

MANHATTAN, Kan. – Kendra Wecker posted game highs of 25 points and 12 rebounds, and Laurie Koehn hit five 3-pointers to lead No. 23 Kansas State to a 87-44 win over Missouri in Big 12 Conference action Tuesday night at Bramlage Coliseum. The 43-point margin is Missouri's largest in nine years of Big 12 play, topping an 84-47 loss at Nebraska in 1997.

Missouri was led in scoring by LaToya Bond, who had 14 points and three assists. Tiffany Brooks, playing her first game against the Wildcats since transferring from KSU last winter, added 13 points.

After the two teams traded baskets to start the game, KSU went on a 9-0 run capped by a pair of Claire Coggins buckets and a Megan Mahoney 3-point play. Brooks hit a turnaround jumper on the right sideline to pull Mizzou within seven (11-4) with 15:53 left.

K-State went on an 8-2 run after that basket, capped by a Wecker layup off a no-look pass from Twigg McIntyre. Brooks drew a charge, though, and then drove the left side the next time down to make it 19-8 with 12:09 remaining in the first half.

Yet the Wildcats answered with another run, this time a 9-0 spurt that was stopped only when Bond drained a 3-pointer with 7:11 left for Mizzou's first field goal in nearly five minutes. Coming out of the eight-minute timeout, though, Kansas State pushed the margin to 24 (35-11) following another 7-0 run.

Blair Hardiek drove for a layup coming out of the four-minute timeout, and a steal and an acrobatic layup gave the Tigers back-to-back baskets for the first time in the game and also pulled them within 20, before Kansas State scored the final four points of the half and took a 39-15 lead into the locker room. The Tigers were limited to just six field goals on 26 attempts (23.1 percent), and just 1-of-10 shooting from 3-point range.

Carlynn Savant started the Tigers off well with her first 3-pointer of the game, yet a Bond free-throw had all Mizzou could muster in a 2-minute stretch that saw Wecker hit three buckets, and Koehn another off a steal.

The KSU lead grew to 52-19 with 16:19 left, and twice reached as large as 37 before Mizzou scored three of the next four baskets. Yet the Wildcats reeled off another run, pushing the margin to 40, the range it remained for the rest of the game.
