1. Intrepid members of the HBA hit the streets on a chilly Washington, D.C., morning to power walk around the Capitol. 2. Women of Any Year — Sarah Harrison, 2003 WOTY, Lynn Gaudioso, 1996 WOTY, Dr. Catherine Angell Sohn, 2003 WOTY, and Meryl Zausner, 2007 WOTY, take a moment during the jam-packed two-day event. 3. Marilyn Huestis, Ph.D., was one of the distinguished panelists who shared her insights during one of the four plenary sessions. 4. Jeanne Zucker, Cochair, Social Events & Logistics, took the podium on the last day to thank all involved in making the conference a success and to remind attendees to volunteer for next year's conference to be held in Chicago. 5. Rich Kelly of Machine Dreams was one of the 21 exhibitors at this year's event. 6. Members of the 2008 HBA Board who were in attendance at the conference gather for the photographer. 7. Mary Jane McCarthy, Kelley Hill, and Eve Dryer take a minute to get acquainted. 8. One of the 16 informative leadership sessions captures attendees' attention. 9. Peggy Heller engaged the audience with an inspirational letter to her younger self during the conference's concluding session. 10. Who says learning can't be fun? Hats off to the conference organizers.
