

Hope vs Hype in Veterinary Oncology Diagnostics
Live Virtual Course
Friday, September 23, 2022

Premier Sponsor

DAY 1 Friday, September 23, 2022
Time (Mountain Time)	Topic	Presenter(s)
8:00-8:15 am	Welcome and Introductions	Dr. Philip Bergman, Dr. Chad Johannes
8:15-9:45 am	Personalized Medicine: Diagnostics and Therapies <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Recognize the opportunities for personalized/genomic diagnostics in veterinary oncology</li> <li>• Understand how these diagnostics may guide treatment decisions on an individual patient basis</li> <li>• Describe the limitations to personalized medicine in veterinary medicine currently</li> <li>• Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Chand Khanna, Dr. Cheryl London, Dr. Kai-Biu Shiu, Dr. Douglas Thamm
9:45-10:00 am	Break
10:00-11:00 am	Interactive Discussion – Personalized Medicine: Diagnostics and Therapies <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Recognize the opportunities for personalized/genomic diagnostics in veterinary oncology</li> <li>• Understand how these diagnostics may guide treatment decisions on an individual patient basis</li> <li>• Describe the limitations to personalized medicine in veterinary medicine currently</li> <li>• Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Chand Khanna, Dr. Cheryl London, Dr. Kai-Biu Shiu, Dr. Douglas Thamm  Moderator: Dr. Kristen Weishaar
11:00-11:30am	Chemosensitivity Assays <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Describe the methods and techniques utilized in these diagnostics</li> <li>• Describe the pros and cons of chemosensitivity assays in predicting in vivo response</li> <li>• Understand the potential clinical utility of chemosensitivity assays in case management and treatment selection</li> <li>• Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Craig Clifford, Dr. Chad Johannes, Dr. Kai-Biu Shiu

Hope vs Hype in Veterinary Oncology Diagnostics
Live Virtual Course
Friday, September 23, 2022

Premier Sponsor

DAY 1 (Continued) Friday, September 23, 2022
Time (Mountain Time)	Topic	Presenter(s)
11:30-12:00pm	Interactive Discussion – Chemosensitivity Assays <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Describe the methods and techniques utilized in these diagnostics</li> <li>• Describe the pros and cons of chemosensitivity assays in predicting in vivo response</li> <li>• Understand the potential clinical utility of chemosensitivity assays in case management and treatment selection</li> <li>• Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Craig Clifford, Dr. Chad Johannes, Dr. Kai-Biu Shiu  Moderator: Dr. Philip Bergman
12:00-1:00 pm	Lunch Break
1:00-1:30 pm	Diagnostic/Prognostic Panels <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Describe the available diagnostic panels available in veterinary oncology and understand best clinical use of each</li> <li>• Describe the available prognostic panels available in veterinary oncology and understand best clinical use of each</li> <li>• Understand how these diagnostics may guide treatment decisions on an individual patient basis</li> <li>• Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Philip Bergman, Dr. Craig Clifford, Dr. Cheryl London
1:30-2:00 pm	Interactive Discussion – Diagnostic/Prognostic Panels <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Describe the available diagnostic panels available in veterinary oncology and understand best clinical use of each</li> <li>• Describe the available prognostic panels available in veterinary oncology and understand best clinical use of each</li> <li>• Understand how these diagnostics may guide treatment decisions on an individual patient basis</li> <li>• Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Philip Bergman, Dr. Craig Clifford, Dr. Cheryl London  Moderator: Dr. Chad Johannes
2:00-2:15 pm	Break

Hope vs Hype in Veterinary Oncology Diagnostics
Live Virtual Course
Friday, September 23, 2022

Premier Sponsor

DAY 1 (Continued) Friday, September 23, 2022
Time (Mountain Time)	Topic	Presenter(s)
2:15-3:15 pm	Liquid Biopsy <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Recognize the available diagnostic platforms available for liquid biopsy purposes, along with the potential benefits and challenges of each</li> <li>Describe the methods and techniques utilized in these diagnostics</li> <li>Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Philip Bergman, Dr. Douglas Thamm, Dr. Kristen Weishaar
3:15-4:15 pm	Interactive Discussion – Liquid Biopsy <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Recognize the available diagnostic platforms available for liquid biopsy purposes, along with the potential benefits and challenges of each</li> <li>Describe the methods and techniques utilized in these diagnostics</li> <li>Incorporate information discussed in this session into your clinical practice and client discussions</li> </ul>	Dr. Philip Bergman, Dr. Douglas Thamm, Dr. Kristen Weishaar  Moderator: Dr. Craig Clifford
4:15-4:30 pm	Closing Remarks	Dr. Philip Bergman, Dr. Chad Johannes