Summary

The crew made the final push to boulder today, ending the long arduous transit home from D04. The runway was plowed this morning with enough time and direct sunlight to allow the otter to land without ice patches. With the plane in the hangar, the pumping and cooling of the payload process was started.

Concerns

None

Comments

-Pumping and cooling should be finished in time for a Sunday flight.

-Abe will depart tomorrow. Thanks for the hard work Abe!

-Pilots Magnus and Robbie will depart this evening and be replaced by Vince and Sam.
