Opponent Profile
Michigan Wolverines
2011-12 Record: 16-6, 5-4
Series History: Michigan, 37-25
Last Meeting: Jan. 19, 2012, Evanston, Michigan, 58-48
Of Note: This is the Wildcats' first trip to Crisler Center (formally Crisler Arena) since falling to the Wolverines in the 2010 WNIT Sweet 16. The two teams played four times during the 2009-10 season, with NU picking up wins in both Evanston and Ann Arbor in the regular season and Michigan emerging victorious in both postseason clashes.

Hackney Becomes 14th Wildcat to Eclipse 1,000-Point Plateau
Junior Kendall Hackney's turnaround jumper just three minutes into Thursday's game against Purdue marked the 1,000th point of her career. Hackney becomes the 14th Wildcat to reach the mark. Former teammate Amy Jaeschke is the most recent Wildcat to join the club back in 2010. With eight rebounds Thursday, Hackney is 28 rebounds away from 500 on her career.

Diamant Surging
Junior Dannielle Diamant's 13.5 ppg average this season is the second-highest year-to-year increase among Big Ten players. Diamant averaged 2.8 ppg last season, marking a 10.7 point increase between 2010-11 and 2011-12. The Las Vegas native is averaging 18.1 ppg over the past seven contests, leading the team in scoring in all but one of those games. She also has turned in three-straight double-double performances.

Freshmen Phenoms
Northwestern boasts the second-most productive freshman class in the Big Ten, with first-year players Karly Roser, Morgan Jones and Alex Cohen accounting for 24.4 points per game and 11.0 rebounds per game.

• Jones is the only Big Ten Freshman currently ranked among the top-16 league leaders in both points (12th – 14.5ppg) and rebounds (T-16th – 6.0rpg).

• Roser is setting the standard for Freshman guard play in the Big Ten, leading all rookies in assists (5.5) and steals (2.0). Her 5.5 assists per game are also good for third best in the Conference overall, while she remains in the top-ten in steals (8th).

May I Assist You?
A trademark of Joe McKeown's teams have been their ability to move the ball and rack up assists. This year is no different, as the Wildcats are lead in the Big Ten, averaging 16.7 assists per outing. That number also ranks 19th in the nation according to the latest NCAA statistics (1.29.12). Against Morgan State, the Wildcats recorded a season-high 32 helps.

Road Warriors
NU is 6-3 away from Welsh-Ryan Arena, having posted several impressive victories including at LSU, a place that had been a safe haven for the Lady Tigers in the past, as they were 155-11 over the last 14 years against unranked teams. The 'Cats proceeded knocked off then-unbeaten Missouri in Columbia 10 days later. Northwestern also has won at Central Michigan, at Loyola, at UNLV and at Indiana.

No Easy Path
The Big Ten is one of only three conferences with four or more teams appearing in one or both national rankings this week, joining the Big East and ACC. The Big Ten is also one of only two conferences, the Big East being the other, with four or more teams appearing in the top 20 of either poll. The Associated Press (AP) poll features four top-20 Big Ten teams, led by Ohio State at No. 11. Purdue checks in at No. 15, while Nebraska jumped three spots to No. 16 and Penn State moved to No. 19. In the ESPN/USA Today Coaches poll, Ohio State appears at No. 11, Purdue remains at No. 17, Nebraska climbs three places to No. 18 and Penn State appears at No. 21. Michigan State is receiving votes in both polls.

Trending...
When you talk about the Wildcats this season, freshmen Morgan Jones and Karly Roser will undoubtedly be at the forefront of conversation. The two freshmen have started every game for Northwestern this season, following in the footsteps of another familiar duo, Kendall Hackney and Dannielle Diamant, who also saw significant floor time during their first year in Evanston. Jones and Roser not only contribute in the points column, but also in the assists category. When the two combine to dish out 12 or more assists, the 'Cats are undefeated (5-0). Another fun fact--when Diamant scores 10 or more points, the Wildcats are 11-4.

Dangerous Duo
Kendall Hackney and Morgan Jones have been two busy Wildcats this year. The pair has combined for 46 percent (663/1,438) of Northwestern's offensive production and are the team's top rebounders. Those two are the only Big Ten duo currently ranked in the top-16 in both scoring (9th, 11th) and rebounding (12th, T-16th).

Wildcats In The RPI
In the most recent edition of both the Collegiate Basketball News' RPI (Rating Percentage Index) report as well as the NCAA RPI, Northwestern ranks 85th in the nation.

Sharing the Wealth
When looking at the Wildcats' leading scorers and rebounders each game, count on seeing a familiar trio. Dannielle Diamant and fellow junior Kendall Hackney have led the team nine and eight time, respectively, and freshman Morgan Jones has been the top scorer four times. Diamant headlines the rebounding category, leading the 'Cats 10 times while Jones has paced NU on five occasions. Karly Roser and Jones have topped the assist category 13 and eight times, respectively.

Winning Ways
This year's senior class of Allison Mocchi and Brittany Orban are the winningest group of Wildcats since 1996-97. The two have been an integral part of the Wildcats' renaissance, posting 58 victories since the 2008-09 season. Over the past three seasons (including the current year), head coach Joe McKeown has guided the Wildcats to a combined 51 victories.

Wildcats Shot Out To Best Start Under McKeown
With its 79-49 victory over UNLV on Dec. 18, Northwestern improved to 9-1 on the year; its best record through 10 games in Joe McKeown's tenure. In the two previous seasons, the Wildcats were 8-2 through the opening 10 games. The last time NU went 9-1 to open the season was in the 1995-96 season. The Wildcats dropped the next game to Kansas State, 64-45.

Roser On The Rise
According to the most recent NCAA statistics, (1.29.12), freshman Karly Roser ranks 24th in the nation in assists per game (5.5). Roser is third in the Big Ten in that category. The Canadian turned in a career-best 14 points while adding a pair of assists in the Wildcats' Big Ten opener at Iowa.

Orban Tears ACL
Senior four-year starter Brittany Orban tore her ACL against NC State on Nov. 30 and will be out indefinitely. Her absence will be felt on several levels, considering she started every game except three in her career in Evanston.

Oh, And More About Morgan
Jones is one of two freshmen to appear in the Big Ten's top-16 leading scorers, joining Minnesota's newbee, Rachel Banham in the elite group. Jones also is sixth in the Conference in three-pointers made per game (2.1) and is tied for 12th in assists (3.4 apg).

Spreading The Love
Unlike seasons past when Northwestern's offense centered around one player, this year is shaping up to be one of a more democratic nature. Three of NU's starters are averaging double digits, led by junior Kendall Hackney with 15.6 ppg. Freshman Morgan Jones and Dannielle Diamant and are second and third, averaging 14.5 and 13.5 ppg, respectively. Karly Roser has contributed a pair of double-doubles as well as team-leading 44 steals.

Oh Captain, My Captain
Seniors Brittany Orban and Allison Mocchi are this year's team captains. It is the second year in a row Mocchi has been named captain and the first such nod for Orban.

A Change Is In The Air
Northwestern enters the 2011-12 campaign in search of its third-consecutive postseason appearance, having reached the WNIT in each of the last two seasons. Fourth-year head coach Joe McKeown has led the Wildcats to 18 and 19-win seasons over the past two years, the most wins since the 1995-96 and 1996-97 seasons.

Young 'Cats
Three new faces grace the hardwood for the Wildcats, in Morgan Jones, Karly Roser and Alex Cohen, a class that is arguably the strongest group to come to Evanston under McKeown's tenure. The group was ranked 14th by ESPN's Hoopgurlz.

Welcome, Ms. Jones
When junior Tailor Jones looks to make a slick pass this year, she will have an all-too-familiar face to dish to. Her sister, Morgan, is a member of the outsanding freshman class and was ranked ninth in the nation and third at her position by Hoopgurlz. The sisters have played together on AAU teams in high school. In addition to being the ninth-ranked recruit in the nation and third at her position, Morgan Jones is the first Wildcat since Amy Jaeschke to be named a McDonald's All-American and a WBCA All-American.

Another Year Older...
The 2011-12 season is the 36th year of women's basketball at Northwestern and also markes the 26th year Wildcat mentor Joe McKeown has been a head coach. McKeown has coached at only three schools during that time (New Mexico State, George Washington and Northwestern). For more information on McKeown, please see his bio page.

JOE McKEOWN

26th season overall
Fourth at Northwestern
Overall record: 566-235

On June 9, 2008, Northwestern University Director of Athletics and Recreation Jim Phillips named Joe McKeown the head women's basketball coach at Northwestern. McKeown (pronounced Mick-Q-ann) is the sixth mentor to guide Northwestern's women's basketball program.

In just his first three seasons in Evanston, McKeown has transformed the culture of the women's basketball program. The Wildcats enter the 2011-12 campaign following the best back-to-back seasons in nearly 15 years. Combined, the 2009-10 and 2010-11 campaigns yielded 37 victories, two postseason appearances and milestone wins over nationally-renown Ohio State, LSU and DePaul.

On the individual level, 2010-11 marked the first time a Wildcat was selected in the WNBA draft as Amy Jaeschke was selected as the 27th pick overall by the Chicago Sky. Jaeschke turned in not only one of the best seasons in Wildcat annals, but also one of the most storied careers. In the Northwestern record books, she finished her career ranked first in blocks and second in scoring and in rebounding. Jaeschke also was tabbed an Associated Press honorable mention All-American, marking the first time since 1998 that a Wildcat appeared on the prestigious list.

Northwestern's improvement from 2008-09 (7-23) to 2009-10 (18-15) was tied for the 10th best turnaround in the nation and ranked fourth among BCS schools. In winning percentage comparison, the Wildcats' above-.500 mark (.545) was a 31.2 percent improvement from last season. The success yielded NU's first postseason appearance in 13 years and a ticket to the WNIT, which led to two victories and a trip to the event's round of 16.

McKeown joined the Wildcats following 19 years as the head coach at George Washington University, where he became one of the most respected names in women's college basketball. During the 2007-08 season, McKeown became the 34th head coach in Division I history to pass the 500-victory mark. He brought 509 career victories, a total which ranked 21st on the active Division I list, to Evanston.

Entering the 2011-12 campaign, McKeown's .710 winning percentage (553-226) ranks 23rd all-time among active coaches (minimum five years) and his 553 career victories is tied for 36th among active coaches (minimun five years). He also is tied for 19th in the 20-plus win seasons category (minimum 10 years as head coach). McKeown left George Washington as the winningest coach in school history and in the Atlantic 10 Conference. In 24 seasons as a college head coach, McKeown has guided his team to postseason play 20 times. He coached the Colonials to 14 regular season or postseason Atlantic 10 crowns.

In his 19 seasons at George Washington, McKeown compiled a 441-154 record, with his 1997 squad reaching the Elite Eight. On three other occasions, the Colonials advanced to the Sweet Sixteen—1995, 2007 and 2008. In his 15 NCAA Tournament trips with GW, the Colonials won their first-round tournament game 13 times. McKeown is a five-time Atlantic 10 Coach of the Year (1991, 1997, 2000, 2002, 2007) and two-time National Coach of the Year nominee (1995, 1997).

After spending three seasons as the head coach at New Mexico State, where he went 68-20 and appeared in two NCAA tournaments, McKeown went to George Washington in September of 1989, inheriting a team that went 9-19 a year earlier. After his first squad went 14-14, McKeown quickly turned the Colonials into an elite women's college program with his teams averaging nearly 24 wins per year the next 18 seasons.

At GW, McKeown coached six Atlantic 10 Players of the Year. He also has mentored seven A-10 Rookies of the Year, five Defensive Players of the Year, five Sixth Players of the Year, 14 All-Rookie Team selections and 51 all-conference performers. McKeown has coached 16 players who have gone on to play professional basketball (four WNBA draft picks).

Equally as impressive as GW's success on the court was its outstanding performance in the classroom. During McKeown's tenure with the Colonials, George Washington players received Atlantic 10 Academic All-Conference recognition 17 times and eight players were named CoSIDA academic all-district selections (three Academic All-Americans). Of those eight, one was a Rhodes Scholar nominee and another received a Fulbright Scholarship. Other former student-athletes under McKeown's guidance include a GW School of Business Distinguished Scholar Award, an NCAA Woman of the Year representative and two Atlantic 10 Student-Athletes of the Year.

McKeown also is involved with USA Basketball, as he recently was named an assistant coach for the 2008 USA Basketball Women's U-18 National Basketball Team. He was also a floor coach for the 1992 Olympic team.

Prior to coaching at New Mexico State, McKeown served as an assistant coach at the University of Oklahoma from 1983-86, and at his alma mater, Kent State University, from 1979-80. Oklahoma posted at least 20 wins in each of McKeown's three years on the coaching staff.

As a player, McKeown earned Junior College National Small Player of the Year honors at Mercer College in Trenton, N.J. He helped the team to a 33-1 record and a spot in the NJCAA championship game. McKeown transferred to Kent State the following season, where he was co-captain of the Golden Flashes as a senior and earned honorable mention All-Mid-American Conference honors. His school-record 15 assists in a game still stands after 26 years.

A proud native of Philadelphia, McKeown was inducted into the Father Judge High School Hall of Fame, a prestigious member of the Philadelphia Catholic League, in 1999.

McKeown and his family are heavily involved in the Autism Speaks Foundation, which raises money nation-wide to create awareness and raise money for the fight against autism. McKeown and his wife, Laura, have three children, Meghan, Joey and Ally.
