

HOW TO MAKE YOUR DESIGN YOU!

Instructional Design is not just a input/output machine. Follow these guidelines for making and reflecting YOU in your ID products

KNOW YOUR LEARNERS

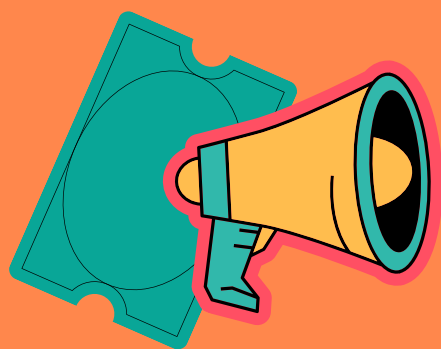

Learners have different backgrounds, stories and experiences. To connect beyond the click-button, you need to know WHO your learners are.

BUILD YOUR WORK

Templates are great but do not always represent what is important to you. Take the time to design and development what has your name on it.

YOUR VALUES AND PASSIONS

Learners can tell when a product lacks supports or thrust. Even the most basic product has value in the learning world.

ACCESSIBILITY AND INVOLVEMENT

To connect to people means to connect to everyone. Provide your product in varying methods and systems.

GO FOR IT

Make your product shine, connecting to the learner, the community and to yourself.

THIS IS WHAT MAKES AN INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN PRODUCT YOU!

REFERENCES

Morris, Sean Michael (2017, Oct 27) "A Call for Critical Instructional Design" seanmichaelmorris
<https://www.seanmichaelmorris.com/a-call-for-critical-instructional-design/>