Last Time vs. Florida

The Tigers earned their first SEC win against the Gators this season, 66-47. Senior Morgan Eye knocked down four triples and finished the night with a game-high 18 points to help overcome a halftime deficit and put the Tigers on top. In the annual Black Out game, Mizzou's strong first-half effort helped the Tigers to come back from a 10-point deficit. Mizzou went on an 8-0 run, capped off with a jumper and two foul shots from Morgan Eye to put the Tigers ahead of Florida. Eye's jumper put the Tigers ahead by just one, (20-19) about nine minutes before the halftime break. The Gators ended up taking a lead into halftime, but the Tigers used another 8-0 run to take their final lead of the game with just under 12 minutes left in the half. The Tigers never looked back, pulling ahead of the Gators by 20 for their largest lead of the game.

Scouting the Gators

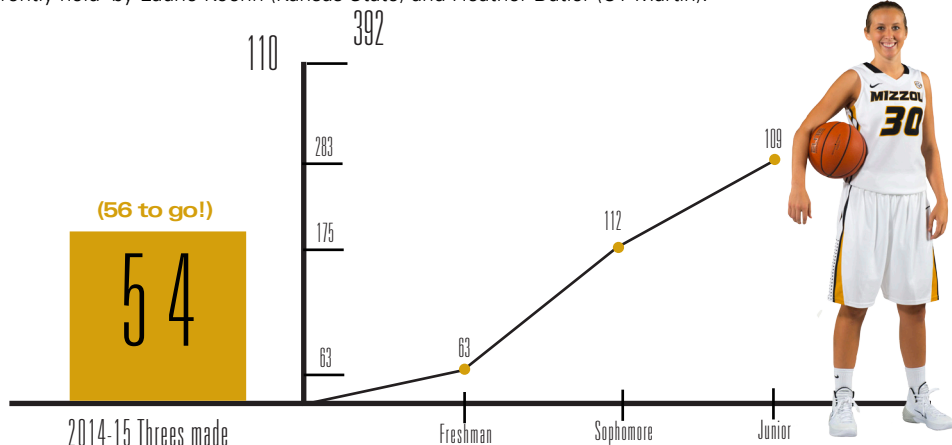

The Gators are 10-10 on the season, coming off of a hard-fought win over Arkansas. Led by Ronni Williams, who averages almost 10 points each game, and Kayla Lewis who grabs more than seven rebounds a game, the Gators are looking for their third SEC win of the season. Florida has tallied victories over Arkansas and at Auburn so far this season.

Quick Hits

- It's no secret that sophomore Jordan Frericks is Mizzou's weapon on the glass. She is averaging 9.7 rebounds per game and stands as the first Tiger to average more than nine rebounds per game since Kesha Bonds averaged 9.5 rpg in the 1998-99 season.
- #RoadWarrior: In road games this year, Jordan Frericks averages an impressive 19 points and 11 rebounds per game. She accounts for 32-percent of the team's points and 27-percent of the team's rebounds in road games.
- In 20 games this season the Tigers have allowed just three teams to shoot better than 40-percent in a game. In fact, the Tigers have limited opponents to less than 37-percent shooting in 14 of 19 games, winning 11 of those 14 contests. Mizzou has not allowed an opponent to shoot better than 40-percent in 10 of 11 games with the high-water mark in that span coming from Arkansas, which shot 37.1-percent.
- The 47 points allowed by Mizzou against Florida are the fewest that the Tigers have ever allowed in a regular season SEC game since joining the league and match the fewest ever in an SEC game allowed by the Tigers (Mizzou held Vanderbilt to 53 in the SEC Tournament in 2012-13)
- Mizzou has been getting it done with defense so far this season. In fact, in 12 of the Tigers' games this season, they have held their opponents to 60 or fewer points. Of course, Mizzou has won nine of those 12 contests. Mizzou held its opponents to 60 or fewer points just 11 times last season. In fact, Mizzou has won 18 of its last 22 games when holding opponents to fewer than 60 points (dating back to the start of last season).
- A big reason why Mizzou's defense has been so stingy is the fact that they are limiting opponents to 34.1-percent shooting this season, 2nd in the SEC and the 11th in the nation.
- The Tigers have also made a living on limiting second-chance points this season. In eight games this year, Mizzou has limited its opponent to single-digit second-chance points. The last time coming against Florida, when the Tigers allowed the Gators just three second-chance points.
- Jordan Frericks sits at No. 52 in the nation for her rebounding numbers so far this season. Not only that, but the Tigers are outrebounding opponents by 5.2 rebounds per game, good for 59th in the nation.
- The Tigers have gone hard on the glass this season, outrebounding opponents in 15 games so far this year. The Tigers grabbed a season-high 55 rebounds against UNLV on Nov. 21. Mizzou has tallied 50 or more boards in three games.

MORGAN EYE...FOR THREE

It's no secret that senior Morgan Eye can make a few three-pointers each game. In her sophomore season, Eye set a new Southeastern Conference and Mizzou school record with 112 three-pointers made. Her 3.5 threes per game made her the 2012-13 NCAA National Statistical Champion for the season as well. This year, Eye is just 56 threes away from breaking the NCAA Career three-pointers record (392), which is currently held by Laurie Koehn (Kansas State) and Heather Butler (UT Martin).

Home Court Advantage

Mizzou Arena is truly a difficult place for the Tiger opponents this season. Mizzou is outscoring opponents by 9.5 points on their home turf. The Tigers are holding opponents to just over 32-percent shooting and forcing more than 16 turnovers per game on Norm Stewart Court. The Tigers knock down an average of 8.6 triples per game thanks to senior Morgan Eye who has hit 37 of her 53 three-pointers at home this season. The Tigers allow opponents an average of only six threes each game.

A Helping Hand

Under Pingeton, the Tigers have been known for their unselfish style of play. This is apparent in that the Tigers average three more assists per game than opponents. The Tigers are averaging more than 13 assists per game this season. In four of Pingeton's five years, the Tigers have averaged 13 or more assists per game, highlighted by last season's 15.5 assists per game. Five Tigers have dished out more than 25 assists so far this season, led by acting point guard Lindsey Cunningham who has tallied 50 dimes this year.

A few Ouchies

The injury bug has certainly hit Mizzou this year as the Tigers have seen several players suffer season ending injuries this season. Because of those injuries, Mizzou's production has been cut by a possible 20.8 points and 14.3 points per game. Sophomore Lianna Doty suffered an injury to her Lisfranc Ligament prior to the season, junior Michelle Hudyn was out for several games from a stress reaction, freshman Carrie Shephard also suffered from a stress reaction in addition to several stress fractures in her leg. Sophomore Kayla McDowell and Freshman Bri Porter will sit out for the season due to ACL tears.

Tigers Set the Limits

Looking deeper into the defensive numbers, the Tigers have done a nice job of limiting their opponents to below their season averages this season. In fact, 10 Tiger opponents have all scored an average of 14.5 points below their season average when facing the Tigers...

- o SLU was averaging 68.1 ppg before Mizzou limited it to 50 points on Dec. 8
- o Colorado was averaging 79.6 ppg before Mizzou limited it to 50 points on Dec. 12
- o NIU was averaging 53.2 ppg before Mizzou limited it to 44 on Dec. 14
- o Wake Forest was averaging 70.4 before Mizzou limited it to 64 on Dec. 20
- o UT Martin was averaging 66.9 before scoring just 65 against Mizzou on Dec. 22.
- o Missouri State was averaging 58.6 before scoring just 57 against Mizzou on Dec. 30
- o Tennessee was averaging 75.4 before scoring just 63 against Mizzou on Jan. 2
- o Mississippi State was averaging 83.4 before scoring just 53 against Mizzou on Jan. 4
- o Mizzou allowed Florida just 47 points on Jan. 11, below its season average of 67.8
- o South Carolina was averaging 80.1 ppg before scoring just 60 points on Jan. 15

Her Aimess

Sophomore Jordan Frericks is off to a great start this season. She leads the Tigers in several categories including scoring (12.8 ppg), field goals made (4.8), rebounds per game (9.7), steals (2.0) and blocks (1.5 per game). Not only does she lead the Tigers with her six double-doubles on the season, but she has put up 20 or more points in three games this season.

Frericks ranks among the top 10 in four of the SEC's major statistical categories. She ranks second in rebounding and 12th in scoring as she has arguably been the Tigers' most productive player this season. Frericks has now reached double-figure scoring in 13 games this season including a career-high 27 at Bradley (12/6).

What is even more impressive for Frericks is her rebounding ability coupled with her scoring. She is almost averaging a double-double with 12.8 ppg and 9.7 rpg and she has eclipsed double-digit rebounds in seven games, including a career-high 17 at Bradley. The last player at Mizzou to finish a season averaging a double-double was Kesha Bonds during the 1997-98 season.

Frericks is also the first Tiger to average more than nine rebounds per game since Bonds did in the 1998-99 season.

Short but Steady

The Tiger bench may be a little shorter this season, but Mizzou's bench has outscored its opponents in 15 games this season, led by junior Maddie Stock who averages 7.0 ppg when coming off the bench. Mizzou averages 23.6 points per game off the pine, almost 38-percent of the Tigers' scoring this season, while outscoring opponents by 6.3 points per game.

League Leading Ladies

• Mizzou's defensive rebounding percentage is fourth in the SEC at 70.2-percent, while Mizzou's 43.2 rebounds per game this season sit third in the league while its 29.9 defensive rebounds are tops. The Tigers are outrebounding opponents by 5.2 rebounds per game, good for sixth in the SEC also.

• Mizzou's 40.7 rebounds per game in league play rank second in the conference.

• Mizzou's defensive efforts don't stop there, the Tigers are holding opponents to just 34.1-percent shooting, a number that is second in the league only to No. 1 South Carolina.

• Mizzou of course leads the SEC in 3-point FGs made as well, averaging 7.7 per game. The Tigers have sunk eight or more 3-pointers in six games this season. Mizzou has also hit seven or more 3-pointers in 10 games as well.

• The Tigers are shooting 32-percent from distance this season, a figure that sits sixth in the league.

• The Tigers knocked down 14 treys against Western Illinois and 13 against UT Martin this season, two of the best performances from distance in the league this season. Only Arkansas has come close, knocking down 12 three-pointers against Northwestern State. Mizzou's 34 3-point attempts against UNLV are an SEC-high in 2014-15.

Block Party

Mizzou has tallied 74 blocks so far this season, thanks mostly to sophomore Jordan Frericks who has 29 rejections so far. The Tigers average almost four blocks per game, which puts the team on track to surpass last year's total of 102 blocks on the season. Frericks tallied 38 blocks last year, meaning she needs just 10 more to pass her total. Should she record more than 45 rejections, she will break into Mizzou's top-10 for blocked shots in a season.

Stealing the Show

The Tigers are also on track to surpass last year's steal total (198). Mizzou has 145 steals on the season, once again led by Frericks (39). Should the Tigers continue to average more than seven steals per game, the team will end up with the most steals since the 2009-10 season when Mizzou finished with 238 steals on the year.

Tigers take advantage of Charity

Mizzou knows the importance of free throws. Four Tigers are shooting 70-percent or better from the charity stripe so far this season including Morgan Eye, Bree Fowler, Lindsey Cunningham and Maddie Stock. The Tigers were 4-for-6 from the line in the last minute and half of play against Colorado, using their foul shots to take the final lead in the game. Junior Juanita Robinson was 6-for-6 from the line in the first half against Wake Forest, helping Mizzou to top the Demon Deacons.

Both Jordan Frericks and Sierra Michaelis came home from Hawaii with trophies after being named to the Wahine Classic All-Tournament Team. Frericks helped the Tigers to a win over UNLV with her first double-double of the season, while Michaelis was just a point short of her career-best, tallying 17 points against No. 14 California.

Tigers Welcome Three for 2015

Freshmen Phenoms

Mizzou's three sophomores, Jordan Frericks, Kayla McDowell and Sierra Michaelis, finished last season as arguably one of Missouri's most productive freshman classes as the three newcomers averaged 19.2 points per game on 45.4-percent shooting. The trio averaged 13.6 rebounds and 2.6 assists in 16.9 minutes on the floor per game while committing just four turnovers each contest. Mizzou had not seen that type of production out of its freshmen since the 1996-97 season when Julie Helm, Amy Monsees and Ekpedeme Akpaffiong averaged 25.4 points per game on 43.6-percent shooting. The 96-97 trio averaged 9.4 rebounds per game while dishing 4.4 assists and averaging 6.5 turnovers a game. As freshmen, the three rejected 57 shots to the 96-97 year's 10.

Morgan Eye Eams Preseason Recognition

Senior Morgan Eye was recognized by the Southeastern Conference coaches on Nov. 5 as she was named to the SEC Preseason All-SEC Second Team. Eye returns as Mizzou's leading scorer after averaging 12.9 points per game last season. The league's coaches also predicted Missouri to finish 11th overall in the league this season. South Carolina tops the order of finish with 169 points, with Tennessee (155), Texas A&M (144), Kentucky (135), Georgia (108), Vanderbilt (107), and LSU (94) rounding out the top half the league. Mississippi State (87), Florida (86), Auburn (53), Arkansas (40), Alabama (25) and Ole Miss (23) round out the bottom half.

STUDENT-Athletes

The Tigers have seen consistent improvement in the classroom under head coach Robin Pingeton. An increasing number of student athletes are earning academic recognition from the conference office each season. In 2011, The Tigers had just two Academic All-Big 12 selections. That number increased to seven in 2012. In 2013, Mizzou earned nine academic honors from the SEC office before increasing the tally to 10 honors last season including Lianna Doty's SEC Scholar Athlete of the Year award.

Handing out Assists

Mizzou has also spent an increasing amount of time out in the community under Pingeton's direction. The Tigers logged just 260 hours of community service in the 2010-11 season, but have steadily increased that number to 358 hours last season. Mizzou has logged more than 180 hours so far this year.
