FEATURING

Fun while learning and playing baseball. A chance to learn and improve your baseball. Every player will receive instruction and play in a game each day.

Well-organized sessions allowing for individual and group instruction in all phases of baseball are divided so that individuals can work with players of their own ages and abilities. Our philosophy emphasizes teaching the fundamentals and mechanics of baseball. Instruction is individually oriented, regardless of skill level or experience.

Outstanding facilities are provided at the (Antimi Quadplex in Cosmo Park). This facility is perfect for general and specialized instruction.

Effort is made to insure the greatest amount of safety and care throughout the entire camp.

CAMP DIRECTORS

The Tiger-MIZZOU Baseball Camps are directed and staffed by "1996 BIG EIGHT COACH of the YEAR" Tim Jamieson. In just seven seasons at the helm, Coach Jamieson has compiled a 226-165 record with the Tigers. During the 1996 season, Jamieson's Tigers broke 12 different school records on its way to the BIG EIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP and an NCAA Tournament berth. The 1998 campaign ended with Jamieson's Tigers winning 10 of their last 15 games en route to the Big 12 Tournament. In 1999 the Tigers were 37-18, with a third-place finish in the Big 12 Tournament winning 22 out of the last 27 games.

Missouri had another 30-plus-win season in 2000 and four more Tigers went into professional baseball while two others were named All-American. Jamieson recorded his 200th career win over perennial power Wichita State in 2001 and Mizzou also recorded several wins over Top 25 teams and won series against No. 5 Nebraska and No. 6 Pepperdine. Three Tigers were drafted, highlighted by seventh-round pick Ryan Stegall, and MU had another player earn All-America honors.

As a standout catcher at the University of New Orleans, Jamieson was his team's MVP in 1981 while leading the team to an NCAA Regional. After becoming a coach at UNO, Jamieson contributed to four more NCAA Regional appearances and a trip to the 1984 College World Series.

Assisting Jamieson on the camp staff is assistant coach Chal Fanning. Entering his sixth year as the Tiger pitching coach, Fanning comes to Missouri from Cuesta Junior College (CA) where his pitching staff finished in the top 10 in the state of California. Fanning also spent 3 years in the Atlanta Braves' organization as an area scout. As a player at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, Fanning played in the NCAA Division II World Series at Montgomery, Ala., and is also in the school's record books for saves in a season.

Evan Pratte, who is in his fifth season as the Tigers' hitting and infield coach, is also on the staff. For three years prior to coming to Missouri, Pratte was an assistant at his alma mater, Southwest Missouri State, where he played from 1988-91. Pratte played professionally for five years in the Detroit Tigers organization, reaching the AA level.

INSTRUCTIONAL STAFF

The Tiger Baseball Camp has been fortunate to attract outstanding coaches and teachers of baseball to work with the players attending. The baseball staff of the University of Missouri is also available during the camp to concentrate on their many areas of expertise.

I would like to extend my personal invitation to attend the exciting and intensive Tiger Baseball Camp for 2002.

Baseball is a team game, but relies primarily on individual skills. There is a great need for intensive instruction from highly qualified coaches in baseball at a young age, as players require a high degree of skill to perform well. My experience with camps indicates their unique ability to concentrate on necessary fundamentals and skills regardless of present ability. While a camp itself will not guarantee success, the opportunity for excellent instruction at a young age can greatly influence the development of young players. Each player can improve dramatically with instruction, experience and repetition.

The previous 21 years of Tiger Baseball Camps have been a great success. We invite you to talk with previous campers, as I am sure you will receive a most positive response. I am confident that the development of those participating will be tremendously enhanced. Our staff, facilities and instruction program are ready to serve your needs. We look forward to helping you be a better player and person.
