

#460

captured guns turned but in the confusion they soon fell into the midst as they fled back to the they were ordered by rear, and take cover positions, the Cherowhich never materialized. two and one-half hour area. At 1:30 p.m., commenced. Confederate the wooded area or Drew's 500-man regi-
 they crossed an open edge of the timber Major George West of earlier into the woods. over it. This feat was Federal shelling, most of by the shelling, Pike's day."

left flank to check the learned of the deaths of that his left flank was to a wooded ridge on which the Indians had prevailed over all Confederate on Pike's shoulders with Rumors of a Federal Lyman were massing to town. Even worse, Pike under his command were with Van Dorn. Pike again, by way of the road, and lead them to and positioned on the force, and Watie's In-show, word of the withdrawal, and he remained in the most of Pike's troops had position, he also withdrew. moved to Camp Stephens. the white troops. Pike and

General Paul Watie, Confederate Records, Ser. 1, Vol. VIII.

(LeRoy H. Fischer and Jerry Gill)
 CONFEDERATE INDIAN PARTICIPATION IN THE BATTLE OF PEA RIDGE IN ARKANSAS, MARCH 7, 1862

(LeRoy H. Fischer and Jerry Gill)
 CONFEDERATE INDIAN PARTICIPATION IN THE BATTLE
 OF PEA RIDGE IN ARKANSAS, MARCH 8, 1862