QUESTION ROTATION

- Create a question bank and each employee will be randomly assigned a designated number of questions
- Mix the Rotational Question type with other questions that all employees must answer
- Design your Exam to better meet your department's needs and goals
- Eliminate answer sharing - automatically create unique exams for each employee

Case Example: Create a 10 question exam with 2 Rotational Question types. Create a bank of 15 questions to be used. All employees get the same 8 standard questions, and will also get 2 questions randomly selected from your bank. This provides a total of 105 potentially individual exams - large enough for any department.
