Sunny Florida on Tap for Northwestern Spring Break

The Preview

Spring Break 2012 takes Northwestern to sunny Florida for a spate of games in the Tampa and Clearwater areas, beginning March 16-18 with the USF Invite hosted by South Florida. The trip will be the Wildcats' first to the state of Florida since the 2005 Florida Atlantic Worth Invitational.

NU begins the tournament at 10:45 a.m. CT (11:45 a.m. ET) Friday against Fairfield before taking on host No. 24 South Florida at 3:30 p.m. CT (4:30 p.m. ET). Both of those games will take place at USF's campus softball stadium in Tampa.

On Saturday, Northwestern plays No. 21 Florida State at 10:15 a.m. CT (11:15 a.m. ET) and Chattanooga at 3 p.m. CT (4 p.m. ET). The final tournament game features NU against LIU Brooklyn on Sunday at 10:15 a.m. CT (11:15 a.m. ET). All three of those games will be played at the EC Moore Softball Complex in Clearwater.

Following a day off in Florida, Northwestern will play two more Spring Break-ing teams Tuesday, March 20, when it faces Massachusetts and Hartford in a doubleheader at the EC Moore Complex.

Northwestern is coming off a bye week for winter quarter finals after opening the year with a four-weekend sprint that took the Wildcats to Arizona, Louisiana and California—twice. Though the Wildcats enter this weekend with a 7-11 record, 10 of those 18 games came against teams ranked in one of the two top-25 polls at the time of the contest, and NU already has ranked wins over then-No. 11 Missouri and then-No. 17 Texas A&M.

NU will be gone from Evanston for 10 days during this trip, capping it with the Wildcats' first-ever visit to Nebraska for Big Ten play. That three-game series will commence with a single game at 5 p.m. CT Friday, March 23 before a doubleheader starting at 1 p.m. CT Saturday.

HEAD COACH KATE DROHAN

DROHAN

Kate Drohan is in her 11th season at Northwestern's helm after building the program into one of the nation's best. She has led the Wildcats to back-to-back Women's College World Series semifinal appearances in 2006-07 and Big Ten Championships in 2006 and 2008. Drohan took over the 'Cats after serving as an assistant under legendary head coach Sharon Drysdale for four years.

After 10 seasons, Drohan's career record of 357-177-1 gives her a .668 winning percentage. In the five-year stretch from 2005-09, NU compiled a combined record of 215-77, reaching the Super Regional round of the NCAA Tournament four times and becoming the first private school in NCAA history to advance to the WCWS semifinals in consecutive years.

Drohan already has cemented her status as one of the best coaches in Big Ten history, joining three other conference coaches (including Drysdale) as the only coaches to ever take Big Ten schools to the WCWS. Drohan is one of two coaches to make the final pairing in Oklahoma City.

Drohan took over a squad that finished 20-25 in 2001, and led it to a 24-18-1 record in her first season in 2002. Building on its over .500 mark, NU qualified for seven-straight NCAA Tournaments from 2003-09.

Postseason success has become a hallmark of Drohan's teams. Northwestern is 25-17 in the NCAA Tournament since 2003, including a 5-4 mark at the Women's College World Series. Since the advent of Super Regional play in 2005, the Wildcats have won their Regional and advanced to the final 16 in the nation on four different occasions.

Northwestern has earned national respect from the pollsters as well. The Wildcats were ranked in 76-consecutive NFCA coaches polls and 78-straight USA Softball polls dating from March of 2005 until March of 2010. NU spent 27 of those weeks in the top 10 of the NFCA rankings, and earned the program's first No. 1 vote in 2008 after defeating then-No. 1 Arizona and then-No. 3 Texas A&M to begin the year.

Big Ten dominance also has become one of Drohan's hallmarks. After finishing tied for fifth in the conference in her first year, the 'Cats improved to top-four finishes in each of the next six seasons, including capturing Big Ten titles in 2006 and 2008. Northwestern also won the Big Ten Tournament title in 2008 after advancing to the championship game of the event in four of the previous six years. Drohan's career conference record is 126-61 with a 93-37 mark in the last seven years. NU led the Big Ten in total league victories in four-straight seasons from 2005-08.

In 2006, Northwestern's Big Ten title was its first since 1987, and the Wildcats qualified for the WCWS for the first time in 20 years. In Oklahoma City, the Wildcats made an exciting and perfect 3-0 run through bracket play to the championship series. NU's finish at the WCWS and in the polls—No. 2—both marked program bests. The 'Cats also reached the 50-win plateau for the first time in school history and for the first of two-consecutive seasons.

Playing—And Beating—The Best

Head coach Kate Drohan's philosophy always has been to play the best in the nation. To wit, NU has played 166 games against opponents ranked in the top-25 at the time of those games, winning 73 times (.440) during Drohan's 11-year tenure.

The Wildcats' best season against ranked foes under Drohan came in 2007 when Northwestern went 17-7. In 2012, the Wildcats have 13 games scheduled against teams ranked in the preseason USA Today/NFCA Coaches Poll and an additional eight versus squads receiving votes. NU already has topped No. 11 Missouri and No. 17 Texas A&M while falling to No. 1 Arizona State, No. 2 California, No. 11 Stanford, No. 12 Washington, No. 19 Oregon, No. 20 Louisiana-Lafayette and No. 21 Oklahoma State. Two more ranked opponents are on tap this weekend: NU will play No. 21 Florida State and No. 24 South Florida.

Against the Pac-12 Conference

The Big Ten and Pac-12 Conferences recently reached an agreement to increase scheduling in all sports between the two entities' member institutions in future years. Playing the Pac-12, which long has been regarded as softball's power conference, is nothing new for NU under current head coach Kate Drohan. Since Drohan took over in 2002, NU has a 35-38 record against the Pac-12. NU has a winning or .500 record under Drohan against four of the eight original teams in the Pac-12 (NU also is 2-0 against the newest ninth member, Utah):

8-3 vs. Oregon State
9-4 vs. California
6-4 vs. Stanford
2-2 vs. Oregon
4-5 vs. Arizona State
2-5 vs. Washington
2-7 vs. UCLA

Northwestern is 2-8 against Arizona, but has won two of its last three contests with the Pac-12 Wildcats.

Northwestern had six games against six different members of the Pac-12 this year, beginning with No. 1 Arizona State and No. 12 Washington at the Kajikawa Classic. NU fell to No. 19 Oregon February 25 at the Cathedral City Classic before taking on a trio of league foes at the March 2-4 DeMarini Invitational hosted by Cal State Fullerton. There, Northwestern faced No. 11 Stanford, Oregon State and No. 2 California.

Drohan Named USA Softball Coach

Northwestern head coach Kate Drohan was one of 14 coaches chosen by the Amateur Softball Association of America (ASA) and USA Softball to be part of the 2009-2012 quadrennium. Drohan served as the head coach of the USA Softball Futures Team during the summer of 2010, and remains in the coaching pool for the next two summers. In 2011, she was scheduled to lead the Women's National Team at the Japan Cup before the tournament was canceled following that country's devastating earthquake and tsunami.

Emily Allard, Adrienne Monka Named to Player of the Year Watch List

Senior Adrienne Monka and junior Emily Allard have been named to the 2012 USA Softball Collegiate Player of the Year watch list. Northwestern has quite a history with the list, earning at least two spots on the 50-member compilation in six of the last seven years. In 2007, Tammy Williams and Garland Cooper went on to become top-25 finalists for the award before Williams earned top-10 finalist spots in 2008 and 2009. Allard was a top-25 finalist in 2011.

Monka—also a preseason ESPN.com first-team All-America choice at first base—had a strong 2012 start. At the season-opening Kajikawa Classic, she hit .455 with a 1.364 slugging percentage and a .647 on-base percentage, driving in seven with three home runs.

Allard began her 2012 season with a nine-game hitting streak and currently is batting .423. She leads the team with 13 runs and 11 steals in 18 games, also driving in 12 from the leadoff spot. Allard already has eight multi-hit games in 2012, including six games with three or more base knocks.

Adrienne Monka Named Lowe's Senior CLASS Award Candidate

Northwestern All-American Adrienne Monka has been named one of 30 candidates for the 2012 Lowe's Senior CLASS Award, which honors senior student-athletes who excel both on and off the field. To be eligible for the award, a student-athlete must be classified as an NCAA Division I senior and have notable achievements in four areas of excellence—community, classroom, character and competition. The 30 candidates will be narrowed to 10 finalists midway through the regular season, and those 10 names will be placed on the official ballot. Ballots will be distributed through a nationwide voting system to media, Division I head coaches and fans who will select one finalist who best exemplifies excellence in the four Cs of community, classroom, character and competition.

Northwestern softball has a long history of success with this award, earning top-10 finalist honors in 2007 (Garland Cooper), 2009 (Tammy Williams) and 2010 (Nicole Pauly).

Some Notes on Northwestern's Pitching Staff

• With all four members of the NU staff seeing the circle at the season-opening Kajikawa Classic, 2012 is the first season where four Wildcats have thrown pitches since 1999. It could be the first where four 'Cats log more than 20 innings in the circle since the staff of Alison Ward, Misty Lauby, Lindsey Prezell and Jenni Beseres did so in 1996.

For several years in the Drohan era, NU softball relied with great success on a 1a, 1b pitching system, ranging from current pitching coach and former All-American Courtnay Foster alongside two-time All-American Eileen Canney (2004-06) to Canney and 2008 Big Ten Pitcher of the Year Lauren Delaney (2007) to Delaney and Jessica Smith (2008). Those seasons included five NCAA appearances, four Regional titles, two WCWS berths and two Big Ten titles.

• Junior Meghan Lamberth stepped up at the Cathedral City Classic, going 2-0 with a pair of complete-game victories. After notching a career-best seven strikeouts in an 8-1 victory over Colorado State, Lamberth shut down No. 11 Missouri, allowing only a single seventh-inning run on a double play grounder to post a 7-1 win for NU. In her very next start, Lamberth also held No. 11 Stanford to just a single run, though it came in 1-0 NU loss.

• Freshman Amy Letourneau had a strong start to her collegiate career, going 2-1 at the season-opening Kajikawa Classic. After fanning 10 batters in her first-career outing, a 6.0-inning complete game win over Texas Tech, Letourneau struck out nine and took a one-hitter into the seventh inning of an eventual extra-inning victory against No. 17 Texas A&M. Letourneau also broke that game open at the plate with a three-run eighth-inning homer.

• Sophomore Sammy Albanese has turned it on of late, currently leading the team with a 2.00 ERA after earning a 1-0 record with a save and a 1.37 ERA in 15.1 innings of work at the DeMarini Invitational. Entering games against Oregon State and No. 2 California in relief, Albanese threw 4.0 innings and 5.0 innings, respectively, allowing just a single run in both appearances. She then earned a save with 2.0 perfect frames in a win over East Carolina before picking up the win with 4.1 innings of work against Southern Miss.

Northwestern Returns to Home Run Roots

For a team known as a power program in the late 2000s (NU hit a school-record 85 home runs in 2007), the Wildcats built their offense around speed in 2010-11. Early in 2012, however, NU has been doing way more trotting than sprinting around the bases. Despite facing a trio of ranked teams and multiple All-America pitchers at the season-opening Kajikawa Classic, Northwestern averaged 6.6 runs per game with the help of nine home runs.

To put those numbers in perspective compared to 2011, consider that four Wildcats combined to hit all 25 of Northwestern's home runs a year ago. On the first day of the 2012 season, five different Wildcats hit home runs. By the end of the first tournament of the year, NU already had launched 36 percent of its total bombs from the prior season. NU currently has 17 home runs in 18 games played in 2012 (.94 per game).

Emily Allard Has All-America Ability, Passion

Junior Emily Allard has picked up right where she left off last year, when she set Northwestern's school single-season record with a .491 batting average. She began the 2012 season with hits in NU's first nine games, earning a 12-game hitting streak dating to May 8, 2011. Her career-best hitting streak is a 22-game effort from the 2011 season which is the second-best in school history. She currently has hits in 15 of Northwestern's 18 games this season, including eight multi-hit games and six games with three or more base knocks.

Speed is a big part of Allard's game. After she was one steal shy of the NU single-season record with 45 last year while being named the 2011 NFCA Golden Shoes Award winner, Allard has 11 swipes in 2012 to move her into fourth place all-time at Northwestern with 90 career stolen bases, four shy of Mikie Chambers (1997-2000).

The career prep outfielder started all but three games in 2010 at shortstop for NU, continuing a strong NU pedigree at the position. From 2005-09, NU's shortstop earned All-America honors every year (Stephanie Churchwell in 2005; Williams from 2006-09). With a 2012 season like the one she put up in 2011, Allard will continue that trend.

Adrienne Monka Aiming for Third All-America Award

Senior first baseman Adrienne Monka has endured multiple surgeries during her career, playing through pain while not letting it limit her performance on the diamond. Now healthy after yet another procedure last offseason, Monka has her sights set on a third All-America season to cap her incredible Northwestern career.

After four weekends in 2012, Monka ranks first all-time at NU in slugging (.774) and on-base percentage (.563), second in walks (155), fourth in batting (.365), fourth in home runs (45), fifth in RBIs (154) and seventh in total bases (295).

Some incredible Monka numbers to set the stage for 2012's possibilities:

• While starting every game at first base in the last three seasons, Adrienne Monka did not commit an error between May 8, 2009 and Feb. 11, 2012—a string of 97 games and 622 chances. She is a career .992 fielder (941 putouts, 42 assists, eight errors).

• After the first weekend of 2012, Monka had a Big Ten-best 1.364 slugging percentage after batting .455 with three home runs, a double and seven RBIs at the Kajikawa Classic.

• Monka led the nation in 2011 with a .707 on-base percentage and 1.53 walks per game; both numbers rank second all-time in NCAA Division I single-season history.

• Monka reached base in 25-straight plate appearances from April 16 to May 4, 2011. She was a Sports Illustrated Face in the Crowd in the May 30, 2011, issue for the streak.

Some News and Notes From Northwestern's Last Time Out

Several Wildcats put together strong performances at the DeMarini Invitational. Check out a few of 'em here:

• Junior Kristin Scharkey recorded her best tournament of the season by batting .438 (7-for-16) with a pair of runs and a steal, earning base hits in each of NU's last four games in Fullerton. She collected two hits in consecutive games against Oregon State, No. 2 California and East Carolina.

• Sophomore Marisa Bast continued her powerful start to 2012 by batting .375 with four RBIs and a team-best three runs scored. She also clubbed her team-best fifth home run of the season.

• Sophomore Sammy Albanese was strong out of the bullpen, holding both Oregon State and No. 2 California to just a single run in extended relief appearances. She then tossed two perfect innings against East Carolina for a save before picking up her first win of the season in a start versus Southern Miss.

Freshmen Wildcats Clawing Competition

Northwestern's freshman class already is making an impact on the 2012 season. Outfielder Olivia Duehr was named the Big Ten Freshman of the Week on Feb. 27 after batting .417 with two home runs and eight RBIs at the Cathedral City Classic. She currently is second on the team with 14 RBIs this year. Second baseman Anna Edwards has a pair of home runs already—comprised of one against No. 1 Arizona State's first-team All-America pitcher Dallas Escobedo and another versus No. 11 Missouri. Amy Latourneau has three wins in the circle with 10K and 9K performances, earning an 8.0-inning complete-game win over No. 17 Texas A&M while hitting an three-run homer in the eighth inning of that contest. Andrea DiPrima has two starts to her name, singling in her first collegiate at-bat against the No. 17 Aggies. All told, NU's six-member freshman class has combined for 50 starts and 59 appearances in 2012.

Marisa Bast, Northwestern's Rifle Arm, Moves to Third Base

After an All-Big Ten freshman season in which she started 42 of Northwestern's 43 games at second base, sophomore Marisa Bast has moved across the diamond to take over third-base duties for the Wildcats in 2012. Traditionally a position of great stability for Northwestern, Bast will become just the third full-time starter at the hot corner since 2005, following in the footsteps of Darcy Sengewald (2005-08) and Robin Thompson (2008-11). The moves makes complete sense, however, when considering not only Bast's athleticism, but her rifle of an arm. (As a completely unnecessary aside, the "Rifleman" Chuck Connors did not have Bast's arm...he played 66 games at first base for the Chicago Cubs in 1951. Of course, he also was left-handed).

At the plate, Bast is double dog daring opponents to walk two-time All-American Adrienne Monka. Hitting behind Monka, Bast has five home runs this year—including against No. 1 Arizona State, No. 11 Missouri and No. 12 Washington—while slugging .778 with a .476 on-base percentage. She leads the team with 18 RBIs (1.0 per game) and is second with an impressive .389 batting average.

Welcome Home, Rivy!

Northwestern's volunteer assistant coach for the 2012 season is former Northwestern volunteer assistant coach Amanda Rivera, whose last stay in Evanston coincided (and not by coincidence) with the Wildcats' back-to-back semifinal appearances at the Women's College World Series in 2006-07. With Rivera's help, NU set school single-season records with 85 home runs, 350 runs scored and 326 RBIs in 2007. Rivera left to make coaching stops at N.C. State (2008) and Indiana (2009-11) before returning to her Chicago roots. A 2004 graduate of UIC and a longtime private hitting instructer in the Chicago area, Rivera also coached club ball as the head coach of the Oak Park Windmills from 2002-07. While with the Windmills, Rivera coached eventual three-time All-Big Ten NU slugger Michelle Batts.

Chicago's B1G Ten Team

The Wildcats have never been more popular in the Chicagoland area. On the eve of the 2012 season, Northwestern hosted an open practice Saturday morning, Feb. 4. Buses from the area and even different states quickly filled the parking lots, resulting in more than 400 coaches and youth players taking in NU's workout that morning. The 'Cats then spent more than 30 minutes signing autographs for anyone who wanted one.

The "J" is the Home of the "W"

NU's Sharon J. Drysdale Field earned the 2008 Stabilizer Solutions/NFCA Field Maintenance Award as the nation's best playing surface. This came after a multi-phase, multi-million dollar renovation was completed at Drysdale Field prior to 2008, with NU responding to go a perfect 13-0 at home during the regular season. NU also won the Big Ten Tournament and NCAA Regional titles at the "J." NU won 29 regular-season home games in a row between April 15, 2007, and May 2, 2009. Since 2005, the Wildcats are 90-19 at home.
