Carla Sa-Couto, Guillaume Alinier, Andy Buttery, Colette Laws-Chapman

Original Research

Abstract 1

- 2 Interactive simulation training course for professionals working with children and adolescents with eating disorders
Naila Saleem, Megan Fisher, Jess Griffiths, Selena Galloway, Cristina Jianu, Marta Ortega Vega

Abstract 2

- 2 Pilot of communication skills simulation incorporating gender-based violence
Kate Jones, Emily Appadurai, Faris Hussain

Abstract 3

- 3 'I have had an epiphany' student nurses' reflections on their carbon footprint in simulation
Hannah Ames, Lucy Spowart

Abstract 4

- 3 Development and evaluation of a chest cavity simulation model for teaching surgical chest drain insertion
Ji Yun Bog

Abstract 5

- 4 Sustainable healthcare placement preparation: enhancing AHP student preparation through immersive simulation and online learning
Debbie Thackeray, Laura Rossiter, Emma Cowley, Ruth Turk, Belinda Judd, Jennie Brentnall

Abstract 6

- 5 Virtual reality simulation as a tool for ENT training: An autoethnographic study
Thomas Binnersley, C. Lucy Dalton

Abstract 7

- 5 'We are all here to learn' – An interpretative phenomenology analysis study of the lived experiences for clinical nurse educators facilitating interprofessional simulation-based education
Katherine Hill

Abstract 8

- 6 Mental health professionals' lived experiences of simulated ligature training: A phenomenological study
Aby Mitchell, Barry Hill

Abstract 9

- 6 Immersive Technology Experience Measure (ITEM): pilot study on participant experience using novel questionnaire and VR scenario
Chris Jacobs, Kriti Vaidya, Tim Old, Lauren Medwell

Abstract 10

- 7 Pilot study looking at the benefits of Virtual Reality (VR) simulation for Physician Associates (PA)
Carl Heffernan, Ursula Rolfe

Abstract 11

- 8 An evaluation of student views on the use of virtual simulation in undergraduate pharmacy education
Jonathan Davies

Abstract 12

- 8 Development of a summative assessment method for interprofessional simulation and other interprofessional education (IPE) activities
Billiejoan Rice, Marian Traynor

Abstract 13

- 9 Mixed reality simulation training in the assessment and management of acutely unwell patients in undergraduate medical education: A pilot study
Benjamin Rowlands, Dominic Proctor

Abstract 14

- 9 Does everyone see it the same? An evaluation of the alignment of perceived benefits of virtual simulation between undergraduate pharmacy students, faculty and stakeholders
Jonathan Davies

Abstract 15

- 10 Video review after simulation-based education – perception of participants
Mohammed Batcha, Ratna Makker, Georgia Winnett

Abstract 16

- 10 'Not being afraid of saying dying':
Sharing key vocabulary for palliative care discussions through simulation debrief
Amy Huggin, Deepa Churm, Lucy Robinson, Laura Massey, Owain Leng

Abstract 17

- 11 Digital patient simulation versus patient actors – what do participants prefer?
Josh Bachra, Jonathan Wright, Kehinde Junaid

---

Literature Review

Abstract 18

- 12 Barriers and facilitators to the use of healthcare simulation to support the professional development of healthcare professionals: A systematic review of qualitative research.
Caroline Richardson, Caoimhe Madden, Dara Byrne, Sinead Lydon, Paul O'Connor

Abstract 19

- 13 Identification of clinical reasoning models commonly used in simulation-based education
Emad Almomani, Jacqueline Sullivan, Natalie Pattison, Guillaume Alinier

Abstract 20

- 14 Does the use of simulation enhance the development of registered physiotherapist's respiratory 'on-call' skills
– A literature review
Emily Barnfield

Abstract 21

- 16 The use of simulated learning in prequalifying physiotherapy education:
A scoping review
Jonathan Room, Robyn Stiger

Abstract 22

- 16 The use of simulation in paediatric emergency medicine: a scoping review
Laura Lee

In Practice

Abstract 23

- 17 Wrapping a gastroschisis baby: An MDT simulation programme
Sarah Berry, Mohamed Ahmed, Collette Donnelly

Abstract 24

- 17 Calculating the cost of simulation based education. What to include?
Dara Byrne, Laura Fitzgerald, Angela O'Dea

Abstract 25

- 18 Guiding UK educated nurses, midwives and allied health professionals with the skills to be allies to internationally educated registrants
Nicky Sinden, Carrie Hamilton, Jess Spencer, Caroline Tomkins

Abstract 26

- 18 Empathic simulation: A novel simulation design to develop empathy in healthcare students
Mia Paget, Aisha Choksi, Ciara Quigley, Michael Williams, Anna Stevenson

Abstract 27

- 19 Sustainable simulation: Findings from audits assessing the environmental impact of clinical skills education and perceptions of solutions for awareness and action
Heather Baid, Melanie Maddison, Suze Thompson, Jocelyn Cornish

Abstract 28

- 20 Developing and delivering a telephone skills simulation training for non-registered NHS mental health call-handlers
Anna Thame, Carrie Hamilton

Abstract 29

- 21 Simulation Integration: A Multispecialty Programme Embedding Simulation within Departmental Teaching Programmes in two Cardiothoracic Centres
Alasdair Frater, Dominic Lowcock

Abstract 30

- 22 Safe Interdepartmental Learning from clinical incidents using a Quality Improvement Framework
Rasheed Kaja Mohammad, Nicola Jones, Zilley Khan

Abstract 31

- 22 Skills2u – Using ward-based toolkit training to address frequently identified technical skills performance errors during in situ simulation
Debbie Suggitt, David Baxter, Jeanette Baxter, Matthew Sharman, Jodie Murdoch, Aoife Colgan

Abstract 32

- 23 Towards a taxonomy of scale:
a sustainable approach
Ursula Rolfe, Debbie Holley

Abstract 33

- 23 A novel form of communication training for Medical Support Workers at a large teaching hospital
Sadie Rawlinson, Natalie Hay, Rosalie Pordes, Ingrid Jones

Abstract 34

- 24 Designing and implementing a National Simulation Faculty Development
Programme for Wales (Sim FD Wales)
Clare Hawker, Cristina Diaz-Navarro, Sara-Catrin Cook, Bridie Jones, Suman Mita, Bethan Bartholomew

Abstract 35

- 25 Simulated Undergraduate Interprofessional Training Ward – improving self-confidence and attitudes to interprofessional working prior to transition to clinical practice
Steve McLaren, Alexandra Muston, Sophie Page

Abstract 36

- 26 Supporting clinical and non-clinical staff to have challenging conversations with patients, relatives and colleagues: online simulation with live actors
Anna Thame, Carrie Hamilton

Abstract 37

- 26 Does simulation-based training increase perceived confidence to address demanding communication situations within critical care?
Kathleen Jones, Simone Bonasera, Nicole Flores, Samantha Murie

Abstract 38

- 27 Bridging the gap to FY1 – A high fidelity, regional programme with real life actor-based simulation of the acutely unwell patient
Thomas Oswald, Tara Hughes, James Speed James Speed

Abstract 39

- 28 Managing transitions from CAMHS for people with autism spectrum disorder
(ASD) – interactive simulation training course
Naila Saleem, Megan Fisher, Ruwani Ampegama, Selena Galloway, Cristina Jianu, Marta Ortega Vega

Abstract 40

- 28 The importance of human factors and the implementation of the 'Social GRACES' in simulation training: a 6-month review of foundation simulation training at Guys and St Thomas' (GSTT) NHS Foundation Trust
Rohan Pancharatnam, Navandeep Thumber, Lucy Lloyd-Williams, Shumontha Dev

Abstract 41

- 29 Implementation of virtual clinical experiences for Myanmar medical students: a pilot rollout of remotesynchronous simulation
Haseeb Raza, Anchal Gupta, Abdelrahman Ahmed, Haw Ying, Huai Ling Tan, Swe Hseg

Abstract 42

- 29 A palliative care skills study day is an effective way of meeting palliative care registrar curriculum Direct Observation of Procedural Skills (DOPs) requirements
Deepti Churm, Kaly Snell, Robert Dawson, Nichola Jenkins

Abstract 43

- 30 MAGIC – The management of acute emergencies in GP surgeries using in situ simulation and checklists, project final phase: completed quick reference handbook and plans for sustainability
Anne Maloney, Elizabeth Shawcross, Phil Harbord, Angus Hill, Helen Higham, Rosemary Warren

Abstract 44

- 31 Simulated placement preparation:
physiotherapy student acceptability of a multi-level simulated placement preparation week
Louise Stanley, Holly Royle

Abstract 45

- 32 Developing low carbon care – using simulation to calculate and reduce carbon emissions
Hannah Ames

Abstract 46

- 32 SPEED: an emergency department simulation training model which does not affect patient waiting times
Sebastian Chong, Michael Phillips, Salwa Malik

Abstract 47

- 33 Supporting internationally educated nurses reach their full career potential and deliver safe and effective patient care through simulation-based communication skills training

Jess Spencer, Mike Evison, Carrie Hamilton, Sophie Macadie, Frances Haig

Abstract 48

33 Large-scale simulated placements for BSc and MSc physiotherapy students: consideration of sustainability

Jess Spencer, Carrie Hamilton, Tiffany Blackburn, Sarah-Jane Ryan, Cindy Gaimster, Channine Clarke

Abstract 49

34 Five Year Review of Paediatric Multidisciplinary In-Situ Simulation on a General Paediatric Ward

Shoshana Layman, Catherine Beatty, Chukwudumebi Mbeledogu, Lucine Nahabedian, Ashish Patel, Ash Holt, Annabel Copeman

Abstract 50

35 The SEIPS game: An interprofessional teaching aid to promote understanding of human factors in healthcare

Ruth Millett, Eloise van Vuren, Jessica Wadsworth, Jennifer Blair

Abstract 51

35 Educational effectiveness of a high-consequence infectious disease training course using ultraviolet simulation

Luke Hunt, Samantha Farrow, Cariad Evans, Anne Tunbridge, Joby Cole, Brian Crook, Paul Johnson

Abstract 52

36 Probing for Veins: A Cost-Effective, Reproducible Method for Teaching Ultrasound-Guided Peripheral Intravenous Access

William Southall, Christopher Torrilla, James Chu, Johann Willers, Nicholas Tovell

Abstract 53

37 Simulation equipment - What do you have? What do you do with it?

Michael Moneyppenny, Peter Glover, Andrea Baker, Karen Willey, Lyndsay Kenny

Abstract 54

38 Co-produced scenario-based simulations: Respect for, and understanding of, those from transgender and gender diverse communities

Carrie Hamilton, Julie Miller, Jess Spencer, Caroline Tomkins

Abstract 55

38 'Who's in charge? Me!' Using simulation for band 5 nurses who are learning to lead

Jess Spencer, Alison Curzen, Mike Evison, Chloe Trott, Carrie Hamilton

Abstract 56

39 Using simulation to address staff wellbeing and retention in a global non-healthcare organization

Carrie Hamilton, Anna Thame

Abstract 57

40 Simulated Practice as a Method to Promote Legitimate Peripheral Participation

Buddug Eckley, Richard Cooper, Lucia Buratti, Linda Brayshay, Jack Barrington, David Purchase

Abstract 58

41 Mastery Based Simulation approach enabling social care teams to rapidly order small pieces of equipment to a person in their home

Julie Mardon, Amrita Brara, April Beattie, Lisa Wilson, Julie McKinven

Abstract 59

41 Midlands Simulation and Immersive Learning Census 2023: A Cross-sectional study to inform regional TEL strategy

Joshua Whittaker, Alexander Crichton, Usman Ahmed

Abstract 60

42 A Simulation Based Quality Improvement Project to improve patient care in the Urgent Care Environment

Claire Cree, Marta Soares-Preece

Abstract 61

42 A comprehensive training programme for Medical Support Workers at a large teaching hospital

Sadie Rawlinson, HaEun Ji, Hannah Tierney, Beth Robbins

Abstract 62

43 Mini in Disruption, Major in Impact: The Use and Sustainability of 'Mini-Sims'

Cary Tang, Mariam Tarhini, Esther Wilson, Benjamin Hester, Vanessa Redwood, Ashley Duzy

Abstract 63

44 The use of simulation based education (SBE) to improve recognition and management of patients in the transition from acute to end of life care

Jane Brundish, Genevieve Russell

Abstract 64

44 Preparing prequalifying health-care students to deliver collaborative, patient-centred care for those with mental health difficulties

Robyn Stiger, Lorraine Whatley, Janice Watson, Kate Saunders, Christopher Kowalski

Abstract 65

46 Development and Impact of a Simulation Community of Practice across Nursing and Allied Health Professions in a Higher Education Institution

Helen Batty, Lucy Mottram

Abstract 66

46 Standardizing debriefing in Wales: the Triangular Approach

Cristina Diaz-Navarro, Bridie Jones, Jody Stafford, Suman Mitra, Sara Catrin Cook, Clare Hawkeer

Abstract 67

47 Advanced cardiothoracic Simulation -how to do it and who is it for?

Abdul Badran, Aiman Alzetani

Abstract 68

48 Remote Simulation in Cardiothoracic Surgery

Abdul Badran, Aiman Alzetani

Abstract 69

48 Sustain and Spread: A Standardized Solution for High Quality Simulation

Kristine Damberg, Jennifer Blair, Jessica Wadsworth, Ruth Millett, Maria Esposito, Eloise van Vuren, Sumair Hassan

Abstract 70

49 Novel high-fidelity Surgical Simulation Educational Program (SSEP) – a systems-based approach for enhanced patient safety

Jayne Robinson, Ajay Prakesh, Rachel Foster, Mark Rowson, Sonia Bathla

Abstract 71

49 Evaluation of a co-produced Simulation Based Perinatal Mental Health Programme

Labib Hussain, Maaz Malik, Jennifer Cooke

Abstract 72

50 Using Simulation as a Method of Assessment in Further Education

Ann Sunderland, Rebecca Weeks

Abstract 73

51 Using simulated general practice consultation circuits to develop medical students' skills in managing uncertainty

Lucy Porter, James Speed

Abstract 74

51 The use of simulation to support the upskilling of interprofessional teams providing an Urgent Community Response service (UCR)

Belinda Twissell, Kate Olsen, Deryn Creasy

Abstract 75

52 Strengthening simulation quality assurance through the 'Sim QA bundle'

Cristina Diaz-Navarro, Clare Hawkeer, Bridie Jones, Suman Mitra, Sara Catrin Cook

Abstract 76

53 Quality assurance of high-fidelity simulation courses at University Hospitals Birmingham (UHB)

Azhar Merchant, Ashwin Mathew, Mark Simkin, Cheryl Muir

Abstract 77

54 Translational simulation in practice: an enhanced orthopaedic induction for new trainees

Osama Alsawada, Amrita Brara, Terence Savaridas, Julie Mardon

Abstract 78

54 STEPS: Development of a communication skills framework for use in a broad range of simulation-based education

Carrie Hamilton, Anna Thame, Jess Spencer

Abstract 79

55 Participating in Simulation: Developing a novel teaching programme mapped to the physician associate curriculum, using simulation and interactive workshops to cover core conditions and non-technical skills

Emma Higgle, Hannah Parker, Natalia Zucca

Abstract 80

- 56 Simulation: a tool to improve the confidence of International Medical Graduates transitioning into working in the NHS

Samuel Jones, Divya Premchandran, Benjamin Smalley

Abstract 81

- 56 Advance Choice Documents: a Simulation for Service Users, Carers and Clinicians

Megan Fisher, Anita Bignell, Marcela Schilderman, Claire Henderson, Shubulade Smith, Abigail Babatunde, Selena Galloway, Mariola Ruiz

Abstract 82

- 57 'Simulation for Finals and Real Life' – is it ever too early to jump in the deep end?

Zoe Shipley, Mohamed Azraq Ali Naeem

Abstract 83

- 58 Assessment of the Use of Assorted Methods of Scenario Presentation in Communication Skills Simulation

Anne Mckay, Claire Langridge, Neil McGowan

- 59 Medical Escape Rooms as a novel approach to simulation

Aalia Pagarkar, Alicia Griffin, Chloe Pace, Dom Fernandes, Peter Springbett

Abstract 85

- 59 Jake's story: Teaching interprofessional working through the delivery of a live patient multi-disciplinary team meeting

Jodie Bryant

Abstract 86

- 60 Using Value Based Simulation to recruit high school students into the more difficult to fill roles within health and social care – contact author (Carla)

Jamie Dickson, Julie Mardon

Abstract 87

- 60 Live Virtual Placements: An alternative to traditional 'in person' placements

Richard Ward, Antony Freeman, Tom Davidson, David Brown, Charles Everard, Alex Martin-Verdinos, Catherine O'Leary

Abstract 88

- 61 Designing a Multidisciplinary Chest Drain Course

Jane Doherty, Eirini Kasfiki, Dave Wright, Andrew Blackmore

Abstract 89

- 61 Paramedic placements: Let's not forget the non-technical skills

Jess Spencer, Carrie Hamilton, Jess Rimmer, Channine Clarke

Abstract 90

- 62 Virtual Reality Simulation for the Foundation Programme – Analysis of Phase Two

Hannah Yang, Helen Higham, Jackie Knight, Anil Prabhu, Kapil Savjani, Sally-Anne Shiels

Abstract 91

- 63 Integrating Simulation Based Education to Trauma & Orthopaedic Training: A Regional Experience

Ryan Moffatt, Richard Napier

Abstract 92

- 63 Sustained Quality in Simulation Training – 'Step-Up' to IMT3

Lia Carnall, Roy Edward, Ben Atkinson

Abstract 93

- 64 Addressing patient-safety themes and fostering cohesive teamwork through weekly multidisciplinary in-situ simulation in an Acute Care Unit

Joseph Ziegler, Lisa Stevens

Abstract 94

- 64 Starting from scratch, creating a sustainable multi-professional student simulation programme

Ben Hester, Shona Hill

Abstract 95

- 65 UCLH Simulation Centre - Let us show you around: A digital hybrid approach to simulation environment familiarization

Luke Nash, Rochelle Findley, Daniel Paschoud

Abstract 96

- 66 Whole System Transformed: Making Discharge Everyone's Business

Lucy McNally, Julie Mardon

Abstract 97

- 66 Applying the Mental Capacity Act through multi-disciplinary simulation - A successful pilot

Sebastian Gonzalez, Jennie Wood, Lisa Stevens, Christiane Plaum, Sini John, Eric Opoku

Abstract 98

- 67 Lessons learned from hyperkalaemia simulation: improving policy & practice
Carly Cooper, Katy Howe, Ben Hester

Abstract 99

- 67 Designing and implementing e-noting for use in simulation scenarios for sustainability and realism
Lauren Philpott

Abstract 100

- 68 Simulating to manage post thyroidectomy haematoma safely: Improving fidelity whilst reducing cost
Owen Vale, Andrew Hadfield, Catrin Maidment, Danielle Huckle, Cristina Diaz-Navarro

Abstract 101

- 69 Adult Critical Transfer Simulation: Technology In Motion
Verity Blackburn, Beth Tennant, Dan Paschoud, Luke Nash, Anthony O'Dwyer

Abstract 102

- 70 Embedding Electronic Patient Records Into Routine Medical Simulation Training Across the South East of England, a Pioneering Regional Collaboration Andy Buttery, Rosie Courtney, Alastair Kirby, Benjamin Repton, Charlotte Roberts, Arron Thind

Abstract 103

- 71 The Future of Aiding Student Placement Expansion: is it simulation, is it sustainable?
Shona Hill, Ben Hester, Ashley Duzy, Lenny Kistler, Racheal Bolton

Abstract 104

- 71 A virtual musculoskeletal case history simulation with service users for pre-registration physiotherapy students
Carol McNally, Katy Baines

Abstract 105

- 72 The use of simulation to develop conflict resolution skills in practice for pre-qualifying physiotherapy students
Lindsey Johnston, Jo Pierce

Abstract 106

- 73 'FY1 for a day' an immersive programme to prepare final year medical students for foundation training
Emily Appadurai, Kate Jones, Faris Hussain, Melanie Cotter

Abstract 107

- 74 Mental Health Simulation for Foundation Doctors: Bridging the gap of placement variation
Lisa Stevens, John Sterling

Abstract 108

- 74 Using a high-fidelity part-task model as a replacement for animal models to enhance emergency medicine thoracotomy training
Lisa Stevens, Sini John, Saleel Latheef

Abstract 109

- 75 A simulation escape room: Does gameful training promote active learning and student engagement
Lucy Morgan

Abstract 110

- 76 Simulated Physiotherapy Placement: An alternative to clinical placement for first year undergraduate Physiotherapy students
Karen Stevens, Helen Batty, Ross Mallett

Abstract 111

- 76 Undergraduate nursing programme entry: Encouraging offer holders to select their university offer, based on an informed overview of programme content
Carrie Hamilton, Julie Cairns, Jim Bird, Caroline Tomkins

Abstract 112

- 77 Vital conversations for student podiatrists: a 'real' simulated placement
Jess Spencer, Carrie Hamilton, Rachel Forss, Channine Clarke

Abstract 113

- 78 A pilot course amalgamating the benefits of psychological safety, civility, and human factors in a structured debriefing model in simulation-based education
Radha Brown, Rajesh Lall, Laura Askins

Abstract 114

- 78 Multiple Trauma Simulation - An Introduction for Medical and Nursing Students
Becky Allan, Andreas Day, Yvonne Moulds, Linda Bell

Abstract 115

- 79 Developing a simulation course for Advanced Clinical Practice- Challenges of designing for a diverse interprofessional group
Lisa Stevens, Sini John
