Ο Χαβιαράς (Χατζηνικολάου) Ιωάννης, Χιώτης την καταγωγή, υπήρξε καθηγητής των ελληνικών στην Ελληνική σχολή της Βιέννης, καθώς και Πρωτοψάλτης του εκεί ναού της Αγίας Τριάδος, προβάλλοντας συγχρόνως στους τοπικούς μουσικούς κύκλους την μοναδικότητα των μελωδιών της Ορθοδόξου Εκκλησιαστικής μουσικής. Τις ημέρες του Πάσχα του 1844 στην εκκλησία της Αγίας Τριάδος στην Βιέννη για πρώτη φορά με πρωτοβουλία του, ακούστηκαν ύμνοι με την συνοδεία 20μελούς χορωδίας και πιάνου εποχής, που είχαν μετατραπεί από μονοφωνικοί σε τετραφωνικοί. Το ίδιο έτος η επίσημη εκκλησία διά του Μητροπολίτη του Κάρλοβιτς Ιωσήφ Ραϊασισί, καθιέρωσε για τις εκκλησίες της Δύσης την αλλαγή αυτή, από την μονοφωνία των ύμνων σε τετραφωνία. Ο Χαβιαράς με συνεργασία διασήμων Βιεννέζων μουσουργών της εποχής θα μετατρέψει ένα πλήθος μελωδιών της Ορθοδόξου Εκκλησίας σε τετραφωνία.

Original Works of Art: Sketches, Watercolours etc.

→ The following two lots (in total 12 aquarelles) was consisting in the past a single collection of original watercolours, all attached on 2nd half of 19th century colour papers. Although almost all relating to the Levant, they come clearly from different provenances. The first collection of 5 watercolours comes most possibly from a local Levantine production (produced by the same painter) and are unsigned as usual. The second collection of 6 watercolours are clearly produced by a Western painter. One signed: "R. W. Weir", one other with initials "R. W."

Lot. 8498..... Starting Price: 580 €

A set of 5 original watercolour paintings, each 20x15cm, depicting people of the Levant: one Christian and one Muslim lady (probably Greek and Turkish), a Dervich and two Ottoman officials. Style suggest an oriental painter. The watercolours present significant similarities with other watercolours produced by Bogos Tatikian in Smyrna around 1850s, and thus could be attributed to him. Colours bright and typically Levantine, faces of people worked by obviously a talented painter. Black frame around, also clearly seen in other Tatikian productions, some small defects on the paintings from the time (mostly light cracks of the colours or a light browning ,in few places) but overall very good condition. Attached later on 2nd half 19th century papers, frayed at edges. A FINE SET OF ORIGINAL WATERCOLOURS PRODUCED IN THE LEVANT

Lot. 8499..... Starting Price: 580 €

Robert Walter Weir: A collection of 6 original watercolour paintings. 4 with Levant subjects by Weir (most around 25x18cm, one 20x14cm) and one from an unknown painter 11x8cm, all attached later on 2nd half 19th century papers. Robert Weir (1803-1889) was a well known American painter of the 19th century. Following the trends of the time, he was inspired by the Levant, although it is unclear if he had ever visited the area. However, his 4 splendid watercolours with Levantine subjects (a pair of horsemen, signed R.W. , a lady in her sofa etc) suggest an eyewitness, most probably in Palestine. Two other fine watercolours from the same hand, one signed "R. W. Weir", depict western people (a man and a lady). Finally the 7th watercolour, a Turkish porter, comes from another painter, most probably a Levantine as the style suggests. Some edges frayed, but overall a fine condition, without any cracking in the colours. A FINE SET OF 7 ORIGINAL WATERCOLOURS.

Maps of Great Rarity

→ The following two very early woodcut religious maps of Eastern Mediterranean have been published in France, in the middle of 16th century, in the turmoil of the Reformation. They are among the very first religious maps ever published.

Lot. 8555.....Starting Price: 580 €
 [Postel Guillaume]: Descriptio Regionem et Locorum de quibus in Act. Apostolorum .. [Paris 1553/1554]. Fine woodcut map of Eastern Mediterranean, 22x16,5cm in a sheet of 30x24cm (with geographical measurements), folds as issued, old restoration of a marginal tear, very good condition. Postel (1510-1581), a French astronomer, diplomat, cartographer and religious universalist, travelled widely in the Levant. After his second return in 1551, published a large map of the Levant, no copies survived. Only this reduced format survived, published separately to be inserted in a Bible publication in Paris. As can be seen, it is quite accurate with mid 16th century standards. A quite big, disproportionate, Cyprus lays in its middle, as well as Rhodes. Postel spent months in Cyprus and knew the island. The map had tremendous success, as Postel was regarded with huge respect during his time and it had been republished later in several editions of Bibles (Zacharakis 236a etc, under later editors names). This is the first religious map with accurate, for its time, data inserted as geographical measurements, in an appendix to the map. Very rare.

Lot. 8556.....Starting Price: 780 €
 Pinaeus Antonius: La Description des pays des Lieux mentionnes en ce livre,[Lyon] 1564. Fine woodcut map of Eastern Mediterranean, 20,5x15,5cm, in a sheet of 29x24cm (with geographical measurements), signed: Faciebat Antonius Pinaeus 1564. Folded as issued, marginal waterstain, marginal tear restored, overall very good condition. Antoine du Pinet (1510-1584), in Latin Pinaeus, a French Protestant writer, editor and cartographer published this, completely different, religious map of the Eastern Mediterranean, in an effort to counter the already published map of Postel. As can be seen is more a religious than an accurate geographical representation. Cyprus is still present, but most of the islands are inexistent and the coastlines of the continents are mostly very inaccurate, resembling medieval times religious maps. Pinet map (probably Zacharakis reference 236b, under Dupinet(?) had not, the solid geographical base of Postel, but it is actually much rarer. Nevertheless, these two maps were among the very first ever religious maps of the lands visited by the Apostles. The dated and signed first edition is Extremely rare.

Lot. 8557..... Starting Price: 230 €

[Crete - Κρήτη] Ammon Johann Wilhelm (cartographer/engraver), Serlin Wilhelm (publisher), "Eigentliche Vorstellung der Vestung Candia, wie dieselbe der Erbfeind vom gbr: des 1668te. bis in den Febr. des 1669te. Jahres, ferner, jedoch Gottlob ohne effect, bestritten hatt" No place or date, but Frankfurt, Serlin, June 1669. Copper engraved map (36x22cm) of Iraklio (Candia) city, during the last phase of the city's siege by the Ottomans. Beautiful detailed representation of the battles around the land walls and in the sea. Accurate plan of the city and its main buildings in the eve of Turkish conquest. The map contains around 45 key numbers, probably referred in an accompanying list. Frankfurt Fair was taking place twice per year since the early 17th century. Serlin, a Frankfurt based publisher, published between 1659/1683, a periodical named "Diarum Europaeum". A small volume of the periodical containing European and local news, was presented twice per year during the fair. In few major occasions, separately printed views or maps accompanied the text. The engraver of Serlin's prints was Ammon. As the Candia siege was a major event of the time, he separately published in June 1669 and for the fair, this map of the siege of Iraklio (Candia). As the news were travelling with delay, it is clear that the map present the events up to February 1669. The city fell shortly after and this map is the last printed map of the Venetian and Christian Candia. Some expert restorations at the edges, but overall a fine copy of an Extremely Rare & almost unique work. Not in Zacharakis or any other reference. Only one copy tracked in public libraries worldwide (Frankfurt).

Lot. 8561.....Starting Price: 180 €

Lathouwer Ioan[nis]: Disegno de la pianta di Candia, no place or date, but after 1650, c.1652-1660. Dedicated to the Baron of Speraiter, a Venetian general of German origin, who acted in Crete in 1650-51. Lathouwer Johann, who signed the map, was a Flemish engineer of the Venetian army. Not in Zacharakis

Lot. 8562.....Starting Price: 80 €

Hoffmann, "Turcicum Imperium in Europa", Nuremberg, 1679. Rare copper engraved map (12x10cm) of Greece and Balkans, from the "Atlas Universalis", published by Hoffmann in Nuremberg. Zacharakis, in his last Annex, identifies the map as a P. du Val edition, probably based on geographical similarities of the map.

Lot. 8563..... Starting Price: 350 €
Marmora Andrea, "De Stad en Casteel van Korfu", (map of the town and castle of Corfu), no publ. place or date, but Dutch edition, c.1680. Dim.36x30cm, damp-stained. Andreas Marmoras was a prominent member of an old family of Corfu. He wrote and published (Venice 1672) the History of Corfu, a significant work that includes a smaller (30x23cm) version of the current map, in Italian. The map had been drawn by him, most probably using first hand information and early scientific calculations, as the detailed coastline and the detailed town streets plan suggest. This plan can be characterised as pioneering as it is a very early and probably the first accurate plan of a Greek town, drawn by a Greek. The Dutch edition followed the Italian. Not in Zacharakis, Tolias 4 (for the Italian version).

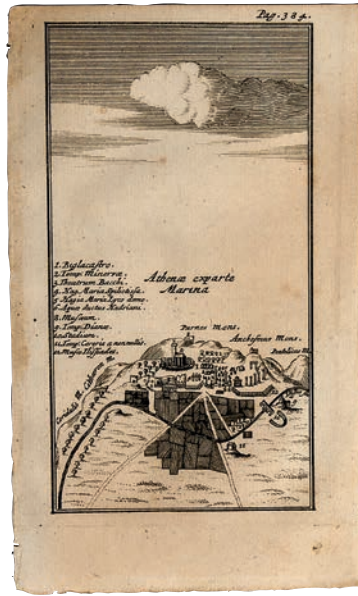

Lot. 8564..... Starting Price: 650 €

Large extraordinary double page copper engraved plate including a map of Euboea and view of Chalkis/ Negroponte. The map is engraved as if upon a drape or curtain, being held aloft by a putti to reveal a view of the city of Negroponte or Chalkida. The map is surrounded by an ornate baroque border. Lightly creased, small repaired tears. Very Rare. Zacharakis 1091, Zacharakis "One hundred landmarks..." No.079.

DE FER, "Peloponnese, aujourd' hui la MOREE et les isles de Zante, Cefalonie, St Maura, Cerigo", Paris 1688-1705 (but 1699). Splendid copper engraved map (52x41km) of the Peloponnese and the adjacent islands by the leading French geographer de Fer. It includes 12 nested maps of Morea's castles (conquered by the Venetians). Slightly cut over the upper edge area near the neatline, otherwise fine condition. The very rare edition without the dedication to Cardinal Ranuzzi (Zacharakis 1404). De Fer did not produced Folio Atlases and his Folio maps are actually rare. As Zacharakis states, manuscript changes in date are observed on these De Fer maps. This particular version of the map was published for the celebration of the Carlowitz Treaty (in early 1699) and the incorporation of Morea in Venice. Since Cardinal Ranuzzi was already dead, his name was deleted from the plate. Manuscript change of the date, to 1705 (probably the date of the sale). As Morea was re-conquered by the Turks a little later, this map never reappeared. Very rare.

Lot. 8570..... Starting Price: 780 €

[San Felice, cartogr.] /ALBRIZZI (publ.), "Citta di SCIO, conquistata dalle armi della Seren. Republica di Venezia, li 15 Settemb. 1694.", Venezia, Albrizzi, n.d. but November 1694. Splendid map (38x22cm) of the city of Chios, drawn during the short occupation of the island by the Venetians (1694/5) and published to accompany the very rare book: "Distintissima descrizione della Citta, Porto e Isola di Scio conquistata li 15 Settembre 1694". Only one edition appeared and definitely in very small print run, as the Turkish reoccupation in early 1695, made useless any further celebration and distribution of the book. The map is very accurate, and it is almost certainly drawn by a Venetian cartographer on the spot. As San Felice, the chief engineer and cartographer, was present in the 1694 occupation of the island, it is more than probable that the current map is a result of his works. One of the rarest map of Chios island. It has been immediately republished separately, in a luxurious edition and in larger size, by Rossi in Roma probably in December 1694, also in very small print run for the same reason. Not in Zacharakis or any other reference. Two copies tracked in public institutions worldwide. Extremely rare.

Lot. 8571..... Starting Price: 950 €

[San Felipe - Rossi Giovanni Giacomo], "Citta di Scio", no place or date, but Roma, December 1694-March 1695. Extremely rare, separately issued, impressive copper engraved map (53x19,5cm) of the town of Chios. This independent, beautiful and accurate map of Chios is, probably the rarest and important maps of the island ever published (Not included in P. Argenti collection). Although Zacharakis reports its joint state (827, under Cantelli) published in "Teatro della Guerra contro il Turco", it is very probable that this is a winter 1694-1695 work, never republished, based on the following. Firstly, the general date in use 1687-91 (date of death of Giacomo Rossi) does not seem reasonable, as the map is precisely accurate presenting details of the road network that presuppose measurements on the field, and this kind of field-work could not be made before the short Venetian occupation of the island in 1694-95. Previous lot confirms all that which is clearly dated 1694. This map is strongly based on the previous lot map, although in a much more luxurious edition. Secondly, the "Teatro..." is a collection of views of the conquered by the Christian Armies towns and that is not the case for the, 1687-91 still under Ottoman rule, Chios. It is most possible that the map has been published between December 1694 and March 1695 to celebrate the liberation of the island. As it is extremely accurate, it could be suggested that it has been also drawn by the same Venetian engineer - cartographer that took active part in the operations. In this frame the cartographer San Felipe is the obvious candidate for these maps. This map was jointed, in some issues, with Lefkada map, as they were the two only islands liberated (outside Morea) for a victorious publication in Roma, probably by the son of Rossi, Lorenzo who had the plates. As the Turks reoccupied Chios in early 1695, the celebrations and publications were of short time and the map is Extremely Rare.

Lot. 8572.....Starting Price: 480 €
Senex / Maxwell, "TURKEY IN EUROPE", London [1711-1712]. Large (97x68cm) copper engraved map, in two jointed sheets, of the Balkan peninsula and Greece. Original coloured, two misfolds in the middle, frayed and cut short in the lower left edge, overall in very good condition taken into consideration its size. One of the rarest 18th century English maps of Greece of that size. In 1707 Ch.Price (cartographer) and J. Senex (engraver) associated to produce an Atlas of twenty elephant Folio maps (including this one of Greece). Due to financial troubles, J. Maxwell joined the team in 1709. But in 1711 Price left the partnership with Maxwell & Senex following in 1714. In this copper engraved map, it is evident that a third name has been erased from the plate, most probably that of Price. Taking into consideration the dating of partnerships, the map plate was produced before 1711, but the concrete map shortly after Price departure (most probably late 1711/1712). Another issue, also very rare, of this map, with the two names in the cartouche, was issued after (Zacharakis 3332). These early stages of Senex's maps were printed in issued in very few copies and considered extremely rare. Not in Zacharakis the current issue.

Moullart-Sanson, "Orbis Biblis seu Geographia Sacra, Carte de la Geographie Sacree pour l' Ancien Testament", Paris, 1716. Impressive, separately printed, copper engraved map (55x43cm the map plate, reaching 72x43cm with the explanation text, printed separately in two plates joint together). Moullart Sanson never produced Atlases, so his maps are all very rare. This one is among the rarest, as the map is formed by a combination of two plates, probably a very special edition. Centered in Greece, it presents all places of the Sacred Geography. Light misfold in the middle-fold, otherwise fine. Recently added in the latest Zacharakis Annex catalogue (Zacharakis 2411a). Very rare.

MOULLART-SANSON P., "Assyriorum Imperium", dated: Paris 1724. Copper engraved map 60x44cm of the Middle East (from Greece to Persia), with a large empty space in upper right. Title in the upper middle part. Outlined coloured, mis-folds, one small tear at the upper edge restored, edges frayed but overall a good copy of a PROOF STATE of a map that has finally never published. Moullart Sanson (around 1670-1730) was the last of the Sanson big cartographic family. He never produced Atlases (Pelletier), so his maps are generally much more rare than the previous Sanson productions. During the early 18th century he published several maps of Ancient Geography, among those: a map for the Assyrian state dated in 1712. Except this difference, the published map bears completely different cartouche, while no cartouche exists at the middle part (as the current proof). Other minor differences also occur in the plate. It is most probable that Moullart tried to change a previous map and produced a proof to check his modifications in the cartouche. The map was never printed, and none such map tracked in any Public institution.

HOMANN HEIRS, "Plan de Corfu. Renvoy pour Les Nouvelles Fortifications Proietees, et Executees par S.E. Mr. Le Felt-Marechel C.te De Schulemburg / gravé par les Héritiers de Feu Monsieur le Docteur Hommann, Géographe", Nuremberg, 1735. Map dim. 77 x 74 cm. Faded printed inscription on lower right. An impressive, probably separately printed, plan of the defences of the city of Corfu and inner land, which defeated a Turkish siege in 1716 under the commander of Johann Mattias Von Schulenburg. Under the impressive title cartouche on the bottom-left, exists an extensive key in French pointing the important buildings, including batteries, gates, churches and religious centres such as the synagogue. On the right, a bird's-eye view of the walls detailing the layers of bastions. The improved walls were planned by Johann Matthias von der Schulenburg (1661-1747), a German mercenary in the pay of the Venetians. In July 1716 the Ottoman army of 33,000 laid siege to the city, but the walls, manned by only about 8,000 defenders, withstood several assaults before the Ottomans withdrew in August. Dedication to Alvise Pisani, the 114th Doge of Venice elected in 1735, the year of publication. Zacharakis 1664a. Very rare.

[Printed title]: "Ill.Excell. Domino Ioanni Luca Pallavicino, Generali Instructori.. Rei navalis Perfecto... Tibi excellissime Domine Comes saeculi nostris artis bellica Mariteraque ... admirando jure omni neodata hunc Mappa. Inscribitur. Exhib.. praecique Regiones, tribus scilicet maximis Europae Imperiis conteminas... Jul.1737 / Joh.Bapt.Pujadies / J.W.Heckenaure sc[ulpt], Vienne". Impressive (145x44cm) wall copper engraved map of the Balkans and Black Sea areas, printed in three sheets and separately published. Printed in Vienna in the summer of 1737, in the eve of the war, this map is according to Dorflinger (1978) one of the EARLIEST and RAREST maps of Austrian origin ever printed. Weak paper and very light browning at folds, some old stain in Black Sea area, but overall a very good copy. A prototype map based on original manuscript material. Giovanni Luca Pallavicini (1697-1773, a noble Genovese in Austrian service, was a high military officer and commander of the Austrian Danube Flotilla during the Austrian and Russian war against the Ottomans in 1737-39. Pujadies was a Spanish engineer-cartographer in his service. He managed to gather (with Pallavicini's financial support), significant manuscript material: of Austrian origin for the Balkans & of Russian origin for the Black sea. Based on this material, he designed the current map. Jacob Wilhelm Heckenaure (1693-1738) was a German engraver, from a well known Saxon family of engravers. The map has been engraved by him in Vienna and sold by Etienne Briffaut, (French owner of books and maps printed business), in order to follow the war events and celebrate the expected Austrian new triumphs. However, this war ended with a humiliating defeat for the Austrians, that lost Serbia. According to Sorin Fortiu (Banatus, 2007) the Austrian authorities, just after the defeat, retired and destroyed all relevant material in order to disappear all signs of the humiliating defeat. Only three copies of this great map tracked in Public institutions worldwide (BNF, Marciana and in Czech R.). Not in Zacharakis. EXTREMELY RARE.*

Haas (cartographer) / Gebauer (publisher), "Eine Carte von Cyzicus, dem See Abellonte u prospect von Bursa", Halle1744. Very rare detailed copper engraved maps of Artaki (Erdek) bay and Cyzicus isthmus, of Apoloniatis (Ulubad) lake and a view of Bursa (Προύσα), all are places in Bythinia, Asia Minor. All three in one sheet 35x19cm from the rare work, "Kleinasien". The detailed maps have been obviously drawn on the spot and are the very first for these places. It is almost certain that they had been drawn by P.Has, a German traveller and skilled cartographer who has reached these places in 1738/39. Although he has not published his own works, a general map of "Kleinasien" that has been published by Homann in 1743, act as a clear reference to his contribution. Not in Zacharakis both maps. Very rare

B[odenehr G.] / cartographer - [Gebauer] editor: Vorstellung des alten und neuen Athens von dem Venetiani Coronelli, [Halle 1747]. Fine copper engraved map, 37x22cm, of Athens, under passe-partout 50x40cm. Fine condition. The map has been prepared by Gabriel Bonenehr the younger (1705-1792), a German engraver and mapmaker. This map of Athens, although bear clear reference to Coronelli, is based, in the reality, in the Cappucins map of Athens of 1672, the first accurate drawing of the city. Bodenehr was based, most probably, in the reedition of Cappucin map by Coronelli. In this new German edition several new names and places had been added and the map had been published by Gebauer, in Halle in 1747. Not in Zacharakis. Very rare.

Lot. 8580.....Starting Price: 230 €
 D'Anville, "Detroit des Dardanelles", Paris, Mars 1756 & D'Anville, Hellespontus, Paris, 1756. Two maps in one copper engraved sheet of 43x40cm. The second map (17x17cm) is positioned on the lower right corner of the first. The two very rare maps have been published in the scientific book: "Memoires de l'Academie des Belles Lettres", tome 28 (1756). This was a special edition of the French Academy for important scientific publications, published in an very small print run (200 copies), as it was addressed only to specific scientists of the time. D'Anville accompanied this map (the first accurate map of the Dardanelles) with a memoir. In the second - newly drawn - map, he tried to identify the ancient places of the Hellespontus area. This map, most probably based in French manuscript archival material in the hands of D'Anville, is a critical step for the cartography of Thrace and the Straits, as the area is accurately presented. Folded as issued, some marginal tears, lightly yellowed in the upper margin, but overall a very good copy. Not in Zacharakis. Very rare.

Lot. 8581.....Starting Price: 2100 €
 Rizzi Zannoni, "Carte de la Partie Septentrionale de l'empire Ottoman Dédiee a Monseigneur Le Comte de Vergennes", Paris, 1774. Impressive wall map 156x74cm, engraved in three big copper plates, as issued, produced by Perrier et Bourgoin. One of the most important, influential and scarce maps of the second part of the 18th century, for all of Southeast Europe. The "Charta" of Rigas Velestinlis was based on this map for it's South-eastern part. Separately printed on only three, large copper plates (74x53 each), a technological breakthrough for its time. This copy is unique as it retains the original copper plates as issued. Rizzi Zannoni, an Italian cartographer, was in the service of French since 1759. He was the head director of the cartographic service of the French Foreign Ministry in the early 1770s. As the Russians advance, during the 1768-74 war with the Ottomans, the French realize the absence of an accurate map of the war events area, from Macedonia to Caucasus, comprising the broad Black Sea area. By order and loan of the King in 1772 and after two years of work based on all the official manuscript military maps and reports, Rizzi Zannoni managed to finish the copper plates in 1774 and dedicated the map to the French Minister of Foreign Affairs. However, Zannoni faced vast economical difficulties, as the operation proved very expensive and he was finally not able to pay the engravers or even buy the necessary paper to print. After one year of failing negotiations in order receive more funds, Zannoni escaped his creditors and left for Italy. The French government confiscated the copper plates and printed only 312 copies for official use (J.Konvitz, Cartography in France, 1987). Consequently, the map was very rare even at the time of its production (Schropp). Extremely rare, Not in Zacharakis.

RHODE Johann Christoph, "Partes confines Trium Magnorum Imperiorum Austriaci Russici et Osmanici...," [Berlin: Royal Prussian Academy of Sciences], 1785. Very Rare copper engraved wall map overall dim.136x96cm with full period hand colouring. Map sheets bearing armorial stamps of the Royal Prussian Academy of Sciences (Akademie der Wissenschaften) on each map sheet. The map also bears the cachets: "Cabinet Topographique du Roy", and a pasted label of Charles Picquet. Charles Picquet was a famous geographer, engraver, publisher and map dealer, active until 1856. He became the official furnisher of the Dépôt de la Guerre and after few years he was appointed to Napoleon's Cabinet Topographique. The map was proposed and probably included in the library of King Louis XVI, and after withdrawn or rejected as the cachet "Rebut" indicates. On linen also pasted labels of the Cabinet Topographique du Roy, bearing coat of arms and library's indications. A rare fine 18th century military wall map centered in Black Sea region, prepared just before the outbreak of the Austro-Russian-Turkish war (of 1787-92). The map depicts in high details a vast area from Greece and the Balkans on its western edge till Southern Russia, Caucasus, Turkey, Cyprus etc on its eastern edge. Beautiful copy, original hand colouring. The map was printed in six (6) map sheets dim.~54x48cm each, here attached on a period linen canvas. J. C. Rhode served as official geographer of the Royal Prussian Academy of Sciences from 1752 until his death in 1786. He produced few other maps in conjunction with the Academy, most of which focused on Prussian Territories. Rhodes works were intended to be exemplars of Prussian cartography under the patronage of Frederick II. Like the current example, his maps were lavishly engraved and often marked with Royal Prussian Academy stamps. Extremely Rare. Not in Zacharakis (Only sheet No.4 in Zacharakis #2745, under Preuss. Academie der Wissenschaft).

→ The following 2 maps, by Delamarche, have been published in a very critical year of the French revolution. After 1792/3 and the Reign of Terror, any map activity ceased. In autumn 1794 and after the execution of Robespierre, Delamarche tried to re-establish his business. He prepared and engraved in late 1794 (An III) the "Hongrie, Turquie Europ." (Zacharakis 2927 under Vaugondy) but this map was never published in a normal Atlas, as the prefix "De" of De Vaugondy, was found inappropriate by the Revolutionary authorities as referring to a noble title. In early 1795 he prepared a smaller version without the reference on Vaugondy and he published this map in the very rare book "Institutions Geographiques", Paris 1795 (Zacharakis 1332). Only two copies survived in public Libraries worldwide.

→ James Bell, 2 Manuscript maps of Greece. The following 2 lots are manuscript maps, drawn in Greece in 1831/32 by James Bell (1769-1833) a Scottish geographical author who visited the newly liberated country from mid 1831 to mid 1832. Bell, a tutor in Greek and Geography in the University of Glasgow, published in early 19th century several geographical works and maps. Impressed by the Greek war of independence and the liberation of the country, he visited Greece in 1831/ 32 in order to prepare a new geographical book with maps, comparing Ancient and Modern Greece. He died shortly after and this project had never been accomplished. His son emigrated in New York in the 1850s and finally donated his father's manuscripts in Brooklyn's Public Library.
