Last Time vs. Mississippi State

The Tigers and the Bulldogs last met at the SEC tournament last season, senior Bri Kulas led the Tigers with 18 points and 11 rebounds for her sixth double-double of the season, however it wasn't enough to put the Tigers on top of the Mississippi State Bulldogs. The Tigers fell 73-70 to MSU in a hard-fought contest to drop to 17-13 on the season. Mississippi State last came to Mizzou Arena in February of the 2012-13 season. Despite dropping to the Bulldogs, Morgan broke the previous school record for threes in a season. Eye's tally for the year was then up to 92, breaking the previously-held record of 90 that was set by Alyssa Hollins in the 2007-08 season

Scouting the Bulldogs

The undefeated Bulldogs come to Missouri off of a win over Georgia. Mississippi State is 16-0 on the season, led by Victoria Vivians who averages over 15 points per game. Martha Alwal leads the Bulldogs in rebounding, averaging just over nine rebounds each contest. The Bulldogs' SEC-leading scoring average is eighth-highest in the nation. State has eclipsed 80 points in 10 contests.

Quick Hits

- Mizzou's win over Northern Illinois marks the Tigers' 31st consecutive non-conference win inside Mizzou Arena. The streak dates back to Mizzou's win over UT Martin on Dec. 7, 2010. The Tigers have won nine straight games in the Arena, dating back to Mizzou's win over Ole Miss on Feb. 27 last season.

- Last time out, Mizzou limited Tennessee to 31.3-percent shooting, the second-lowest clip of the season for the No. 8-ranked Lady Vols. The Lady Vols came into the game shooting 42-percent as a team. It was also the best FG percentage defense that the Tigers have had against an SEC opponent since Jan. 30 of last season against Vanderbilt when they limited the 'Dores to 22.2-percent shooting. That was a span of nine SEC games. It was the third-best defensive performance of the season for Mizzou (29.2 vs. WIU and 30.2 at Wake Forest).

- Looking deeper into the opponent shooting numbers, in 14 games this season the Tigers have allowed just two teams to shoot better than 40-percent in a game. In fact, the Tigers have limited opponents to less than 37-percent shooting in 11 of 14 games, winning 10 of those 11 contests. Mizzou has not allowed an opponent to shoot better than 40-percent in seven consecutive games with the high-water mark in that span coming from UT Martin, which shot 37-percent.

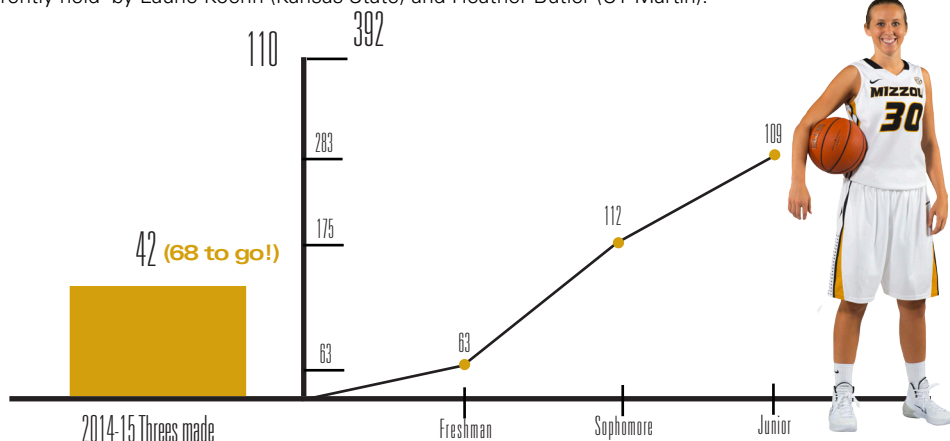

- Mizzou has been getting it done with defense so far this season. In fact, in nine of the Tigers' 13 games this season, they have held their opponents to 60 or fewer points. Of course, Mizzou has won all eight of those nine contests. Mizzou held its opponents to 60 or fewer points just 11 times last season. In fact, Mizzou has won 17 of its last 20 games when holding opponents to fewer than 60 points (dating back to the start of last season).

- The Injury Bug has certainly hit Mizzou this year as the Tigers have seen several players suffer season ending injuries this season. Because of those injuries, Mizzou's production has been cut by a possible 20.8 points and 14.3 points per game. Sophomore Lianna Doty suffered an injury to her Lisfranc Ligament prior to the season, junior Michelle Hudyn was out for several games from a stress reaction, freshman Carrie Shephard also suffered from a stress reaction in addition to several stress fractures in her leg. Sophomore Kayla McDowell and Freshman Bri Porter will sit out for the season due to ACL tears.

- A big reason why Mizzou's defense has been so stingy is the fact that they are limiting opponents to 34-percent shooting this season, the fourth-best mark in the SEC.

MORGAN EYE...FOR THREE

It's no secret that senior Morgan Eye can make a few three-pointers each game. In her sophomore season, Eye set a new Southeastern Conference and Mizzou school record with 112 three-pointers made. Her 3.5 threes per game made her the 2012-13 NCAA National Statistical Champion for the season as well. This year, Eye is just 68 threes away from breaking the NCAA Career three-pointers record (392), which is currently held by Laurie Koehn (Kansas State) and Heather Butler (UT Martin).

• Jordan Frericks sits at No. 38 in the nation for her rebounding numbers so far this season. Not only that, but the Tigers are outrebounding opponents by 8.4 rebounds per game, good for 34th in the nation.

• Mizzou's bench is doing work this season as it is averaging 25.7 points per game, 40-percent of the team's total offensive output this season. Mizzou's bench is outscoring opponents, by more than 10 points so far this season. Sierra Michaelis (9.8) and Maddie Stock (5.5) are leading the Tigers off the pine this season.

• Mizzou is leading a balanced scoring attack this season; four Tigers are averaging eight or more points through 14 games, while three more are averaging more than five points per game.

• Mizzou Arena is truly a difficult place for the Tiger opponents this season. Mizzou is outrebounding opponents by more than 18 points on their home turf. The Tigers are holding opponents to just over 31-percent shooting and forcing 16 turnovers per game on Norm Stewart Court.

Tigers Set the Limits

Looking deeper into the defensive numbers, the Tigers have done a nice job of limiting their opponents to below their season averages over the last seven games. In fact, the last seven Tiger opponents have all scored below their season average and have averaged a combined 11.4 points per game below their season average. Below is a look.

- o SLU was averaging 68.1 ppg before Mizzou limited it to 50 points on Dec. 8
- o Colorado was averaging 79.6 ppg before Mizzou limited it to 50 points on Dec. 12
- o NIU was averaging 53.2 ppg before Mizzou limited it to 44 on Dec. 14
- o Wake Forest was averaging 70.4 before Mizzou limited it to 64 on Dec. 20
- o UT Martin was averaging 66.9 before scoring just 65 against Mizzou on Dec. 22.
- o Missouri State was averaging 58.6 before scoring just 57 against Mizzou on Dec. 30
- o Tennessee was averaging 75.4 before scoring just 63 against Mizzou last time out.

Her Airmess

Sophomore Jordan Frericks is off to a great start this season. She leads the Tigers in several categories including scoring (14.4 ppg), field goals made (5.6), rebounds per game (10.3), steals (2.2), blocks (1.8 per game) and minutes (29.7). Not only does she lead the Tigers with her five double-doubles on the season, but she has put up 20 or more points in three games this season.

Frericks ranks among the top 10 in seven of the SEC's major statistical categories. She ranks eighth in scoring as she has arguably been the Tigers' most productive player this season.

She is coming off of a 20-point effort against Tennessee last Friday and has now reached double-figures scoring in nine games this season. She has done so in the last seven games including a career-high 27 at Bradley (12/6).

What is even more impressive for Frericks is her rebounding ability coupled with her scoring. She is averaging a double-double with 14.4 ppg and 10.3 rpg and she has eclipsed double-digit rebounds in five games, including a career-high 17 at Bradley. The last player at Mizzou to finish a season averaging a double-double was Keshia Bonds during the 1997-98 season.

Frericks is second in the SEC in rebounding and ninth in scoring. Frericks joins only Ole Miss' Tia Faleru as the only two players to rank among the SEC's top-10 in both scoring and rebounding. Faleru was an All-SEC player from a season ago as Frericks is in elite company.

Tigers take advantage of Charity

Mizzou knows the importance of free throws. Three Tigers are shooting over 70-percent from the charity stripe so far this season including Sierra Michaelis, Bree Fowler and Maddie Stock. The Tigers were 4-for-6 from the line in the last minute and half of play against Colorado, using their foul shots to take the final lead in the game. Junior Juanita Robinson was 6-for-6 from the line in the first half against Wake Forest, helping Mizzou to take the lead over the Demon Deacons.

League Leading Ladies

• Mizzou's defensive rebounding percentage is tops in the SEC at 71.3-percent as they have only allowed only 167 offensive rebounds this season, the third-best total in the SEC. Mizzou's 43.9 rebounds per game this season sit fifth in the league. The Tigers are outrebounding opponents by 8.4 rebounds per game, good for fourth in the SEC also.

• Mizzou's defensive efforts don't stop there, the Tigers are holding opponents to just 34-percent shooting, good for fourth in the league.

• Mizzou of course leads the SEC in 3-point FGs made as well, averaging 7.7 per game. The Tigers have sunk eight or more 3-pointers in five games this season. Mizzou has also hit seven or more 3-pointers in eight games as well.

• The Tigers are shooting 32.3-percent from distance this season, a figure that sits sixth in the league.

• The Tigers knocked down 14 treys against Western Illinois this season, one of the best performances from distance in the league this season. Only Arkansas has come close, knocking down 12 three-pointers against Northwestern State. Mizzou's 34 3-point attempts against UNLV are an SEC-high in 2014-15.

• Morgan Eye is no stranger to leading the league from distance, her seven treys against Western Illinois mark a league-best performance so far this season and her 3.0 threes per game lead the Southeastern Conference. In fact, Eye boasts three of the top three-point performances in the league so far this season.

Frericks, Michaelis Earn All-Tournament Honors

Both Jordan Frericks and Sierra Michaelis came home from Hawaii with trophies after being named to the Wahine Classic All-Tournament Team. Frericks helped the Tigers to a win over UNLV with her first double-double of the season, while Michaelis was just a point short of her career-best, tallying 17 points against No. 14 California.

Tigers Welcome Three for 2015

Signing Day brought a strong dose of excitement to the Women's Basketball program as the Tigers signed the No. 17 recruiting class in the nation this year (Prospect Nation). Mizzou's three newcomers make up the third-highest ranked recruiting class in the SEC.

Freshmen Phenoms

Mizzou's three sophomores, Jordan Frericks, Kayla McDowell and Sierra Michaelis, finished last season as arguably one of Missouri's most productive freshman classes as the three newcomers averaged 19.2 points per game on 45.4-percent shooting. The trio averaged 13.6 rebounds and 2.6 assists in 16.9 minutes on the floor per game while committing just four turnovers each contest. Mizzou had not seen that type of production out of its freshmen since the 1996-97 season when Julie Helm, Amy Monsees and Ekpeme Akpaffiong averaged 25.4 points per game on 43.6-percent shooting. The 96-97 trio averaged 9.4 rebounds per game while dishing 4.4 assists and averaging 6.5 turnovers a game. As freshmen, the three rejected 57 shots to the 96-97 year's 10.

Morgan Eye Eams Preseason Recognition

Senior Morgan Eye was recognized by the Southeastern Conference coaches on Nov. 5 as she was named to the SEC Preseason All-SEC Second Team. Eye returns as Mizzou's leading scorer after averaging 12.9 points per game last season. The league's coaches also predicted Missouri to finish 11th overall in the league this season. South Carolina tops the order of finish with 169 points, with Tennessee (155), Texas A&M (144), Kentucky (135), Georgia (108), Vanderbilt (107), and LSU (94) rounding out the top half the league. Mississippi State (87), Florida (86), Auburn (53), Arkansas (40), Alabama (25) and Ole Miss (23) round out the bottom half.

STUDENT-Athletes

The Tigers have seen consistent improvement in the classroom under head coach Robin Pingeton. An increasing number of student athletes are earning academic recognition from the conference office each season. In 2011, The Tigers had just two Academic All-Big 12 selections. That number increased to seven in 2012. In 2013, Mizzou earned nine academic honors from the SEC office before increasing the tally to 10 honors last season including Lianna Doty's SEC Scholar Athlete of the Year award.

Handing out Assists

Mizzou has also spent an increasing amount of time out in the community under Pingeton's direction. The Tigers logged just 260 hours of community service in the 2010-11 season, but have steadily increased that number to 358 hours last season.
