THE 2013 MHEALTH SUMMIT, being held at the Gaylord National Resort and Conference Center, near Washington, D.C., is an international forum connecting the mobile health ecosystem for mHealth research, education, thought leadership, exhibits, and action-provoking panel discussions.

The 2013 mHealth Summit program kicks off Dec. 8, 2013, and runs through Dec. 11. The program will showcase transformational and innovative presentations that deliver pragmatic evidence that mHealth is moving from theory to adoption and from pilot to scale.

From the best in education, visionary keynotes, unparalleled networking opportunities and a world-class expo hall, the 2013 mHealth Summit delivers solutions to the rapidly evolving hospital-to-home industry — the mHealth Summit is a must-attend event for leaders and disruptors in the mobile health space.

The Summit includes five keynotes and executive spotlights; 100 educational sessions; and 10 partner sessions. Session topics include: app development; business and venture funding opportunities; big data and analytics; care settings; consumer/patient and physician engagement; emerging technology; global health; international perspectives; legal issues; M2M; payers/health plans; pharma and life sciences; privacy and security; regulatory and policy; and research.
