TIM JAMIESON

Head Coach
New Orleans '81
13th season at MU • 399-290-2

#9

The third-winningest coach in Mizzou Baseball history, Tim Jamieson, will enter his 13th season as the head coach of the Tigers in 2006-07, making him the second-longest tenured coach in the Big 12 Conference. Jamieson enters the season just one win shy of 400 career victories, ranking behind only legendary MU coaches John "Hi" Simmons and Gene McArtor, both of whom have their numbers retired at Missouri.

A native of Columbia, Jamieson grew up attending several Tigers' games. After his playing days at the University of New Orleans, he spent six seasons on the UNO coaching staff before returning to Columbia in 1988 where he was an assistant coach under McArtor for six seasons before becoming head coach following the 1994 season.

During his time leading the Tigers, Mizzou has been a force to reckon with in the Big 12 Conference as well as nationally; recording at least 30 wins in 10 of the last 11 seasons. Missouri has advanced to the NCAA Tournament five times under Jamieson and is one of just 22 teams in the nation that have advanced to the last four NCAA Tournaments. Only one other Big 12 team, Texas, can make that claim.

Jamieson and the Tigers are coming off a 2006 season which saw the school's first-ever NCAA Regional Championship, as Mizzou rallied to win four-straight games in Malibu to advance to the Super Regional round of 16. The Tigers finished the season ranked No. 16, which marked a school best.

Under Jamieson, Missouri has had five student-athletes named All-America and eight have earned Freshman All-American accolades. Jamieson has seen 38 of his players selected in the Major League Baseball Draft, including Missouri's first-ever First Round pick, Max Scherzer, who was selected by Arizona with the 11th overall pick last June. Six Tigers were taken in last June's draft, with two selected in the first four rounds.

Jamieson's teams have also succeeded in the classroom, as eight Academic All-Americans have played under Jamieson and 60 Tigers have earned Academic All-Conference recognition since 1995, including a record nine selections in 2006.

Jamieson was chosen to serve as an assistant coach for Team USA in 2005, helping the National team to a 16-4 record traveling to Japan and Taiwan, along with playing games in the states. He was accompanied by Missouri players Max Scherzer and Hunter Mense on Team USA, the first National team representatives for MU since 1991.

Jamieson took over the reins of the Tigers when McArtor, whose 733 wins is the most in school history, retired from coaching after the 1994 season.

In just his second season at the helm, Jamieson led the Tigers to 1996 Big Eight Conference crown, as Missouri went 39-19 and 20-8 in the Big Eight after being projected to finish seventh in the conference by most publications, leading Jamieson to being named the Big Eight Conference Coach of the Year.

That season the Tigers climbed as high as 17th in the national polls, marking the first time they had been ranked since 1991 and advanced to the NCAA Midwest Regional. In winning the regular season race, Mizzou became the first school other than Oklahoma State and Oklahoma to claim the conference title in 16 years.

Jamieson would lead the Tigers to 30-win seasons in each of the next five seasons as they would make a pair of trips to the Big 12 Tournament semifinals during that stretch.

In 2003, the Tigers finished in fourth place in the Big 12 Conference and received a bid to the NCAA Regionals, the first of four-consecutive trips to the postseason. The 2003 Tigers compiled a record of 36-22 on the year and at one point were ranked as high as No. 19 in the nation by Collegiate Baseball and finished the year ranked 12th in the nation in scoring.

Another 30-win season and a second-straight trip to the NCAA Regionals highlighted the 2004 campaign, as the

the first time since 1991. MU finished fourth in the Big 12 regular season for the second time in three years and advanced to the semifinals of the conference tournament before advancing to their third-consecutive NCAA Tournament. It was the 17th trip to the NCAA Tournament in school history and the fourth under Jamieson.

Success was also part of Jamieson's time away from MU. He was a member of three NCAA Tournament clubs and was selected to the 1980 All-NCAA South Regional Team as a standout catcher at New Orleans from 1878-81. He was named the team's most valuable player after his senior season, as he hit Tigers finished with 38 wins, the most since the 1996 season. Missouri claimed series victories over Texas, Nebraska and Oklahoma State in 2004 and reached the championships game of the Big 12 Tournament in Arlington, Texas.

Missouri surpassed that win total in 2005, by reaching the 40-win mark for the first time under Jamieson and for .300 with eight home runs and 68 RBI, in leading the Privateers to the NCAA Midwest Regional.

As an assistant coach at UNO, he was instrumental in guiding the Privateers to four NCAA Regional appearances (1984, 1985, 1987, 1988) and a spot in the 1984 College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

His MU roots run throughout his family as his father, Dick Jamieson, was a former offensive coordinator under football coach Al Onofrio. The elder Jamieson also spent several years in the National Football League. His brother, Jeff, is a graduate of Missouri's School of Law and his sister, Judi, also attended MU.

Jamieson received his bachelor's and master's degrees in business administration from New Orleans.

A graduate of Rock Bridge High (Columbia), Jamieson is married to the former Cindy Thornton, a graduate of Mizzou and Rock Bridge High School in Columbia. They are the parents of two sons, Mickey (9) and Ty (8).

EVAN PRATTE

Assistant Coach
Southwest Missouri St., '91
10th season at MU

Tim Jamieson's top assistant, Evan Pratte, will enter his 10th season in the Tigers' dugout.

One of the best hitters while at Southwest Missouri State (now Missouri State), Pratte has helped 23 Mizzou hitters to All-Conference honors as the Tigers' hitting coach, along with his duties coaching the infielders and serving as the third base coach.

Several of Pratte's lineups at Missouri have posted solid offensive numbers.

In 1998, the Tigers hit a school-record 110 home runs – a figure that ranked sixth nationally– and also posted a school record .572 slugging percentage. The 2001 squad tied a Mizzou record with 83 stolen bases, matching the record set in 1979.

Last season, Mizzou scored 10 or more runs in 13 games and in 2005, the Tigers ranked 12th in the nation in scoring, averaging 8.1 runs per game. MU has had five players hit over .300 in each of the last two seasons.

Pratte joined the Missouri coaching staff in 1998 via his alma mater, where he served as a volunteer assistant coach for two seasons.

Pratte graduated from SMS following a four-year career with the Bears, in which he led the team to three conference crowns as a standout infielder from 1988-91. He was a first-team all-conference pick in 1990 and 1991 and added all-region honors in 1991.

Still a record holder in many categories in SMS history, he finished his career with 18 home runs, 152 runs batted in and a .335 batting average in 220 games. He held the records in games played, at-bats, hits, singles, total bases, sacrifice hits, assists and double plays when his college career ended.

He also ranks among the Bears' all-time leader in nearly a dozen other categories.

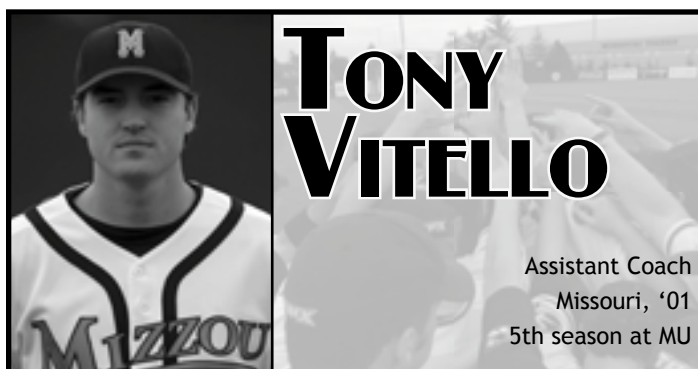

Between his collegiate playing days and his coaching career, Pratte played five seasons in the Detroit Tigers' organization, including stops in Niagara Falls, Fayetteville, London, Lakeland and Trenton. He led in several offensive categories during his time in Niagara Falls and Fayetteville.

Pratte's first coaching position came as the head coach of the National Baseball Congress' Nevada (Mo.) Griffons in 1997, where he led the team to a 46-15 record. The Griffons won the League by six games and placed second in the 32-team NBC World Series in his only season as the team's skipper.

Pratte's wife, Jill, works as a certified athletic trainer at Central Methodist University in Fayette, Mo. They have one son, Paul Evan (1).

The Pratte Family: Evan, Paul and Jill.

In his fifth season on the Missouri coaching staff, Tony Vitello has been a part of the Tiger Baseball program for eight years. He works primarily as the pitching coach, while assisting the hitters and serving as the first base coach. He is also the Tigers' recruiting coordinator.

Since Vitello joined the Missouri staff as a full-time assistant in 2004, the Tigers' ERA has improved from 5.07 in 2003 to 3.36 in 2006, including a 3.17 in 2005. The 3.36 mark in 2006 led in the Big 12 Conference and was 11th best in the nation.

Vitello helped mold Max Scherzer into the 11th overall draft pick in last June's Major League Baseball Draft. Scherzer, the 2005 Big 12 Pitcher of the Year and one of the nation's top pitchers the last two years, improved from an ERA of 5.85 as a freshman in 2004 to a dominate 1.86 in his sophomore season when he led the Big 12 in ERA, strikeouts (131) and opponents' batting average (.163). Last year, Scherzer had a 2.25 ERA despite fighting injuries much of the season.

In 2006, the MU pitching staff recorded seven shutouts and held opponents to two or fewer runs in 19 of the 63 games. In the NCAA Regional, a pair of freshmen, Rick Zagone and Aaron Crow, recorded back-to-back complete game victories, each allowing just one run on six hits, as Mizzou went on to claim the Malibu Regional Championship.

During the 2005 season, the Tigers had a stretch of 26-innings without allowing a run from March 14-19 after having a 23-scoreless inning stretch earlier that season. One of the most impressive pitching outings in recent history came against Texas Tech in April of 2005 when the Missouri recorded the first no-hitter at MU since 1981.

Over the past three seasons, 13 Mizzou pitchers have been drafted in the Major League Baseball Draft, with five of those eight being selected in the top five rounds. Last year, five Mizzou pitchers were taken in the draft with two drafted in the first four rounds.

Prior to joining the staff, Vitello was a three-year letterwinner for the Tigers, where he earned Academic All-Big 12 Conference accolades as a senior and was a two-time member of the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll.

Following his playing career and the completion of his management degree at MU, Vitello joined the Mizzou coaching staff as a volunteer assistant in 2003. He also completed his course work for his master's degree in business. The following season he was elevated to full time assistant coach.

He was a four-year letterwinner at DeSmet Jesuit High School in St. Louis, where he played for his father, Greg, who has coached at the school for 37 years.

Additionally, Vitello was the Associate Head Coach for the Salina Packers of the California Collegiate League in 2002. The Packers finished 50-14 and earned their first and only trip ever to the NBC World Series in Wichita, Kan.

Brian DeLunas joins the Mizzou staff this season as a volunteer assistant coach. Along with working with the Tigers' pitchers on the field, DeLunas will help direct the on and off campus baseball camps for Mizzou.

DeLunas comes to Missouri after spending two seasons as an assistant coach at Forest Park Community College in St. Louis, where he served as pitching coach. FPCC made its first appearance at the NJCAA World Series and beat No. 1 ranked Mesa Community College in 2005 with DeLunas on staff.

The pitching staff for Forest Park had an ERA under 3.00 and allowed a total of two runs in the NJCAA Super Regionals.

Prior to his stint at FPCC, DeLunas was the head coach for the Rawling Prospects, an organization that has had 16 pitchers drafted since 2000, including three first round picks, and has sent 84 players to Division I baseball programs.

DeLunas attended Harris-Stowe University in 1993-94 and St. Louis Community College in 1994-95 before finishing his collegiate career at Missouri Baptist from 1996-98, earning all-conference honors in 1998.

He then played for the Valmeyer Lakers of the Monclaire League from 1999-2003.

#12

Luke Cassis, a letterwinner for the Tigers from 1999-2002, enters his third season as part of the Mizzou Baseball staff. Cassis serves as the Director of Operations, assisting with the day-to-day operations for the Tiger baseball program.

He also has a role in Mizzou's recruiting efforts, while assisting with the Mizzou Baseball camps and organizing special events.

As a player he was a regular in the lineup, as his ability to play any position on the infield led to him playing in 183 games for Mizzou, starting 157 during his career.

Following his playing days, he joined the Missouri staff as a student assistant before taking over the role of Director of Operations in 2005.

Cassis also spent two seasons as an analyst for the Tigers' radio broadcast, joining Tex Little in the broadcast booth.

A native of Wheaton, Ill., Cassis was a three-year starter for Wheaton North High School, earning All-Conference and All-Area honors twice and was a four-time Academic All-Conference selection.

KEITH CATON

Strength & Conditioning
Southern Mississippi, '01
2nd season at MU

Keith Caton was named Assistant Director of Strength and Conditioning in August 2005. His main responsibilities are assisting with the player development program for football as well as the design and implementation of programs for the Missouri baseball team. He is also the Director of the Mizzou Performance Club.

Caton came to Missouri via Western Kentucky, where he was the Assistant Director of Strength and Conditioning. Prior to Western Kentucky, Caton was at Elon University. In January 2004 Caton was named the Head Strength and Conditioning Coach in charge of all sports for Elon.

He was a graduate assistant at Auburn from the summer of 2001 to April 2003, and graduated from AU with an Educational Specialist Degree in 2003.

Caton played football for Southern Mississippi for four years. Following his playing days he remained at USM as a strength and conditioning graduate assistant. He received both his undergraduate degree in the spring of 1999 in Exercise Physiology and his master's in May of 2001 in Coaching/Sports Administration from USM.

Caton holds certifications from the National Strength and Conditioning Association and the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association. Caton is married to the former Adriene Marie Ratcliff of Mobile, Ala.

MATT LONG

Prior to Mizzou, Long worked at Kansas State University managing assignments from a variety of teams that ranged from track and field and volleyball to football and men's basketball.

A native of Albuquerque, N.M., Long is a Kansas State graduate, earning a bachelor's degree in Athletic Training and Kinesiology.

JOSH MURRAY

Media Relations
Missouri, '01
6th season at MU

Josh Murray is in his sixth year at Mizzou and his fourth season working with the Tiger baseball program.

Murray is responsible for all media relations aspects concerning the Tigers. Along with his role with the baseball Tigers, he also works with the Missouri football and golf programs.

Since he joined the Mizzou staff in 2001, Murray has worked with the wrestling, softball, tennis and volleyball teams, while also serving as the secondary football contact and assisting with men's and women's basketball.

He directed the media relations operations of the 2003 Big 12 Wrestling Championships and assisted at the 2003 NCAA Wrestling Championships in Kansas City. Murray has also assisted at the 2000 and 2002 Big 12 Track and Field Championships and was an assistant with the Big 12 Conference at the 2001 Big 12 Men's Basketball Tournament.

Murray is a member of the National Collegiate Baseball Writers' Association and the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).

A native of Warsaw, Mo., Murray graduated from Missouri in 2001 with a Bachelor's of Journalism Degree.

KIM MARTIN

Academic Coordinator
Missouri, '01
4th season at MU

Kim Martin is in her fourth year at Mizzou, serving as the Academic Coordinator for the Tiger baseball team.

She coordinates the academic support services for the Tigers, monitoring their academic progress and counseling them on issues such as course and major selection. Her duties also include assisting with scheduling and tutors, interaction with professors and helping student-athletes stay on track to graduate.

Martin was a member of the Mizzou Swimming and Diving team from 1997-2001.

She joined the Total Person Program Staff in 2002. Martin also works with the swimming and diving, gymnastics, and tennis teams at Missouri.

Martin holds two degrees from MU- a bachelor's in communications, which she earned in 2001, and a Master's of Higher Education with an emphasis in student affairs administration, which she earned in 2004.

Martin and her husband, Chad, reside in Columbia and have one son, Tyler, born June 7, 2006.

INTRODUCING EXOGRID.

EXTREME DOMINATION CONTINUES.

IT'S BEEN PROVEN IN 5 STRAIGHT
NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS:
LOUISVILLE SLUGGER'S STIFF-HANDLE BATS OUTPERFORM THE COMPETITION'S FLEXIBLE-HANDLE DESIGNS.

Now, we've taken stiff-handle technology to a totally new level with the revolutionary, new Exogrid. See what the buzz is all about—wrap your hands around the best-performing bat ever produced by Louisville Slugger. You'll see why bats that bend don't win. And why Louisville Slugger dominates, year after year.

ONE-PIECE CONSTRUCTION

The competition's two-piece designs result in weakness at the handle/barrel joint. Our one-piece construction ensures maximum strength and better performance.

INTERNAL CARBON COMPOSITE SLEEVE

A carbon sleeve provides greater handle stiffness than aluminum, alone, ever could.

CARBON COMPOSITE INSERTS

The metal is trimmed in a grid pattern, then replaced with carbon composite inserts that are several times stronger and lighter than the original metal.

EXCLUSIVE EXOGRID FUSION PROCESS

Using heat and extreme pressure, the sleeve, inserts and metal wall are bonded to function as a single, solid unit.

ST-20 ALLOY

The strongest alloy available today.

WHY BATS THAT BEND DON'T WIN.

The last thing you want at the moment of contact is for your bat handle to flex. When the handle flexes, the barrel can't. That reduces your trampoline effect. A stiff handle produces more barrel flex, resulting in maximum trampoline effect and, ultimately, greater performance.

Stiff handle: Maximum performance and energy transfer.

Flex handle: Reduced performance and loss of energy.
