

How deferring interest can help clients.

Considerations of risk and more complex underwriting requirements e.g foreign nationals are reflected in the interest rate charges on some of our products. As a result, we have designed them to allow the customer to defer some of the interest until redemption.

This example explains how deferring interest can help clients borrow a larger gross loan and reduce monthly interest payments.

Deferred interest: case study

Meet James, a foreign national who is purchasing his first property in the UK. He is looking to buy an investment property in London for a purchase price of £600,000. He has a deposit of £300,000 to contribute.

James is focused on the potential for long-term capital appreciation. This is despite the low yield of 3.2% that produces £19,200 p.a in rent.

In this scenario, the Octopus Property team would offer our 6.99% p.a rate.

How deferring interest could help the client achieve a higher loan amount

The following example illustrates how James could defer the interest and achieve the required gross loan amount of £600,000 which will, in addition to his deposit, cover the purchase price. Deferring the interest could also reduce the monthly payments, meaning greater cash flow for James throughout the life of the loan.

In this example, the maximum loan amount Octopus could lend is £384,769.

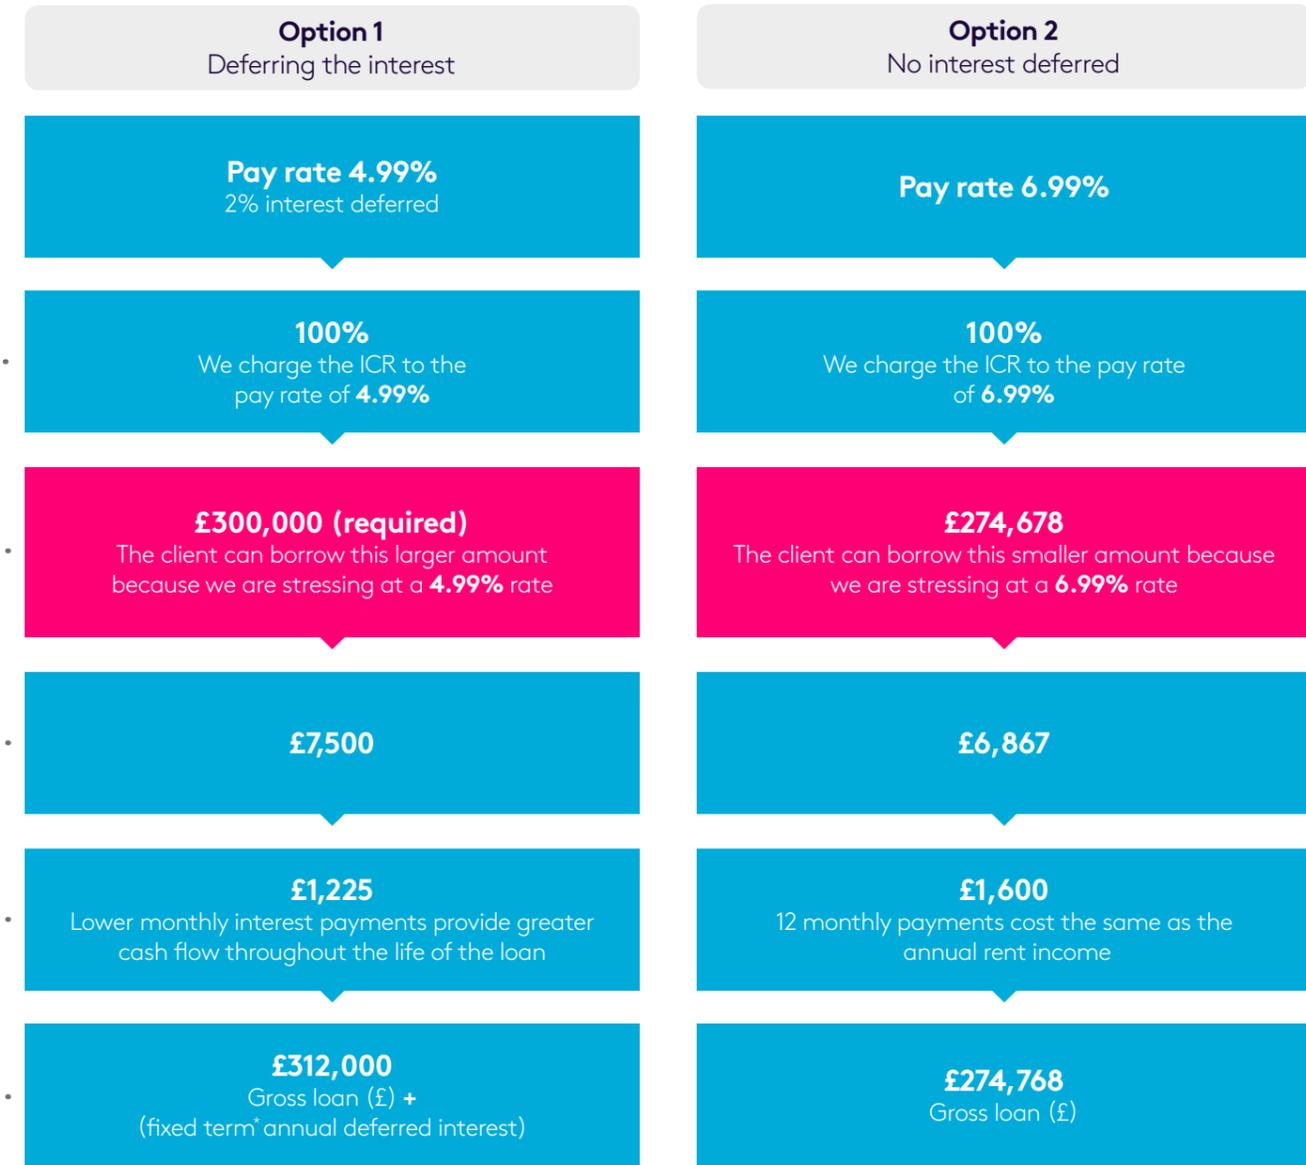

It is of course highly important that clients understand that deferred interest is collected on redemption at the end of the term.

	Option 1 Deferring the interest	Option 2 No interest deferred
ICR	100% We charge the ICR to the pay rate of 4.99%	100% We charge the ICR to the pay rate of 6.99%
Gross loan	£300,000 (required) The client can borrow this larger amount because we are stressing at a 4.99% rate	£274,678 The client can borrow this smaller amount because we are stressing at a 6.99% rate
Arrangement fee 2.5%	£7,500	£6,867
Monthly interest payment	£1,225 Lower monthly interest payments provide greater cash flow throughout the life of the loan	£1,600 12 monthly payments cost the same as the annual rent income
Redemption balance	£312,000 Gross loan (£) + (fixed term* annual deferred interest)	£274,768 Gross loan (£)

It is highly important that clients understand that deferred interest is collected on redemption at the end of the term therefore the equity in the property will be significantly reduced.

Interest rate (p/a)	6.99%
Purchase price	£600,000
Deposit	£300,000
Annual rent	£19,200
Fixed term	2 years

This kind of offering could help clients who might be a challenging proposition for mainstream lenders. Working with Octopus Property could bring them not only the funds but the time to build their UK buy-to-let portfolio.

Note: This example is for illustration purposes only. The estimated Arrangement Fees for a buy-to-let loan are 2.5%, however actual charges experienced by a borrower might be higher or lower. The example assumes the costs for the borrower are the same, but actual costs may be different.

Buy-to-let range

Specialised solutions

Our buy-to-let range is focused on solutions for more unconventional cases. Borrowers include portfolio landlords, first-time buyers, foreign nationals, expats, and investors in semi-commercial properties.

We're a specialist lender and these are specialist products, which can be tailored to individual situations and circumstances. With five core offerings, the process is streamlined, making it more convenient for brokers to work with us.

Deferred interest

The interest rate charged on some of our products reflects the risk and increased complexity of the loan. That includes more extensive underwriting, while still maintaining fast turnaround times.

Therefore, we have designed some products to allow the customer to defer some of the interest until redemption. This can also help keep monthly costs as low as possible, which in turn frees up cash flow for our customers.
