Terms of use

The present document describes the terms of use for the site <https://starling.airbus.com>. Please read carefully the terms of use contained herein. The service is provided only for persons of 18 years or more or minors with parental authorization. By accessing the site, you declare that you are authorized and that you accept unconditionally the present terms and conditions.

Limitation of responsibilities

Airbus Defence and Space will do reasonable efforts to keep the information on this site accurate and up-to-date. Nevertheless, some information available through the site may be technically inexact or contain typing errors. Airbus Defence and Space does not declare nor guarantee the completeness or reliability of this information and disclaims any liability for any error, omission, interruption and/or change in the content or damage resulting from a computer virus or a third-party intruder.

Airbus Defence and Space reserves the right to change the contents of this site at any time without prior warning and in particular to change its business offer, its price list and its general sales conditions. Under no circumstances shall the creators, developers, or operators of the service be held liable for any direct or indirect damages, including data loss, operational disruption, or financial loss arising from the use or inability to use the Service.

Collection and processing of personal information

Any use of personnel data, if any, will be made in compliance with applicable law. According to French law related to data protection promulgated on 6 January 1978, you are legally entitled to consult, correct and delete your personal data. To exercise your rights, you may contact our web content manager at the following address intelligence-hubspot@airbus.com.

Authors' rights - copyright

The contents (including but not limited to designs, texts, information) of this site are protected by French and other laws (including but not limited to laws related to author and intellectual property rights, database protection, etc) as well as by all applicable international agreements.

Except as otherwise provided by the Standard End-User licence agreement to use the service, the contents of this site are intended solely as information for visitors to the site. The contents may not be extracted, modified, distributed or circulated either wholly or in part, without prior written authorization of Airbus Defence and Space. All rights not expressly granted are reserved.

The trademarks which appear on this site are registered by the companies that own them.

Links to third-party sites

This site may contain links towards third-party web sites. The insertion of links to these sites does not mean that Airbus Defence and Space approves the content of these sites and does not imply any association between Airbus Defence and Space and the managers of third-party sites.

Airbus Defence and Space does not have any control over these sites and disclaims any responsibility or liability for their content or modification thereof.

Jurisdiction/applicable law

Any dispute between you and Airbus Defence and Space arising in relation with the use of the site shall be settled under the arbitration of the Courts of Paris, France. The law applicable shall be French law.
